MRS. STORER CALLS ROOSEVELT A DANGER

Reopens Quarrel Over Her Husband's Dismissal as Ambassador for Activity at Vatican.

QUOTES IRELAND'S LETTERS

Archbishop Said Roosevelt Authorized Message to Pope Asking His Elevation—Cites Favors to Roosevelt.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Bellamy Storer has reopened the controversy with Col. Theodore Roosevelt, which grew out of the removal of Mr. Storer as Ambassador to Austria in March, 1906, because of his activity in pressing the campaign at the Vatican for the promotion of Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul to a cardinalate. A letter written by her in France and dated Sept. 6 will be published to-morrow in The Springfield Republican. In it Mrs. Storer—the "Dear Maria" of published letters from Col. Roosevelt—reviews the relations of the Storers with him.

Mrs. Storer cites letters from Archbishop Ireland, written in 1903 and 1904, to show that it was at the special desire of Mr. Roosevelt and with his authority that her husband pressed the claims of Mgr. Ireland at Rome. These letters contradict statements made by Mr. Roosevelt in his letter replying to the attack made by Mr. Storer in December, 1906, after he had been removed.

Mrs. Storer also says that Mr. Roosevelt "begged" her husband to use his influence to have him made Assistant Secretary of the Navy by President McKinley, and Mr. Storer had him appointed.

The opinion is given that Mr. Roosevelt is a "dangerous influence," but that "truth can overcome his power—as it can overcome all evil."

Mrs. Storer is an aunt of Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Col. Roosevelt.

Letter of Mrs. Storer.

The letter of Mrs. Storer says:

To the Editor of The Republican:

Ten years ago Theodore Roosevelt was a devoted and grateful friend (apparently) to my husband and myself. He had reason to be grateful. We had helped him in many ways, and were very fond of him and his wife and children. He was a member of the Civil Service Commission in Washington when we first knew him in 1892; and Mr. Storer was in the House of Representatives when Mr. Roosevelt was a Police Commissioner in New York. In 1896 Mr. McKinley had been elected President and Mr. Roosevelt begged my husband to use his influence with the President-elect to have Mr. Roosevelt appointed as Secretary of the Navy. On this subject Mr. Roosevelt wrote the following letter:

Police Department, New York,
Nov. 17, 1896

Dear Bellamy: I have been thinking over that business, and now will you let me write perfectly frankly? If you care to say anything for me, old fellow, I think you could say it better a good deal if I were away. So, unless you think to the contrary or unless there is some reason for a change, I believe that it would be best for me to come and dine with you; then you see McKinley by yourself, if you care to go at all, which I earnestly will. Give my best love to Mrs. Storer. Faithfully yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

P. S.—I hope you won't think this impertinent. I should rather have you speak for my behalf than any one in the United States, and I think you could do most good; but I rather hate to go there with you, for, somehow, it does not seem to me that it would be a good thing for you to speak for me before me. T. R.

Appointed at Storer's Request.

Mr. McKinley appointed Mr. Roosevelt at my husband's request, and my husband was sent as Minister to Belgium. Two years later, in 1898, Mr. Storer was asked by President McKinley to go to Madrid to renew the diplomatic relations broken by the war. We were especially chosen for this work because we were Catholics, and had opposed the war with Spain in every way we could. I think that Mr. Roosevelt resented this, he having done everything possible to bring about that unfortunate war, but he seemed to be as friendly and as grateful as ever. When he was elected Vice President he accepted our house in Washington at half the rent we had been getting from Mr. Olney, the Secretary of State, because, he said: "We are so fond of you that we don't mind being under obligations to you."

Just before Mr. Roosevelt was to move into our house, President McKinley was assassinated and Theodore Roosevelt became President. Mr. McKinley had intended to send my husband as Ambassador to some important post, to reward him for four years of hard work in Madrid, renewing the treaties with Spain, &c.

Told Archbishop of Promotion.

Two months after Mr. Roosevelt became President, on Nov. 3, 1901, Archbishop Ireland wrote to Mr. Storer as follows:

St. Paul, Nov. 3, 1901.

My Dear Friend: I have had two most pleasant meetings with the President at the White House. He is decidedly your friend, and resolved to give you the best there is. "Even," said he, "if Berlin comes first, and Bellamy wished it for a little while, pending Choate's retention of London, I would give it to him and change him shortly afterward to London. Let him trust me." With kind regard to Mrs. Storer, I am, very sincerely,

JOHN IRELAND.

President Roosevelt never carried out this promise. The pressure of political influences induced him to send Whitelaw Reid to London and Charlemagne Tower to Berlin and Mr. Storer was given the less important embassy in Vienna.

In September, 1903, we were in the United States, and spent a day with the President at Oyster Bay before sailing for Europe. Mr. Roosevelt on that day requested Mr. Storer to go to Rome on behalf of the President, and ask the new Pope, Pius X., to elevate to the Cardinalate Mr. Roosevelt's personal friend, Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul. One month later Archbishop Ireland wrote to me the following letter:

St. Paul, Oct. 23, 1903.

My Dear Mrs. Storer: I was in Washington last week and, of course, saw the President. I spoke with him of Paris, and removed from his mind all suspicion that a Catholic would be there a "persona non grata" as Ambassador.

He promised me that the next Ambassador to Paris would be Mr. Storer, and furthermore expressed the belief that Gen. Porter would soon retire. The President also told me that he had commissioned Mr. Storer to speak for him viva voce at the Vatican. He seemed rather proud of having done so. Give my love to Bellamy, and believe me, very sincerely, JOHN IRELAND.

Mgr. Ireland Tells of his Talk.

A month later Archbishop Ireland wrote another letter in which he quoted the exact words of the President as to Mr. Storer's going to Rome, as follows:

The President said to me: "Mr. Storer has told you what I said to him about you, Archbishop?" "Well," I replied, "I do not remember." "About his going to Rome?" the President then asked. I said "No." "Well," he said, "I told him I

WELLMAN NEARLY READY.

May Sail Over Atlantic City Late This Week—Then Off for Europe.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21.—Walter Wellman fixed to-night upon the last of the present week or the fore part of next as the likely time for the first trying out in the air of the airship America in which he hopes to cross the Atlantic to Europe, sending news of his progress by Marconi wireless to The New York Times, The Chicago Record-Herald, and The London Telegraph.

"Things have now reached a stage where only a few days of preparations will suffice to make everything ready," said Mr. Wellman to-night. "I have every confidence in Mr. Vanaman, chief engineer of the expedition, and Mr. Vanaman believes that the end of this week or Monday or Tuesday of next week will see the America floating over Atlantic City. Then if the engines work well and the weather is just as we want it, we will lay our course for England and get under way with our best speed."

Gov. Franklin Fort this afternoon declined a courteous invitation from Mr. Wellman to go up in the America for its preliminary flight. The Governor made a trip to the big hangar near the inlet with his gayly uniformed staff and spent an hour in looking over the huge gas bag, its skeleton steel compartment for the navigator, the engines, the mechanicians, and the little lifeboat in which the food supplies and the wireless equipment of the expedition are to be carried.

Gov. Fort told Mr. Wellman he was favorably impressed with the project from a practical point of view, but did not care for aerial navigation himself just at this time.

Thousands viewed the gigantic aerial craft to-day, and the definite announcement that the America is to fly within a week has sent interest to a high pitch. Grand Army officers who inspected the America to-day grew enthusiastic when told the air cruiser is to carry an American flag into London if the attempt to cross the Atlantic is successful.

CONNERS BEATEN AT HOME.

Fitzpatrick Made Chairman of Delegation and Unit Rule Adopted.

BUFFALO, Sept. 21.—The Democratic Assembly, Judicial, and State conventions, held here to-day, developed a sharp contest between William J. Conners and William H. Fitzpatrick, County Chairman, in which Mr. Conners was decisively beaten.

The test of strength came to-night at a meeting of the delegates elected to the Rochester convention. They elected Fitzpatrick chairman of the delegation and the unit rule was adopted in the face of protests from Conners and Mayor Louis P. Fuhrmann, who joined the former State Chairman in the fight. The vote stood: Conners, 9; Fitzpatrick, 15; not voting, 2; absent, 1.

It was announced by one of the delegates from the Forty-ninth Senate District that Fitzpatrick had been indorsed by them for State Committeeman in place of Mayor Fuhrmann.

"The unit rule does not obtain in Democratic State Conventions," declared Mr. Conners. "The result of this vote is that Erie County sends a special delegation to Rochester. I returned here only a few days ago to find that Mr. Fitzpatrick, who was my Chairman at the last two State Conventions, had been doing some gum-shoe work. My friends are not going to stand for it."

Mr. Conners was the unanimous choice of his district as one of the delegates to the State Convention.

The contest for delegates resulted in the defeat of Assemblyman Roscan, who was slated for renomination in the Sixth Assembly District, the Fitzpatrick men nominating Anthony Monsynski.

CREEL TO SUCCEED DIAZ?

A Report in Washington—Creel Very Friendly Toward Us.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—An interesting, though unofficial, report circulating in Washington to-day is that President Diaz of Mexico has decided that Enrique Creel, now Minister of Foreign Affairs, and formerly Ambassador at Washington, shall succeed him as head of the Republic of Mexico.

This would mean, of course, the elimination of Vice President Corral, but the importance of the report from the American point of view is the assurance Mr. Creel's Presidency would give of the continuance of the friendly relations with this country that were originated by President Diaz. The ex-Ambassador has a strong strain of American blood in his veins. As Governor of Chihuahua he was brought into close contact with the many Americans having mining interests in that State, and later, as Minister of Foreign Affairs, he heartily co-operated with President Diaz in maintaining cordial relations with the United States, even when Mexican policy in Central America required moves not in accord with the Latin-American policy of Secretary Knox.

According to the report, Diaz has decided that Corral is not big enough for Presidential honors. This information comes as a great surprise, for it has been generally accepted that Corral was to have Diaz's place when the time came for the aged President to die or step aside in favor of a younger man.

The story told to-day is that Diaz has let it be known that Creel is to succeed him, and that the plans are in readiness for one of the military elections usual in that country to be held whenever it is necessary to put a man into office over the protests of the enemies of Diaz.

There is a strong anti-foreign feeling among the Mexicans, and for this reason Diaz at first turned to Corral as his successor. The old President is described, however, as now being convinced that Creel can be elected when the time comes for the choosing of another ruler.

LORIMER INQUIRY ON TO-DAY.

Lee O'Neil Browne, Acquitted of Bribery, Expected to Testify.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The Senate Committee's inquiry into the methods employed in the election of William Lorimer as United States Senator from Illinois will begin to-morrow. A long conference was held this afternoon by the committee in the apartments of Senator Julius C. Burrows, Chairman.

It is believed that the list of witnesses to be examined will include many, if not all, of the members of the Illinois Legislature who voted for Lorimer. It is expected that one of the most important will be Minority Leader Lee O'Neil Browne of the Illinois Legislature. He was recently acquitted in the Cook County Criminal Court on an indictment charging him with bribing Representative Charles A. White, also a Democrat, to vote for Lorimer. Representative Browne did not take the witness stand in either of his trials.

FORTY-TWO KILLED IN TROLLEY WRECK

VISITORS TO FAIR ON ONE

Plunge of Speeding Third Car Into Wreck Prevented by Conductor, Who Ran Back After The Collision.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 21.—Forty-two persons were killed and seven were seriously injured in a head-on collision between two interurban cars on the Fort Wayne & Bluffton Division of the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley line to-day.

The wreck occurred seven miles north of Bluffton at a sharp curve. The cars in collision were a north-bound local car crowded to the steps and an empty south-bound extra car from Fort Wayne. The two cars met while both were running at high speed and were reduced to a mass of splintered wood and twisted iron. Very few upon the loaded car escaped death.

The collision is said to have been caused by misunderstanding of orders in regard to the southbound extra car taking a switch near Kingsland, so that the northbound car could pass it.

The northbound car was in charge of Motorman C. Vandine and Conductor E. A. Spiller, the southbound car in charge of Benjamin Corkwell and Conductor Daniel Wilson.

It is explained that the motormen of the two cars did not have time to set brakes when they sighted each other. The heavily loaded northbound car was crushed and the bodies of the dead and injured were strewn on either side of the track amid the wreckage. The screams of the injured men and women following the crash of the cars brought the neighboring farmers to the scene.

Conductor Spiller of the southbound car was unhurt and ran back toward Kingsland and flagged a car which was approaching the wreck at full speed and would have plunged into it.

There were two physicians on the cars at the time of the wreck. One of them escaped serious injury and with the other, who had himself been painfully hurt, rendered assistance to those who survived the shock of the collision. Relief cars were hurried from this place, and physicians went from Bluffton in automobiles. Many of the dead had already been removed from the débris of the splintered cars when the company's wrecking crews reached the spot which was in the midst of open fields. Farmers and farmhands had rushed from their labors to give what aid they could.

Most of the people on the northbound car were going to the fair at Fort Wayne. Help from near-by residences was rendered to such as could be removed from the wreckage, and as soon as the wrecking cars and physicians arrived from Fort Wayne and Bluffton, the bodies of the dead and the injured were conveyed as quickly as possible to hospitals in the two cities.

TO LOCK OUT BRICKLAYERS.

Builders' Decision, In Effect Tuesday, Will Throw Out 30,000 Men.

The Mason Builders' Association meeting in the Builders' Exchange, in West Thirty-fourth Street, last night, declared a general lockout of Bricklayers' Union Locals Nos. 3, 4, 9, 21, 29, 34, 37, 40, 41, and 94, because these locals had violated their trade agreements by persisting to strike on the buildings of F. T. Nesbit & Co. Some 5,000 bricklayers will be directly affected by the lockout and about 25,000 men in other trades will be thrown out of work by it. Members of Bricklayers' Locals Nos. 1, 7, and 32 will not be affected, these having voted not to strike on the Nesbit & Co. jobs. The Nesbit Company's troubles with the ten striking unions began a month ago, when the quarrel of two plasterers' locals in Newark as to which would handle the Nesbit contracts, forced the company to declare the "open shop." The lockout will go into effect next Tuesday, according to the Mason Builders' resolution.

KILLED IN MISTAKE FOR DEER.

Hunter Shoots Into Bushes and Hits Brother-in-Law.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Clifford Judd, well known in St. Lawrence County, yesterday afternoon shot and killed his brother-in-law, Theron Plumb, mistaking him for a deer. The tragedy occurred in a wild, brushy region near Horseshoe, St. Lawrence County.

After the hunters had separated Judd heard a noise in the brush. He fired three shots. Upon discovering his mistake he was overcome, and to-day is in a serious condition as a result of the shock.

BRAVES GAS TO SAVE LIFE AT CARNEGIE'S

Policeman's Plucky Rescue of a Painter from a Tank in the Fifth Avenue Mansion.

AIR CUT OFF WHILE INSIDE

Pushed Through a Narrow Trap, He Almost Succumbs to Turpentine Fumes Before He Is Released.

Christian Kiel, a probationary policeman less than a month in uniform, may receive a hero medal when the ironmaster hears of the manner in which he saved the life of a painter, who was imprisoned yesterday afternoon in a tank in the basement of Andrew Carnegie's residence, at Fifth Avenue and Ninetieth Street, and unconscious from the fumes of turpentine.

Kiel was in the tank for ten minutes, and almost was suffocated. He had a hard time getting out the unconscious painter, but he seemed to think last night that his experience was nothing unusual.

Charles Steingut, caretaker in Mr. Carnegie's home, summoned Kiel in great haste, and told him that a man was unconscious in a tank in the basement of the Carnegie house, and that the efforts of himself and several gardeners to rescue him had been unavailing. The painter had been enameling the inside of the "tank," which is 20 feet long, 5 high, and 6 wide, which could be entered only through a circular hole about 2 feet in diameter, near the top. The enamel contained a deal of turpentine, and he had been overcome by the fumes and had dropped to the bottom, after one call for help that attracted Steingut's attention.

The gardeners were all large men, and they could not squeeze through the hole, but Kiel decided he could manage to do so.

Removing his blouse, shirt, and belt he took a header into the hole as far as he could get unassisted, and then told Steingut and the gardeners to push him in. He was a tight fit, however, and it took much straining and twisting of arms before he was squeezed through.

Getting him into the tank took nearly ten minutes, and as his passage had shut off the air supply the air inside was not improved. Taking a couple of good breaths at the porthole, Kiel raised the unconscious painted and started to shove him head first through the hole.

The painter was almost as big as the policeman, and his arms were doubled so it was difficult to straighten them. The bottom and sides of the tank were slippery from wet enamel, and Kiel had difficulty in keeping his footing.

Kiel had to pound the unconscious man's left shoulder through the hole, and after more than ten minutes of hard work the painter was extricated and carried into the open air, being laid on the Steel King's lawn.

The enamel the policeman had wiped from the tank was a help in getting him out, making him slide more easily through the aperture. He came out head first and was still dizzy and weak when hauled out and plumped into a chair.

Every one but Kiel seemed to have forgotten the painter. Steingut and the gardeners were running around excitedly trying to do things for the policeman, who seemed in danger of collapse. He recovered enough, however, to stagger to the street and reach the signal box at Ninetieth Street and Fifth Avenue, from which he telephoned for an ambulance.

Dr. McBurney of the Presbyterian Hospital soon revived the painter, who said he was George H. Lott of 333 State Street, Brooklyn. He said he had been shoved into the tank by his boss, who had gone away for supplies. He was taken to the hospital, though in no danger of death. His left shoulder was badly bruised, where it had been jammed through the hole.

The caretaker got benzine and helped the policeman clean the paint off his clothes and Kiel went back on post. Steingut took his name and number to be forwarded to Mr. Carnegie, who is in Scotland.

The Carnegie home is on the post of Patrolman O'Connor of the East Eighty-eighth Street Station, who reported the case. Kiel put in no report till he was warned that if he did not he might be hauled up for going off post.

KNOCKED FROM ENGINE CAB.

Train Runs on Wild After Engineer Is Struck by a Signal Post.

Just as the fast freight of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, bound from Philadelphia to Jersey City early yesterday morning, had passed the bridge over the Morris Canal on its way to Bayonne, the engineer, Samuel Ollis, in leaning too far out of his cab window, was struck by a signal post and knocked to the roadbed. The train, left to its own devices, ran on wild at ever-increasing speed for a mile and a half.

Then the fireman, Herman Schner, who had been sitting at the other side of the cab, with the boiler end between him and the engineer, noticed that the signals all along the road were being disregarded and that the engineer was not reducing speed as ordered in approaching Jersey City. The train was speeding at about thirty miles an hour. Schner stepped around the boiler end. The throttle was thrown wide open, and the engineer was gone.

In a moment the fireman had thrown on the brakes, bringing the train to a sudden stop, just as it reached Claremont. There he telephoned news of the accident to Jersey City, and another engineer took charge of the train until it reached the station.

A searching party, until Chief Gray of the railroad detective force, was sent back along the tracks for a distance of one and a half miles. There, near the end of the bridge over the canal, they found Ollis's cap. They decided he had fallen from his cab into the canal. For two hours rowboats cruised over the canal, dragging its waters, but they found no trace of the missing engineer.

Then news came that a man whose head was battered and whose whole body was covered with bruises, had dragged his way to Ocean Avenue, nearly two miles away, and there sunk down unconscious before Policeman Gownes. Later, when he was removed to the City Hospital at Jersey City, he recovered consciousness and said he was Ollis. He had suffered concussion of the brain and possible internal injuries, but at the hospital it was said last night that he would probably recover.

3-TRACK ELEVATEDS AND TUBE TO QUEENS

Coming Soon, Wall Street Hears, as a Result of Morgan's Entry Into Interborough.

ANNOUNCEMENT PRESENTLY

Public Service Board Consenting to the Concessions—New Subways to be Taken Up After All This.

There is now substantial prospect that within a short time an agreement will be announced between the Public Service Commission and the Interborough Rapid Transit Company relative to the third tracking of the elevated roads and the operation of the Steinway tunnel. This information came out in financial quarters yesterday following the news that J. P. Morgan & Co., with the First National and the National City Bank interests, were shortly to obtain direct representation in the Directorate of the traction combination which controls the elevated and subway lines.

Wall Street heard that the new and important banking interests were going to enter the board of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, this information accompanying the speculative rise of Interborough-Metropolitan stock during the last week or so, but, according to well-informed sources, the bankers are more likely to go into the board of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, the immediate operating corporation of the subway and elevated lines, and the one active subsidiary left to the Interborough-Metropolitan at the present time, aside from some scattered outlying trolley lines.

Their advent will be necessarily in connection with the issuance of securities to make the proposed elevated improvements and possibly, later on, to build subway extensions. Their active interest will be in the Interborough, and while in a sense they would be Directors of the subordinate corporation, subject to the will of the Directors of the Interborough-Metropolitan, the importance of the personal equation in the election of a trio like J. P. Morgan, Jr., President George F. Baker, Jr., of the First National Bank, and President Frank Vanderlip of the National City Bank would be likely to override any such considerations.

It is not yet officially admitted that the Morgan-Baker-Vanderlip trio will enter the Interborough's board and take a corresponding prominent place in the direction of its affairs, but privately no attempt is made in interested quarters to deny it. What is regarded as the strongest evidence of where the active management of the Interborough lies today is the fact that the negotiations between that company and the Public Service Commission regarding the third tracking and the Steinway tunnel have been carried on, on the financial side, almost exclusively by H. P. Davison of Morgan & Co., following some preliminary talks between J. P. Morgan, Jr., and Chairman Willcox. Mr. Willcox would not discuss the negotiations yesterday beyond admitting that Mr. Davison and Mr. Morgan, Jr., had talked with him from time to time, but it is known that the Public Service Commission feels greatly encouraged over the prospects of working out some tangible traction relief and ending the deadlock that the Interborough's Directors have maintained.

Nothing has been done as yet, it is learned, regarding a new subway proposal beyond some general talk which indicated that the Morgan firm has never receded from its willingness to take an issue of bonds for the construction of extensions for the Interborough, provided satisfactory terms could be worked out with the Commission on the one hand and with the corporation regarding the security for the mortgage on the other. Last Winter such a situation had nearly been arrived at, President Shonts of the Interborough and Chairman Willcox of the commission reaching what was tantamount to an agreement covering the Seventh Avenue extension from Times Square south, a Madison Avenue extension from Grand Central Station north, a tunnel under Liberty Street and the East River to Pineapple Street, Brooklyn, and an extension out Nostrand Avenue to the Eastern Parkway.

But the Interborough Board in which the reactionary elements was in control, objected to the stipulation by Morgan & Co. that the mortgage securing these bonds should be secured by a lien on all the property of the company, and undertook, as The Times related some time ago, to convert Mayor Gaynor to the plan of having the Interborough's original plan of subway extensions built by city money under a guarantee against loss to the company. The result appeared in the Mayor's letters to the Public Service Commission back in July.

It is known that the Morgan interests take a somewhat different view of the Public Service Commission than is entertained in the old Interborough quarters, and that the Morgans are disposed to recognize the value to the banker of the commission's O. K. on securities of Public Service corporations. It is even anticipated that after the matter of elevated extensions and the Steinway tunnel has been disposed of, negotiations will be started looking to the construction of the Interborough's subway extensions. The third track and Steinway tunnel projects naturally came up first, as they were the only ones before the Commission after the rejection of the previous general offers of the Interborough for subway extensions.

Much interest has attached down town to Mr. McAdoo's proposal to construct a west side subway, particularly as to the possibility of undisclosed bankers being involved. In well informed quarters the statement was made positively yesterday, that the latest McAdoo offer, which was to operate after public construction, was made by the McAdoo interests on their own account, and not as a result of any Morgan influence or of the influence of any of the steam railroad systems.

In this connection, and particularly with reference to the current report that the Pennsylvania Railroad was behind the McAdoo offer, attention was called to the circumstance that the Public Service Commission's investigation of traction matters demonstrated that the Pennsylvania's Long Island Railroad and a half ownership with the Interborough in the Queens County trolley lines, which in itself and without the traffic necessities of the Thirty-second Street terminal, placed the Pennsylvania system with the Interborough in subway affairs. Besides this, the recent open letters of Vice-President Rea, advocating not only the construction of the Seventh Avenue extension, but the elimination of competition from subway construction by granting the Interborough the right to extend up Lexington Avenue where now the Broadway-Lexington Avenue road is scheduled to run, was emphasized as pointing in the direction of a Pennsylvania alliance with the Interborough and not with Mr. McAdoo, who has declared himself a prospective bidder on the operation of the Broadway-Lexington Avenue subway itself.

KEENE AT HIS DESK AGAIN.

Entirely Recovered from Pneumonia and Back in His Office.

James R. Keene, who has been ill with pneumonia in Kentucky for two weeks, returned to his office in the Johnson Building yesterday. He was on his way to attend to an accumulation of horse-racing returns at his Kentucky stock farm near Lexington when stricken. At his Broad Street office it was said he was fully recovered.

LOST $10,000 GEMS IN PARIS.

Mrs. Robert Schneider of This City Robbed—Will Sue Hotel.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Robert Schneider of New York, who has been staying at the Grand Hotel with her husband, was robbed there last week of jewels said to be worth at least $10,000, one ring alone containing fifty diamonds, the setting being two inches long.

The manager of the hotel, it is said, at first promised to pay Mrs. Schneider the value of the stolen jewelry, but subsequently, on the refusal of the Swiss company which had insured him against robbery to make good the amount, changed his mind.

Mrs. Schenloss of Baltimore, formerly Mrs. Milton Roblee, who is well known in New York, aided Mrs. Schneider in substantiating her claim. Acting on the advice of Charles G. Loeb, an American lawyer in Paris, Mrs. Schneider will sue the management of the Grand Hotel to recover the value of her jewels. She and Mr. Schneider sailed to-day on the Caronia.

BIG STEEL MEN CONFER.

No Serious Cutting in Prices, Judge Gary Says Afterward.

Representatives of the leading steel interests of the country met in the Hudson Terminal Building yesterday afternoon. Judge E. H. Gary, Chairman of the United Steel Corporation, and President William E. Corey represented the chief interest in the steel trade. John H. Topping of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, and representatives of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, the Cambria Steel Company, the Lukens Iron and Steel Company, the Lackawanna Steel Company, and Worth Brothers of Coatesville, Penn., and other steel companies were represented.

The tone of the meeting was in accord with the statement issued by Judge Gary on Tuesday afternoon, discrediting the report that the leading steel interests were cutting prices. At the end of the conference yesterday Judge Gary gave out this statement:

"Quite a number of the leading steel people have been in conference at my request. After talking with them I find the conditions better than I expected, and better than indicated in the brief interview which I gave out last evening.

"I do not believe that there will be any serious cutting of prices. The conditions will grow better instead of worse."

COURT EXONERATES STOVER.

Justice Bijur Dismisses Graft Charges Against Commissioner as Ridiculous.

Supreme Court Justice Bijur, in a memorandum handed down yesterday, denounced as "quite incredible" the charges made by John Antonopoulos, who keeps a fruit and soda stand under the Manhattan Terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge, that he was approached by persons who solicited graft in the name of Park Commissioner Stover. Antonopoulos alleged that proceedings to oust him for encroachment were actuated by malice because he refused to be blackmailed. Justice Bijur said:

"Nor do I find that force is lent to the plaintiff's position by allegations of the proposal of an improperly and pretendedly corrupt intermediary. The story is so improbable as to suggest to my mind that the plaintiff is acting under some vague misapprehension. The details of the entire transaction as related by the plaintiff are so crude and sophomoric as to render them quite incredible.

"The plaintiff's account of his transaction with the Commissioner does not impress me as clear or reasonable."

Justice Bijur decreed that if Antonopoulos was to keep the stand under the bridge he must pay the $350 additional rent required by the Commissioner and file a bond.

FIFTY POUNDS OF RATTLERS.

Box of Snakes Shipped to the Bronx Zoo by a Jersey Hunter.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWTON, N. J., Sept. 21.—Harry Trauger's annual shipment of rattlesnakes, fifty pounds of them, got away from here safely last night. The rattlers, safely boxed with a wire netting nailed tight all around, are destined for the New York Zoological Garden.

The snakes' buzzing sounded like a distant saw mill all the time the wire was being tacked on. The character of the shipment was noised around, and by the time the express car came along half the town was trying to get a peek at the box.

"We have had one fine season for rattlers," said Trauger. "I don't think I've seen more since I've been in the business. Don't tell me the rattlesnake is disappearing. It ain't so in Sussex. There wasn't a day in the mountains I didn't see at least one, and so I picked out only the big ones."

LEWIS FLAYS ROOSEVELT.

Miners' Leader Says He Will Never Be President Again.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 21.—Thomas Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America, said to-day that Roosevelt would never be President of the United States again.

"You can't fool the public and you can't fool the miners either," he said. "Roosevelt couldn't fool the public, and he won't be elected President. The people won't have him. The people are getting tired of Mr. Roosevelt.

"I am trying to aid the miners practically, and am not going about the country kicking the corners off buildings, as Teddy and some others are doing."

HEARST BITTERLY RETORTS TO GAYNOR

Hints He's a Veiled Candidate for Governor in the Interests of a Corporation.

SPEAKS OF HIS 'EVIL TEMPER'

And Regrets That His Recent Experience "Did Not Abate His Lying Tongue"—Says Criticism Was Fair.

William R. Hearst sent this reply last night to the letter of Mayor Gaynor recording the Mayor's impressions of the Gallagher attempt to assassinate him, and blaming the cartoons, editorials, and "falsehoods" in the Hearst newspapers for creating such an impression in the minds of the ignorant as might be expected to bring personal violence to the public man thus attacked:

ENGHIEN-LES-BAINS, Sept. 21.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am exceedingly sorry that Mayor Gaynor was shot, and if Mayor Gaynor has said what you tell me I can only add that I am exceedingly sorry that his injuries have affected his mind after his apparent recovery. Mayor Gaynor expressed the hope that his illness would make a better man of him. Many others entertained the same hope, but unfortunately his experience did not abate his evil temper or his lying tongue.

The criticism of some of Mayor Gaynor's public acts by the Hearst papers has been temperate and truthful, dignified and deserved, unprejudiced and in the public interest. A public man who would make a false accusation in the attempt to suppress all public criticism of his acts is a man who is afraid or ashamed to have attention called to the part he is performing.

The World has persistently and pertinently asked: "Who is the masked man who is employing Maurice Minton to canvass for Gaynor for Governor? Who is the masked man who is supplying the cash in the attempt to nominate Mayor Gaynor for Governor?" The World might further ask with perfect propriety, who usually employs Maurice Minton in politics? Who owns a large green automobile and sometimes lends it to his judicial friend? Who would particularly like to control the Public Service Commission in the matter of the new subways? Who would naturally make every effort to nominate for Governor a man who before his election as Mayor had said that the people ought to build the new subways, and after his election declared that the corrupt and incompetent Interborough ought to build the new subways?

In asking all these questions The World would be acting in strict accordance with the public interest, and only that man could object who had a guilty knowledge and a guilty dread of the truth. The Hearst newspapers and all honest newspapers will continue to hold public men to their public pledges and to their public duty. The appalling conditions lately revealed at Albany, at Pittsburg, in California, in Illinois, in Mississippi show the absolute necessity of public vigilance and indicate the extent of the corruption that would prevail if newspaper publicity, the one power that every scoundrel fears, were withdrawn. The Hearst newspapers will continue to exercise a public censorship which I hope will be always fearless.

I personally will not take advantage of your columns to criticise Mayor Gaynor politically, first because of his illness, and second, because his mental, as well as his moral condition, has eliminated him from political consideration.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

MAYOR WRITES TO AN EDITOR.

Candidate Should Be Worthy of His Party and His Motto "Forward."

Special to The New York Times.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—A letter written by Mayor Gaynor of New York to Edwin S. Harris, editor of The Up-State Democrat of Schuylerville, and an old friend of the Mayor, was made public by Mr. Harris this afternoon. It is a reply to one sent by Mr. Harris asking Mr. Gaynor about the Governorship. Here it is:

Sept. 16, 1910.

Dear Mr. Harris: I thank you very much for your kind letter. If the matter is put up to me I shall have to consider very carefully what I shall do, and I am glad to have the information which you furnish me. I hope that some one will be nominated who will be worthy of the party and lift it up and instill into it as its motto "Forward." We cannot lag behind as a mere opposition party. Sincerely yours,

W. J. GAYNOR.

Democratic Chairman, in State Tour, Heard No Other Name.

Chairman John A. Dix of the Democratic State Committee returned to his headquarters in this city yesterday, after a tour of the cities and principal towns of the State, undertaken for the double purpose of solidifying the party and sounding the sentiments the Democratic deelgates will carry with them to the State convention. Hardly any surface Gaynor sentiment has been brought out at any of the district conventions up-State, but Mr. Dix declares that this cannot be taken as an indication of what the real feeling or the people is toward the Mayor.

"The interest in Mayor Gaynor and his progress toward recovery and the sentiment that he should be given and be compelled to accept the nomination for Governor is something wonderful throughout the rural districts," said Mr. Dix. "I have been attending conferences all over the State with the leaders of the various districts and counties. In many instances men drove in for thirty miles to be present, and the principal questions that they asked were about Mayor Gaynor.

"I do not suppose that the people up State were ever so interested in a Mayor of the City of New York as they are in Mayor Gaynor. There is no question about the Gaynor sentiment. I do not intend to commit myself to any candidate, and will not be party to any nomination before it is made. I want the delegates to select their own candidate. At the same time, however, it is obvious to any man who knows what the people up State are thinking that they are going to demand that Mayor Gaynor be their candidate."

Mr. Dix was told there is some uncertainty in this city as to whether the Mayor wished to accept the nomination, and as to whether his health would permit his accepting it.

"I do not know about that," replied the Chairman, "but my impression, from what I know about the Mayor, is that he will not say anything about the matter until the convention is over. I have been told by people who have been to see the Mayor recently that he is making fine progress in regaining his strength, and that his voice is getting stronger every day. I do not know the Mayor personally, and I do not suppose that I shall meet him before the convention, but I admire him for his courage and as a strong, independent citizen. I admire him for his backbone and for what he has done in this city."

It was suggested that there might be some significance in the remarks of the Chairman that he did not expect to see the Mayor until after the State Convention, but Mr. Dix was not to be drawn out further.

The Chairman said he had dinner on Tuesday night with Norman E. Mack, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. He admitted that Mr. Murphy spoke of the visits he has paid to the Mayor at St. James, but would not say what the Tammany leader's opinion of the situation is.

"It seems to me, however," said Mr. Dix, "that the Mayor will undoubtedly be put in nomination from an up-State county. The city seems to be rather indifferent about the matter. My impression is that New York would be satisfied to see the Mayor remain at City Hall. I do not mean by this that the New York delegation is likely in any way to oppose the Mayor's nomination. What I do mean is that the party seems to be satisfied with him."

Mr. Dix's remarks were taken to be most significant by local politicians last night. It is known that he is very close to Leader Murphy and probably was expressing in more or less degree the sentiments of the latter, who has refrained so far from saying anything on the situation.

Tammany, it was learned yesterday, has been able to obtain no statement from the Mayor as to his position. It is understood about the City Hall that he will be back at the City Hall on Monday, his coming being somewhat hastened by the police situation. There will then be only a few days to the convention, and it is believed that some statement or other may then be forthcoming from Mr. Gaynor. Even his closest friends say to-day that they do not know what he intends to do, and that all efforts on their part to get any declaration of his position with reference to the Governorship from him have failed.

TAWNEY BLAMES DEMOCRATS

Declares They Voted in Republican Primaries and Defeated Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WINONA, Minn., Sept. 21.—James A. Tawney, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives, to-day admitted his defeat for renomination in the Republican primaries yesterday. Mr. Tawney, however, declared that he had a majority of the Republican votes cast and that the majority against him in the returns was made up by Democrats. Under the present primary law voters are not compelled to declare their party allegiance in advance and are free to vote with whatever party they choose. Mr. Tawney asserts that thousands of Democrats, having no contests in their own party to interest them, ignored their primary and helped to nominate Sidney Anderson, his insurgent opponent. In a statement he issued to-day he said:

> My defeat for the nomination cannot be charged to the bolt of Republicans. In seven of the ten counties in this district there was no contest for any Democratic nomination. One vote, therefore, in these counties would nominate the Democratic candidates. Throughout the primary campaign the Democrats talked against me and worked for my opponent. They boldly declared they would vote for him in order to defeat me. Under our primary law this could not be prevented.
> The Democratic vote in these seven counties two years ago was over 7,000. At the primary election yesterday in these counties there were fewer than 150 Democratic votes cast. In a single precinct in one county there were seventy more Republican ballots voted than were cast for President Taft in the same precinct two years ago.
> It was not the false representations made by my opponent or the use of the name and popularity of Mr. Roosevelt to give color of truth to these representations that accomplished yesterday's result. It was simply the vote of the Democrats in the counties where there was no contest for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Tawney's charge is one that has been frequently made in connection with direct primaries in the West. It is pointed out that in the Wisconsin contest so few votes were cast for Democratic nominees that there is grave danger that some of them will not get on the ticket. The Democrats in this instance are declared to have turned out in force to make the majority which the La Follette ticket received in the Republican primaries. Similar charges have been made in Iowa in the case of Senator Cummins, in Washington State, where Representative Poindexter recently won the Republican nomination for Senator as an insurgent, and in other places.

P. E. Gallside, Mr. Tawney's manager, admitted the nomination of Anderson by a majority of 2,000 to 2,500.

It is now said that the Democrats, having defeated Tawney, propose to make a strong fight to win the district in the elections.

Results are close in the Twin City districts, but Frank M. Nye has a safe lead over Albert H. Hall in the Minneapolis district, and Fred C. Stevens in St. Paul wins the nomination by somewhat over 1,000.

Fights on county option caused close votes in many counties, which in a number of cases have contributed to the delay in securing accurate returns, especially for members of the lower house. County option candidates have won in many places.

ROOSEVELT VICTORY APPARENTLY SURE

Schenectady, in Barnes's Bailiwick, Surprises Both Sides by Swinging Into Line.

MADISON COUNTY FOR ROOT

Kiley, Old Guard Leader, Suggests Senator as Harmony Candidate for Chairman — Woodruff Reduces Claim.

The Old Guard in the Republican organization, just now engaged in a deadly struggle with the progressive forces led by Col. Theodore Roosevelt for control of the State Convention, was visited with new misfortune yesterday when news came that the Republican County Convention of Schenectady had met and selected a solid Roosevelt delegation, which was also instructed for direct primaries and the entire progressive programme.

Both sides still claim victory, but the most reliable information obtainable indicates that the progressives will have a safe majority of the delegates to the Saratoga Convention. On the other hand, it seems probable that the Old Guard will control the next State Committee and, through it, the party organization.

Late last night dispatches from Utica gave the first inkling of a movement to substitute the name of Senator Elihu Root for that of Vice-President Sherman for Temporary Chairman in the interest of harmony. The first suggestion came from Judge Kiley of Cazenovia, the Republican leader of Madison County. The Republican organization in Madison is more or less dominated by Francis Hendricks, the Republican leader of Onondaga, one of the biggest figures in the Old Guard. Those who heard of the movement connected it with the recent visit of Col. Roosevelt to the State Fair at Syracuse, where he came into contact with a number of Old Guard politicians, among them State Chairman Woodruff and Mr. Hendricks.

Judge Kiley, in a formal statement, said his county was quite strong for Senator Root. In his statement Judge Kiley indicated that he believed the presentation of Senator Root's name to the convention would remove all existing differences and bring about harmony.

The news from Schenectady was unexpected. After the primary returns were in on Tuesday night ex-Senator W. W. Wemple called up State Chairman Woodruff on the telephone and told him that the "organization" in Schenectady County had won a glorious victory, and that Schenectady would send a solid Sherman delegation to Saratoga. So rosy was the report Mr. Woodruff received that he was impelled to extend congratulations of quite exceptional heartiness to Leader Wemple.

A Personal Defeat for Barnes.

The loss of the delegation from Schenectady reduced by eleven delegates the already waning strength of the Old Guard. The county is part of the Twenty-third Congressional District, of which William Barnes, Jr., is the boss. Mr. Barnes, as every Republican throughout the State knows, is the real leader of the fight now being conducted by the reactionary element in the Republican organization against the progressives.

The moral effect of the progressive victory in Schenectady throughout the State was regarded at Republican State headquarters, where the Old Guard leaders hold forth, as by far the worst feature of the setback they suffered in Mr. Barnes's political backyard. It was felt that the defeat suffered by Vice President James S. Sherman, choice of the Old Guard for Temporary Chairman of the State Convention, in his own Assembly district, and in the ward where he lives, was less of a blow than the news that came from Schenectady yesterday.

Both State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff and William Barnes, Jr., even after the news had been received, maintained that they still had a majority of the delegates, and that Vice President Sherman would be chosen temporary Chairman of the State Convention at Saratoga, but there was every indication yesterday that the fight of the Old Guard was rapidly approaching the stage of collapse.

Lloyd C. Griscom, President of the Republican County Committee and leader of the Roosevelt forces, was jubilant when he received the news and declared that the Schenectady delegation was an entirely unexpected addition to the forces that will make the fight for a change in party management and for a progressive platform at Saratoga.

Expects Sherman Defections.

Mr. Griscom believes that when the Saratoga Convention is called to order next Tuesday the progressives will have arrayed on their side at least 370 out of the 1,015 delegates. In the Griscom camp it is taken for granted that the defeat of Vice President Sherman in his home district and the rebuke administered to Mr. Barnes by the Schenectady Republicans, whom he has been accustomed to boss without a murmur of opposition, will have the effect of starting a general scramble for the Roosevelt band wagon.

"The defeat of Mr. Barnes in Schenectady," said Mr. Griscom last night, "is an interesting indication of which way the sentiment in the State is going. If any doubt has existed in the mind of any one as to the outcome of the efforts which are being made to control the State Convention, to-day's news from Schenectady should be sufficient to banish it. I look for Col. Roosevelt's election as temporary Chairman by a substantial majority."

Commenting on the up-State primaries, Mr. Griscom said the result showed that in every locality where the progressives had had the time, opportunity, and means to put an opposition ticket in the field they had won. In the counties, where the Old Guard gained a victory, Mr. Griscom declared, there had been no contests.

Republican State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff received news of the sensational turn of events in Schenectady early yesterday afternoon. He expressed great surprise and said he had been assured absolutely the night before that the organization had been successful in the primaries.

"I attribute the result to the weakness of the local leadership," said the State Chairman. "It will make the contest much closer and more interesting. Taking Mr. Barnes's figures as a basis I still believe Mr. Sherman will be elected Temporary Chairman by a majority of from fifteen to twenty votes. I believe everybody will stand who started to stand. I don't see how we can do anything else."

The admission by the Old Guard that the large majority they claimed had dwindled away until the contest now has reached a point where a few delegates will hold the balance of power has made it certain that extraordinary efforts will be put forth by both sides to enlist the support of the three score delegates or more that have not yet been elected. Cayuga, Rockland, Niagara, Fulton and Hamilton, Greene, Broome and Chemung are among those that have not yet chosen their delegations to the State Convention. In all these counties the conventions will be held within the next three days.

At a late hour last night it was learned that Vice President Sherman had passed through this city on his way to Utica, and that he had talked with National Committeeman W. L. Ward of Westchester. Mr. Sherman did not register at the Hotel Manhattan, where he usually stays, but it was admitted there last night that he had dropped in and got his mail before leaving for Utica yesterday evening.

Scene Soon Shifts to Saratoga.

Beginning Friday the scene of the fight will shift from this city to Saratoga. Both State Chairman Woodruff and William Barnes, Jr., will go to Saratoga on Friday and open headquarters. Lloyd C. Griscom expects to leave New York on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Griscom, Ogden L. Mills, and Earl Dodge. They plan to make the trip as far as Staatsburg on the Hudson in Mr. Dodge's motor boat Tarpon, which brought Col. Roosevelt across Long Island Sound when he went to meet President Taft. The party will remain at Mr. Dodge's country house near Staatsburg over night, and will motor to Saratoga on Saturday.

Reports from Utica yesterday showed the extent of the progressive victory in the Second Assembly District, where Vice President Sherman lives. Mr. Sherman's own ward was captured by 100 majority, although close political friends of the Vice President went about and fairly begged votes for him. Mr. Sherman carried two districts in the county, but the number of towns carried by him exceeds the number carried by the progressives by only two. The Sherman forces carried twenty-five, the progressives twenty-three.

The Second Assembly District Convention was held yesterday afternoon at Whitestown. The nine delegates to the State Convention were instructed for Col. Roosevelt for temporary Chairman. The convention strongly advocated direct primaries, commended President Taft, Governor Hughes and Senator Frederick M. Davenport, who was renominated in the face of bitter opposition on the part of the Vice President, but made no mention of Mr. Sherman. A new district committee was chosen and the old organization crowd was thrown out completely.

At Republican State headquarters here great satisfaction was expressed last night over what was declared to be an unsuccessful attempt by Col. Roosevelt to induce Col. Mike Dady, once the bitter enemy of State Chairman Woodruff, to turn his back on the Old Guard and join hands with the progressives. According to Mr. Woodruff, Col. Dady refused the request of Col. Roosevelt absolutely, and told him that he had taken his stand for Sherman and intended to stay put.

For the first time in a quarter of a century Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., will not be a delegate to the Republican State Convention. The First Orange District selected its delegation yesterday. Every one of the delegates is identified with the progressive movement in the Republican Party. It will be headed by Senator John B. Rose, who led the fight on the Odell forces in this county. Senator Rose is a Hughes man. Resolutions were adopted indorsing Taft, Hughes, and Roosevelt, and recommending the enactment of the Hinman-Green Direct Nominations bill. Assemblyman Caleb H. Baumes was renominated for the Assembly.

ROOSEVELT FIGURES CHANCES.

Col. Dady of Kings, Congressmen Cocks and Dwight Help in Process.

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 21.—The Republican whip of the house, Representative John W. Dwight, made his first visit to Sagamore Hill to-day to tell ex-President Roosevelt that he was with him in his fight for the control of the Republican State Convention at Saratoga next week. Representative W. W. Cocks of Nassau County piloted Mr. Dwight up Sagamore Hill. The two Congressmen, both identified with the House organization, of which Vice President Sherman was formerly a leader, and both old friends of the Vice President, joined in prophesying the rout of his forces.

Postmaster E. W. Voorhies of Brooklyn also came down to Oyster Bay with Col. Michael J. Dady of Brooklyn, Republican leader of the First Assembly District of Kings County. Col. Roosevelt was reported to have called Col. Dady to Sagamore Hill, but neither would talk about their conference after it was over.

Col. Roosevelt, Mr. Cocks, and Mr. Dwight did some close figuring on the chances for victory at Saratoga in the light of returns from yesterday's primaries. The Colonel had not a word to say as to what he thought of his prospects, now that the primaries were over, but from what Mr. Dwight and Mr. Cocks said, it was gathered that they were all hopeful.

Col. Roosevelt has not been making any prophecies and does not expect to make any. He would not talk politics from any angle and, even when he was informed that Representative Tawney, whom he criticised in his recent speech in St. Paul, had been defeated at the primaries, he merely said that he had heard that, too.

Mr. Dwight declared himself squarely as he left Sagamore Hill.

"I have known Col. Roosevelt since 1881," he said, "and we always have been warm personal friends. We were together in the West, and we shall be together at Saratoga. The Tompkins County delegation will support Col. Roosevelt to a man."

Mr. Dwight added that he was sure that Col. Roosevelt would win his fight.

"I'm glad in a way," said Mr. Cocks, in speaking of Mr. Sherman's defeat in his own district, "but I'm sorry to see Jim licked in his home district. Jim's on the wrong end of the stick in this fight."

Mr. Voorhies, who is a strong Roosevelt man, and Col. Dady, who has long been identified with the Kings County organization, although he has fought the rule of Timothy L. Woodruff, had their talk with the Colonel together. Col. Dady was not more willing to reveal what he told Col. Roosevelt than the Colonel was to say what he told Col. Dady.

The impression prevailed, however, that his message was not such a cheery one as those brought by Mr. Cocks and Mr. Dwight. Col. Dady was reported to have told Col. Roosevelt that there was no chance that he could get any delegates from Kings County outside of those in the four districts which went for him at the primaries, and that there was no use of his trying to do so.

Col. Roosevelt said to-day that he had arranged for another of his sociological expeditions soon after his return from Saratoga, although the exact date has not been settled. This time he is to go to Ithaca, N. Y., and spend a day in inspecting some of the abandoned farms in three or four counties in that part of the State. Prof. L. H. Bailey of Cornell University is to be his guide. The trip will start at Ithaca and end at Binghamton.

The political conferences at Sagamore Hill probably will be continued to-morrow. Col. Roosevelt said that he expected a few visitors then, although he wasn't quite sure whether they would come.

Brooklyn Republicans speculated much yesterday concerning the visit to Oyster Bay of Col. Michael J. Dady, who as a State Committeeman voted for Vice-President Sherman for temporary chairman of the State convention in preference to Col. Roosevelt.

It is the general opinion that Col. Dady was invited to Oyster Bay at the suggestion of Congressman Calder, F. J. H. Kracke, and Postmaster Voorhies, who are in charge of the Roosevelt campaign in Kings.

Before leaving for Oyster Bay, Col. Dady was particular to refute a rumor that he had flopped from the Old Guard to the Roosevelt forces.

"I am going to Oyster Bay," he declared, "to inform Col. Roosevelt about the real situation in Kings County. I believe he has been misinformed. I am going to tell him that if he keeps up this crusade he will very likely lose some of the delegates in the four Assembly districts which are now pledged to him. I am also going to tell the Colonel that, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, he cannot get any more votes in Kings. I will point out the danger of such a movement as he is heading, and I will inform him that if it continues he will not be heard of in 1912."

SCHENECTADY FOR ROOSEVELT.

Wemple, Old Guard Leader, Is Swept Aside in Convention.

Special to The New York Times.

SCHENECTADY, Sept. 21.—The selection of delegates pledged to Col. Roosevelt by the Republican County Convention to-day was a complete surprise to all but a few. It took Senator W. W. Wemple, the Republican leader of this county, altogether unawares.

Involved in the action of the convention is the end of Barnes's domination of Schenectady County affairs, and the probable overthrow of the Wemple machine. A series of scandals connected with the administration of the city and the county had not a little to do with the revolt. It was less than a year ago that Frank L. Fonda, City Clerk, committed suicide as the result of a discovered shortage, and this tragedy has been followed by other scandals which have come within the scope of the criminal courts.

When the convention was called to order it was thought that the Wemple programme of having the delegates pledged to Vice President Sherman for temporary Chairman would be carried through without a hitch, but opposition which swept all before it developed on the floor.

Charles E. Palmer, Sr., introduced the resolution binding the delegates to vote for Roosevelt and it was carried with a whoop.

ALBANY, Sept. 21.—William Barnes, Jr., although apparently very much surprised at the action of the Schenectady County Republican Convention to-day in pledging its delegates for Col. Roosevelt, insisted to-night that it would not change the situation, and that Vice President Sherman would be elected temporary Chairman of the Republican State Convention.

"The result there," he said in referring to the Schenectady convention, "does not change the situation. Mr. Sherman will unquestionably be elected Chairman of the Republican State Convention.

"Whether the Republican party is to be turned over to doctrines contrary to its history and to its real meaning will be for the convention to decide."

ALCHEMIST FAILS TO MAKE SILVER

E. D. Gleason Goes Back to Jail After Refusing to Complete "Transmutation."

BACKER LOSES ALL FAITH

Special to The New York Times.

SCRANTON, Penn., Sept. 21.—After telling the authorities of this city and A. O. Granger, a wealthy Philadelphian, that he would transmute base metal into silver in the laboratory of Dr. Frederick W. Lange, the Scranton "alchemist," and after failing to do it E. D. Gleason, a Philadelphia chemist, was locked up in the county jail here to-day to face charges of forgery and false pretense.

The charges against Gleason were preferred by Dr. Lange, in whose laboratory in this city the experiment was performed. It was in the same laboratory that Charles C. Dickinson, ex-President of the Carnegie Trust Company of New York, inhaled fumes from a crucible which caused his death several months ago.

Dr. Lange, in spite of his announcement that he could transmute base metals into pure silver, could not pay the interest on a $60,000 judgment ten days ago, and his home was seized by the Sheriff. In the investigation of Dr. Lange's finances which has been going on during the last week, it has turned out that he had a lot of dealing, both financial and alchemistic, with the Philadelphia chemist.

Lange told the Sheriff that Gleason had sold him the rights and secrets of an alleged process for transmuting base metals into silver, and that the process, after he bought it, would not work. Lange also complained to the Sheriff that Gleason had passed on him a $25,000 note with a forged indorsement. Lange told the Sheriff that these were among the reasons why he could not meet the interest on the $60,000 judgment. The Sheriff went to Philadelphia and arrested Gleason. Incidentally, he discovered that Gleason was apparently arranging to sell to Mr. Granger the same metal transmuting process which he was charged with having already sold to Lange. The Sheriff communicated with Mr. Granger, but did not succeed at first in opening his eyes as to the questionable character of the alchemistic process as a financial investment.

Gleason agreed to go to Dr. Lange's laboratory, which was still in the hands of the Sheriff, and there turn base metal into silver by means of his process. He stipulated, however, that if he did succeed in turning base metal into silver, Granger must help him out of the financial scrape he had got into with Dr. Lange.

All hands, accordingly, yesterday repaired to Dr. Lange's laboratory. Granger had brought several chemists with him from Philadelphia to safeguard his interests. Lange and his lawyers were also present, and there were the Sheriff and several of his deputies.

With a constable practically standing at each elbow, Gleason started doggedly to work. Whenever he left the laboratory even for a minute a Deputy Sheriff followed him. Gleason finally succeeded in precipitating a quantity of chlorides from the caldron. But he stopped the experiment at this point, saying that night was coming on and that he would reduce the chlorides to pure silver ingots this morning.

The party broke up for the night. Gleason appeared quite hopeful that the experiment would be successful. He spoke cheerfully in the night to the constables who were guarding him.

When the constables brought him back to the laboratory this morning, however, he seemed to have undergone a change of spirit. He refused absolutely to continue the experiment, and permitted himself to be taken to the county jail.

NEW DEMOCRATIC DAILY.

The New York Ledger Is to Come Out Mornings On and After Sept. 28.

The New York Ledger, a weekly Democratic newspaper, which has been in existence in this city for the last two years, is about to become a daily morning newspaper. According to the Longacre Publishing Company, which is to issue it, the newcomer is to be "an independent and dependable Democratic morning newspaper for New York."

It will be called The Daily Ledger, and its first daily edition will appear on the morning of Wednesday, Sept. 28. The present weekly will continue as a weekly edition of the daily. The Daily Ledger will cost one cent, and the first edition will consist of 50,000 copies. The Longacre Publishing Company, which owns it, is capitalized at $500,000.

Nominated for Congress.

In some of the State districts the Republicans held Congressional Conventions yesterday. Nominations were made in these districts as follows:

Thirty-third District—J. Sloat Fassett, renominated.

Thirty-fifth District—Daniel A. Driscoll, renominated.

Thirty-sixth District—D. S. Alexander, renominated.

Suffolk County Democrats for Gaynor.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Sept. 21.—At the Suffolk County Democratic convention, held at the Court House this afternoon, a resolution was unanimously passed endorsing the administration of Mayor Gaynor, and setting forth that the Mayor was the choice of the Suffolk County Democrats for Governor of the State. At the close of the county convention the First Assembly District Convention was called and Augustine Kiernan, of Sag Harbor, was nominated for Assembly.

would not write a letter to the Pope asking for honors for you; but I said that he could go to Rome and say—viva voce—to the Pope, how much I wish you to be Cardinal, and how grateful I personally would be for giving you that honor." I am most clear in my memory as to every word. I will write about American politics to Bellamy. With most affectionate regards to him and to yourself I am, sincerely, JOHN IRELAND.

Mr. Storer and I were received by the Holy Father in private audience on Dec. 2, 1903, and the President's message was delivered. Some newspaper reporters in Rome tried to "interview" my husband, ineffectively, but one agency, the Scripps-McRae, asserted that Mr. Storer had come to Rome on a "diplomatic" mission to the Vatican. Mr. Roosevelt was alarmed, thinking that the anti-Catholics would attack him, and denied publicly that he had ever sent any message to Rome.

Archbishop Ireland (on receipt of two letters from Mr. Storer telling him of our arrival in Rome and giving an account of our audience) wrote a month later, after a visit to Washington, as follows:

Washington, Feb. 2, 1904.

My Dear Friend: Your two letters were read and burnt. * * * However, you need have no anxiety whatsoever about the whole affair which was the chief subject matter of those letters. * * * The President had no occasion to feel ruffled in the least, but you know his impulsiveness. When I saw him, he of his own accord told me of his writing to you and asked me how publicity was given to the matter. * * * I said the Scripps-McRae agency had merely made a guess (as to Mr. Storer's coming to Rome,) and that the few unfavorable comments that followed amounted really to nothing. He calmed down completely; remarked that he had every confidence in you, and hoped that the outcome of your mission would be what all desired. Kindest regards to Mrs. Storer. Yours most sincerely, JOHN IRELAND.

There was no consistory until December 11, 1905, and at this consistory Archbishop Ireland's name did not appear. Mr. Roosevelt was (characteristically) furious that his wishes had not been considered, and on the very day that he got the news he wrote to me a letter so amazing that I thought he had taken leave of his senses. He accused me of having used his name in an unauthorized way at the Vatican to obtain the elevation of Archibshop Ireland to the Cardinalate and demanded that I write him a letter acknowledging my misdemeanors, or else he would recall my husband.

Mr. Storer would not permit me to answer this insulting letter, and two months later the President recalled my husband from Vienna and dismissed him from the diplomatic service in the most brutal manner possible. The President brought publicly the same false accusation against me, and all the newspapers of the country attacked me. My husband, on our return to the United States, wrote a letter in November, 1906, to the President and the Cabinet, and in my defense told the truth. President Roosevelt published this letter and his answer to it in the form of a letter to the Secretary of State, Mr. Root. In this letter President Roosevelt does not hesitate to assert:

> As for Mr. Storer's assertion that I authorized him to make such a statement as he says he was authorized to make to the Pope, it is untrue. I gave him no such authorization.

I write this statement of facts, because it is time that people both in Europe and America should really know what manner of man is Theodore Roosevelt and how much his vociferations for "honesty and a square deal" really mean. He is a dangerous influence, and the truth alone can overcome his power—as it can overcome all evil.

I write this statement also in order to prove that Mr. Roosevelt's request to Pope Pius X. was not made at the solicitation of Archbishop Ireland, first of all, but from the President himself, after the commission was given to Mr. Storer. The truth should be known in justice to Archbishop Ireland.

MARIA LONGWORTH STORER.
Château de Carrières, Marce Jois-Lozere, France, Sept. 6, 1910.

The first public information of the break between President Roosevelt and the Storers came early in 1906 when it was reported in Washington that Mr. Storer would soon be dismissed from his place as Ambassador to Austria. The dismissal followed in March of that year, and at the time the official explanation was that the Ambassador had left his post at Vienna and gone to Africa without authorization of the State Department. It was also explained that he had failed to reply to letters from President Roosevelt.

Early in the following December every member of the Cabinet and of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations received a copy of a pamphlet prepared by Mr. Storer setting forth his side of the case and quoting in extenso a number of letters from the private correspondence that had passed between Col. Roosevelt on the one hand and the Storers on the other. Mr. Storer sought to show that he and Mrs. Storer had been outrageously treated by the President for doing the very thing that Col. Roosevelt had wanted them to do.

The pamphlet found its way into the newspapers and was widely published. The publication elicited a long letter from President Roosevelt to Elihu Root, then Secretary of State, in which the President gave more of the correspondence than Mr. Storer had supplied and endeavored to show that, despite his frequent and direct warning, both Mr. and Mrs. Storer had endeavored to create the impression at the Vatican that Col. Roosevelt as President was désirous of the elevation of Archbishop Ireland to a Cardinalate. The present letter from Mrs. Storer is the first effort at reply to that statement of the case by Col. Roosevelt that has been made.

The Royal Road to a Knowledge of Music

"There is no royal road to knowledge." But the world's greatest teachers of music have long recognized that, as a speedy aid to a knowledge of music, there is nothing so effective as the Pianola or the Pianola Piano.

Leschetizky, the teacher of Paderewski, is one of the Pianola's warmest advocates.

At Columbia, Harvard, Vassar, Amherst and nearly 100 of our other leading institutions of learning, the Pianola and other Aeolian Company's instruments have been for years an important part of the regular courses in Music.

The Pianola Piano

The logical value of the Pianola to the student of music is apparent.

It affords an object lesson. It reminds the pupil of the splendors of the goal toward which he is striving. It places at his instant disposal the masterpieces of the wonderful art he is studying.

It gives him the same advantages in music that art museums give to the student of painting. It creates the musical atmosphere lacking in many homes. It gives zest to an otherwise arduous duty. It inspires to stronger effort.

And, by virtue of the Metrostyle, which is the only authoritative guide to the correct interpretation of music, it provides a constant and uplifting ideal.

Thus, even if the Pianola Piano did not afford —as it does—more brightness, more enjoyment to each member of a family than is possible with any other single article, it would still remain one of the splendid and important achievements of the age—the greatest teaching influence in the world of music.

— But Remember This

It is the Pianola and the Pianola Piano—and not the ordinary instruments of this type—that have the sanction of musical authorities. Only the Pianola and the Pianola Piano have the Metrostyle, the Themodist and other features of like importance for the study and enjoyment of music. In Manhattan, the Pianola and Pianola Piano are sold only at Aeolian Hall.

ALIENISTS' VERSION OF CHARLTON'S PLIGHT

Their Report on His Mental State and Its Causes, Kept Out of Court, Given to The Times.

FAMILY SKELETONS BARED

But Judge Blair Rules That This Testimony Is Not Material Now—Knox to Decide Extradition.

Porter Charlton, self-confessed murderer of his wife, the former Mary Scott Castle, at Lake Como, Italy, last June, went back to the Hudson County Jail yesterday, after what was to be the crucial hearing on Italy's demand for his extradition, before Judge Blair in the Hudson County Court of Oyer and Terminer, Jersey City. The elaborate insanity plea prepared for him was not even considered by the court, and the report of the alienists who have examined him and declare him to be an irresponsible lunatic was not presented.

Judge Blair held that, sitting as a committing court, he had only two questions to consider: Had a crime been committed? Was there probably cause for believing Porter Charlton was the man who committed it? Important points of international law are involved, and after consulting legal authorities Judge Blair will make a recommendation in the case to Secretary of State Knox, on whose final decision the extradition or retention—which means ultimately the freedom of Porter Charlton will depend.

The hearing was long and technical. What was expected to be its most sensational feature, the evidence on which the alienists declare Charlton irresponsible, falling of development, the crowded courtroom soon lost interest. The report of the alienists was, however, obtained by a TIMES reporter after the hearing.

The alienists who examined the prisoner were Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, Dr. Edward D. Fisher and Dr. W. J. Arlitz. They declare that Charlton is of defective mental organization and is a victim of what is known to students of mental diseases as "constitutional inferiority." The alienists investigated the personal antecedents of the prisoner and found that his paternal grandfather was a paranoiac for years before his death, dying at the age of between 35 and 40 years of chronic alcoholism; that a first cousin on his mother's side was an epileptic and that his maternal uncle "was a man of absolutely stubborn and brutal nature who wasted his estate, formed a low association and drug habits and was of eccentric, immoral and vagabond tendencies."

Brother a Slayer, too.

The immediate family of the defendant, the alienists discovered, is not free from neurotic weaknesses. One younger brother accidentally shot and killed a playmate to whom he was devotedly attached, but showed little or no subsequent remorse. On one occasion, they found, Charlton raised a chair to strike his mother and on another vented his blind rage on a horse.

"The horse," says the report, "ran away with him and he returned with the animal, which was in a state of complete exhaustion, covered with lather, foam, and blood from the rider's spurs. This was in 1903, when Charlton was 14 years old. At other times he was gentle, sweet, and amiable, and always polite. Intellectually he was up to the average, and possessed no mean business ability. About a year ago he entered one of the largest National banks as a boy and rose within a year to the head of the foreign department for American securities. In another direction he was fanciful, wrote verse, and was delicate, and to a degree sentimental."

The report goes on to tell about Charlton's meeting with the woman who became his wife, and who was sixteen years his senior. About this time, it says, Charlton visited his father, and he had a cough, which his father worried about. Upon examination by a physician he was reported to have a consolidation of one of his lungs.

Almost from the time of his meeting with his wife, the report states, Charlton underwent a change in his relations with his family and associates. He wrote insulting and incoherent letters to his father and brother, and neglected his business. As early as September, 1909, "he became greatly changed, detached, aloof, and indifferent; at times he was insolent to his superiors in the bank, declining to receive instructions from them."

"On the day of the murder," continues the report, "it appears that the accusations of his wife were more exasperating than usual, the result being hot words. Charlton appears to have kept his temper up to a certain point when, suddenly, he seized a mallet close at hand and rained blows upon her head. After the killing he immediately law down near the body and slept there until the next morning, or from four to six hours. He does not seem to have been agitated or greatly worried, but doubling up the corpse he placed it in an empty trunk.

"He slept most of the day in their bedroom, near the trunk, and afterward left the place. Although he burned his trousers, which were soiled, he left a blood-stained mattress and other things and made no serious attempt to destroy the evidences of his crime. His attempts at concealing his identity were silly.

"When first seen at the jail he was very emotional. His facial muscles were the seat of jerky tremors, and his actions were exceedingly nervous. There were also coarser tremors of his hands and tongue. When the subject of the murder was gone into he did not show any special concern, but when reference was made to the dead woman he became greatly agitated, and at one time his face was apparently contracted in spasm, his eyeballs being drawn upward and inward and fixed so that only the whites were observed. There is no doubt that he has had hallucinatory visions of the dead woman at various times.

"While he has a technical knowledge of what he has done and is aware that his offense is illegal, he feels absolutely no remorse or fear of the law, nor does he seem to be alive to the danger of his position. All his discussions of it are from an abstract standpoint, and he cannot be aroused to the heinousness of what he has done. He talks coolly and answers our questions directly and without evasion.

No Criminal Instincts.

"His physical condition reveals little or nothing but hysterical stigmata. His color sense for red especially is greatly constricted. His deep reflexes are decidedly exaggerated, but there is nothing else that bears upon his case. There is no malformation of the head, nor are there any abnormalities by many supposed to be suggestive of the instinctive criminal.

"It is our opinion that he is of unsound mind and liable to attacks of impulsive violence and that his moral sense is pathologically defective. The murder of June 6 and his subsequent behavior inclines us to think that he suffered from an exhaustive psychosis due to excesses and in a way the nature of the explosion which was preceded by an aura and his long sleep by the side of the body has impressed at least one of us with the idea that the act was performed as the result of an epileptiform seizure, during which he was not responsible. His later conduct suggests a degree of weakmindedness and disregard for his personal safety, which is to be looked for in a person suffering from his constitutional weakness.

"He should be taken to a hospital for the insane and there kept indefinitely, for he is likely at any time to be a menace to society."

Dr. Hamilton said last night: "There is a side to this case which cannot be discussed in the public prints without obvious harm. Charlton was a weak-minded boy and hysterical and sensitive to a degree. His state of mind on June 6 was one familiar to psychiatrists and evidenced an insanity due to exhaustion."

As already stated, however, some of this testimony will be admitted by Judge Blair in the extradition proceedings. The Judge announced flatly, when the question of hearing testimony on young Charlton's mental condition came up, that, as he was sitting as a committing Magistrate, he could not hear testimony for the defense. Counsel for Charlton, R. Floyd Clarke of 37 Wall Street, Manhattan; William D. Edwards, and Edwin T. Smith, both of Jersey City, were taken unawares by this decision. It was the one thing, as far as could be gathered, to which they had pinned their best hopes for the immediate dismissal of their client.

Judge Blair's announcement did not come until late in the afternoon, and all day long Mr. Clarke and others of Charlton's counsel had been keenly watching for some loophole left by Prosecutor Garven, his assistant, George T. Vickers, and Attorney Emil Fuchs, employed by Capt. Henry H. Scott, U. S. A., brother of the dead woman, who all along has expressed a determination to bring her slayer to justice if possible. But none was left.

Several witnesses for the prosecution were examined in the morning, but Mr. Garven and his associates took studious care not to mention and not to let their witnesses refer to the alleged confession made by Charlton when arrested in Hoboken. That was the thing of all others Charlton's lawyers wanted.

In the hope, first of some slip of this kind, and, secondly, of the willingness of Judge Blair to go into this phase of the case, Mr. Clarke had brought into court in readiness to testify ex-Judge Paul Charlton of Washington, who would say that his son had been erratic and of unsound mind from childhood; Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, Dr. C. L. Dana, and Dr. C. F. Fisher, alienists, who have been observing the prisoner since he has been in the Hudson County Jail.

It is understood, also, that the defense had in court a large number of Charlton's letters, supposed to indicate the unsound condition of the writer's mind. These would have been read had the court admitted this line of defense.

Young Charlton was apparently very buoyant in spirits all the morning. He was dressed in a new blue serge suit, new black derby hat, and new tan shoes. He faced a crowded courtroom, including a number of women, without flinching, and during the hearing sat with his brother Robert, closely guarded by Sheriff James J. Kelly and several deputies. His father sat with his son's counsel, and frequently prompted them.

Capt. Scott Searched.

Capt. Scott was also in court. When he entered Sheriff Kelly said to him:

"I am sorry, but it seems proper to see that you have no weapons."

Capt. Scott was evidently surprised, but submitted to having his pockets searched for revolvers. None being found, he was permitted to take a seat with counsel for the prosecution. Throughout the proceedings he was inconspicuously but keenly watched, three uniformed men standing behind him or between him and Charlton all the time when the two happened to be near each other.

Prosecutor Garven began the proceedings by moving for the extradition for Charlton. He then called to the stand Gustavo Di Rosa, the Italian Vice Consul in this city, to testify that he had acted for his Government in presenting to the court the dossier received from Italy embracing the certified copies of the depositions taken at Como relating to the crime and the finding of the woman's body. Mr. Di Rosa said he had presented the dossier to Judge Blair on Aug. 11, and when Mr. Garven offered the document as evidence Mr. Clarke protested. Both he and Mr. Edwards declared that the dossier did not appear to have been filed with the court or the court clerk or any one else, only having been in the possession of the court for half an hour or so, if even that.

This step by Mr. Clarke revealed one partat least of the defense, that relating to the alleged irregularity of the course taken by the Italian Government to extradite the defendant. After luncheon Judge Blair announced the admission of the dosier. This closer the prosecution's case, Mr. Garven moving that the prisoner be committed to jail until he could be formally surrendered to the Italian Government.

But Mr. Clarke jumped to his feet to say that the defense had much to bring to the court's attention.

"We are prepared to show that the defendant is of unsound mind, that he had been so since childhood, that he was insane to the extent of not knowing right from wrong when this crime was committed, and was in the same condition when arrested."

Mr. Garven protested against the admission of such testimony, and the court reminded Mr. Clarke that he himself had contended that the court was sitting as a committing court, and as such could not under the law hear evidence for defense.

When Portor Charlton heard this his head sank on his hand.

Mr. Clarke was forced to fight his case out thereafter on the two grounds that Italy had herself abrogated the treaty on the extradition of persons charged by one or the other governments with the commission of crime by construing it as not including Italian citizens, and that as this country was therefore under no treaty obligation to give Charlton up, it was not in the power of the court or the executive, whether President or Secretary of State to do so, but in that of Congress and the treaty making body alone. Therefore the court had no jurisdiction in the case and must release the prisoner at once.

He pointed out that the Italian Government had in five separate cases refused to honor the requisition of this country for Italian citizens charged with crime in this country. Knowing this, Mr. Clarke said, the Italian Government had not dared to ask this Government for Charlton in the prescribed way, that is, by formal mandate in addition to the requisition which, he said, had been telegraphed.

"It has tried to steal this man, an American citizen," said Mr. Clarke, "while it has consistently dodged when approached by the United States for Italians in refuge there but wanted here for 'Black Hand' crimes."

It will probably be some days before the court's disposition of the case is known. However Judge Blair decides it, it must go to Secretary Knox before extradition papers can be issued, it is said, and even after the Secretary decides it, if in favor of Italy, his decision, Mr. Clarke says, is subject to court review. The defense now hopes to get in the insanity plea before Secretary Knox as a determining factor in their client's favor.

Yesterday was said to have been Charlton's twenty-first birthday.

TAFT DECLARES WAR ON "PORK BARREL"

Demands Reform in Making Appropriations for Improvement of Waterways.

ABUSES LIKE CORRUPTION

Local Interests Must Give Way to General Good—Speaks at Ohio Valley Exposition in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—Denouncing the Congressional "pork barrel," President Taft to-day urged a change of method in dealing with waterway improvements in the United States. He said the "piecemeal policy" of appropriating Government funds for rivers and harbors was not only indefensible from a business standpoint, but also gave rise to "a species of legislative abuse that is very near corruption in its effect."

The President spoke before the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, which met at the Ohio Valley Exposition here to celebrate the completion of a new Government dam at Fernbank, Ohio, a few miles below Cincinnati. This project is designed to conserve a navigable stage of the Ohio River during the dry months of each year.

The bulk of President Taft's speech was devoted to the improvement of the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cairo, which, he said, he hoped would be completed in six years instead of twelve. Then he took up the general subject of waterway improvement, saying:

Projects Should Be Reconsidered.

"It is doubtful how far, by Executive order, I can go in directing the engineers to make recommendations informing Congress as to the relative importance of the projects adopted and entered upon. I think I have gone as far as I can in this matter, and I shall ask Congress for more power at its next session. This should be given in the form of authority to organize a board of engineers to go over many partially completed enterprises that were begun before the present plan of approval by two boards was adopted or which, by change in conditions, need reexamination in order to determine whether they should not be abandoned. Until this is done these projects, whether worthy or unworthy, will be promptly on hand at each session for an appropriation.

"We have reached a new epoch in the matter of the improvement of our waterways. The public is greatly aroused by the confident and just belief that by a more symmetrical, reasonable, and prompt expenditure of money upon approved projects rates of transportation may be lowered and the business of the country greatly benefited.

"You could collect, if you desired, libraries of records of meetings of waterways conventions, full of statistics, full of generalizations, full of eloquence, and full of prophecies as to the marvelous improvement of waterways near at hand. Then you change the scene and go into the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the lower house, or into the Committee of Commerce in the Senate, and you find the same old methods pursued, the same distribution of money among the Congressional districts, the same slow, almost imperceptible steps toward the completion of many enterprises in many years, and you begin to realize that it is one thing to pass resolutions, one thing to generalize and develop possibilities into fancied facts, and it is quite another thing to get rid of a system that strikes its roots down deep into the fallibility of human nature.

"As a country, we are all in favor of the most effective and economical expenditure for the development of our waterways, but as members of a district and as representatives of districts we are selfishly insistent upon our share of public appropriations each year, however much that division of the spoil impedes the adoption of the effective and economical improvement of our water transportation.

To Push One at a Time.

"We who live on the banks of the Ohio River are not different from other people living on other waterways possible of development and needing improvement. We happen to be more fortunate than others in that, in a calm and impartial consideration of all the projected improvements for river transportation, there is one that offers so great a probability of success and benefit to the entire country as the improvement of the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cairo. We are, therefore, naturally on the right side of the controversy, and we can easily favor ending the 'piecemeal' system of dividing the spoils among districts and of centring all the energy and capital of the Government in the completion first of one great plan, and then another, and then another.

"In signing the last River and Harbor bill, which had many of the characteristics of previous bills and was subject to the criticism that many items were contained therein that were merely piecemeal, I indicated to Congress that the passage of another bill of that character would merit a veto. I ventured to say this in order to bring to the attention of Congress the necessity for a change in the form of the bills, and I am hopeful that with the reason and argument all on the side of the change, the suggestion contained in my memorandum may be given weight. Certainly, until this fundamental reform is put into effect the improvement of our rivers and inland waterways will be chiefly important because of the local advantage of the money expended, and not because of the betterment of our transportation.

"The evil in the corrupt control of a Congress or a Legislature by private interest is manifest and always calls for condemnation. But there is another kind of legislative abuse as dangerous to public weal in certain of its aspects as corruption, and that is the selfish combination of the representatives of the majority of the constituencies to expend the money of the Government for the temporary benefit of a part or with little benefit to the whole. It is the duty of the majority and the minority to legislate always for the benefit of the whole people, and any enactments that look to the selfish exploitation of less than the whole at the expense of the whole, and without benefit to the whole, is a species of legislative abuse that comes very near corruption in its effect, and is perhaps more dangerous than corruption, because those who support such a combination are generally bold in its defense.

"The days of the pork barrel should be numbered. The country is roused against the corporate or corrupt control of legislative agencies, but it is doubtful whether the constituencies as yet are able to perceive the higher obligation on the part of themselves and their representatives, not to use their votes in combination to appropriate to a part that which belongs to the whole."

TAFT GREETED WITH CHEERS.

Spends Enjoyable Day in Cincinnati—Won't Talk About Roosevelt.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—President Taft had a thoroughly enjoyable time to-day among his "home folks" of Cincinnati. He visited the Ohio Valley Exposition, made an address in Music Hall on waterways improvement, took an automobile ride during the afternoon, dined at the Business Men's Club this evening, and later attended a performance of the opera "Paoletta," composed by a local musician and rendered largely by local performers. Everywhere he went Mr. Taft was greeted with cheers.

The President's day was free from politics. He did not comment in any way on the New York primaries. He would say nothing regarding Col. Roosevelt's statement to the effect that he had not sought the conference at New Haven. Mr. Taft did not initiate that conference and he apparently is indifferent as to whether it was arranged by Col. Roosevelt or by Lloyd C. Griscom, who has been acting for Col. Roosevelt in the New York fight.

To-morrow, President Taft is to receive a number of Ohio Republican leaders. They are anxious to consult with him regarding the situation in this State, and Mr. Taft has consented to see them.

NOTED YEGGMAN CAUGHT.

Police Say He's Joe Fay, Who Escaped from Leavenworth Prison.

A little weazened-up man, with a withered face and a mouth concealed by a drooping sandy mustache streaked with gray, was led into the Detective Bureau in Police Headquarters last night, dragging back sullenly against Detectives Riley and O'Neil, two six-footers, to whose wrists his own were fastened with handcuffs. Behind them was Detective Kear, eager and smiling, to report to Lieut. Funston:

"That's Joe Fay, or 'Mott Haven Red,' one of the finest yeggmen and Post Office robbers in the country. We got him up at 138th Street and Willis Avenue."

Then he proceeded to read this about the prioner to Funston:

"Joe Fay, 51 years old, an iron worker with no home, wanted as an escaped prisoner from the Federal Prison at Leavenworth, Kan."

He will be arraigned this morning in the Tombs Court to be held for the action of the Federal authorities.

According to the detectives, Fay is one of the most notorious Post Office robbers in the country and for years was at the head of a widely feared gang of which to-day he is almost the only remaining member not in prison. In the gang, said the detectives, were such men as John Stamford, or John Conley, known to his pals as "Pawtucket Johnny," Frank Hackett, alias "Joseph Code," who was shot to death by the Postmaster at Nyack, N. Y., in 1898, and whose body was identified as that of the man for whom the police were looking for the murder of a Newburg (N. Y.) Postmaster.

Of all his pals, the police say, Fay had the most notorious record. His most recent sentence, that to Leavenworth Prison, was on Dec. 26, 1907, as a result of the burglary of the Post Office at Highland Falls, N. Y., in January of that year.

BALLINGER DEFIES ENEMIES.

Says He Will Expose Those Self-Appointed Moralists, His Traducers.

DENVER, Sept. 21.—"When I get footloose from public office I intend to devote a part of my time to giving to the American people some idea of the purity of the lives of my traducers," said Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger this afternoon at a banquet given in his honor by the Denver Chamber of Commerce and the Real Estate Exchange.

"The public is entitled to know the hidden springs of that inspiration which gushes in torrents of 'uplift' patriotism from these self-appointed moralists, and I shall heartily enjoy using the 'searchlight' when the proper season comes."

The Secretary asserted the efficiency of the Interior Department was never greater than to-day, and continued:

"I have no apologies to make to the American people for any act during my public career or in any private capacity. Standing securely upon my conscious rectitude I defy all my critics and all my enemies, and with the deliberate purpose of fighting out the battle to the end I propose to administer the Interior Department within the Constitution and the law as I conceive it to be under my oath of office.

"Perhaps, unfortunately for me, but fortunately for the American people, I have been the instrument through which the efforts of certain overzealous persons have been thwarted in an attempt to convert the public domain into a great National preserve, and to destroy the opportunities of the West for the useful and just development of its resources. While I earnestly believe in the conservation of our natural resources I believe in the exercise of sanity in regard to this as well as every virtue."

ALIENS' RUSE TO LAND HERE.

Those Afflicted with Disease Pay Substitutes to Pass Examinations Abroad.

The physicians attached to the Marine Hospital Corps examining arriving aliens at this port believe they have discovered a new scheme by which persons suffering with trachoma have succeeded in getting on shipboard in the expectation of passing the immigration authorities here.

On the Greek steamship Athinai which arrived yesterday from Piraeus, Kalamata, Patras, and Palermo were 214 cabin and 1,328 steerage passengers. The physicians examining the cabin were surprised to find eight cases of trachoma. Five were so well developed that it was considered impossible that a medical examination upon embarkation should not have detected them.

This caused the officials to make an inquiry, and they say that they were told that it was believed on the steamship that aliens suffering with diseases had hired substitutes to take the necessary medical examination for them. The place where these examinations are held is some distance from the places of embarkation, and it is possible for a person to hire a substitute to pass the examination in his name, and then have his card stamped "O. K.," and with this in his possession to walk on board and trust to luck to get past the examiners at this port.

The steamship company is liable to a fine of $100 for every such afflicted passenger brought to port.

The Shoulders of man are once more rationally draped

It is said that for the last year or so, when a Frenchman passed on the streets of Paris a stranger with abnormally broad shoulders, he would shrug his own and whisper "l'Americain."

It is true that we do go to extremes in some of our modes, and the padded shoulder was nothing if not extreme.

But its day has passed.

Observe the gracefulness of our coat models for Fall. The shoulders are not narrow, but they are natural, shaping themselves to conform to the wearer's own shoulders and hugging the collar snugly—with lapels that roll softly and fronts that drape without a wrinkle.

Impartially these features are bestowed upon all of our garments, whatever the price. Our craftsmen concern themselves only with a standard which demands their best—the selling price they do not know, nor need to know.

Where We Stand on Prices and Terms

We make it so easy to own a Hardman Piano or an Autotone that there is no reason for your contenting yourself with any less worthy instrument.

Make it easy—by allowing you to pay as small a proportion of the price each month as is most convenient to you. You may pay as little as $10.00 a month if you like.

On the other hand, our prices are real prices.

Every instrument is plainly marked, and there is great satisfaction in the absolute knowledge that nobody else could have bought your piano for less than you pay for it.

We take second-hand Pianos in exchange, allowing the highest possible value for them.

On the other hand, the value we allow is real value, not a device for allowing a discount on the purchase of a new instrument.

It is because of the unchangeableness of our prices,—because of the clean-cut, substantial, satisfying way in which our business is carried on, that we are enabled to mark Hardman Pianos at prices which represent in every case much greater real value than would be possible in a business conducted as many Piano businesses unfortunately are.

Hardman Pianos are not cheap. They are, on the other hand, worth a good deal more than their prices would indicate.

GAIN IN TEN YEARS MORE THAN CAPITAL

Chicago & Northwestern, Admitting $86,000,000 Profit on $85,000,000, Asks Higher Rates.

NEEDED TO KEEP UP CREDIT

So Vice President Gardner Tells Commerce Board—Higher Labor Causes Chief Expense Increase, He Adds.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The financial returns of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad during the last ten years were brought out to-day in the rate hearing before the Inter-State Commerce Commission by attorneys for the shippers, who are fighting an increase of freight rates. The witness for the day was W. A. Gardner, Vice President in charge of operation and maintenance of the Northwestern Road.

Mr. Gardner's testimony, elicited on cross-examination by Attorney Frank Lyon for the commission, was that the company thought itself entitled to increase freight charges now, in spite of the fact that in ten years it had returned to its stockholders in direct dividends and in unappropriated surplus more than the amount of capital stock. The witness was of opinion that the increase in cost of labor, as well as restrictions put upon workmen by unions, was the largest factor in cutting down net profits.

Mr. Gardner agreed with previous witnesses that a railroad ought to be permitted to charge shippers enough to pay dividends, fixed charges, cost of operation and maintenance, and a substantial yearly surplus. He believed that this surplus should be expended in additional or improved property and draw dividends from the earnings.

"The Northwestern line will not go into bankruptcy next year, or the year after, or the one after that, unless it now raises rates," began Mr. Gardner, touching upon this subject, "but I do say that regulation by the Commission does not control the commercial conditions under which we get money, and unless we soon may get higher rates, we will, in the future, have to run out the red flag. We must be allowed a satisfactory cash surplus above everything each year as a barometer of our surety for credit."

"Would you still say you should have a right to secure that yearly surplus if you knew your road had, in ten years, paid on $85,000,000 of stock dividends amounting to $56,000,000 and had in addition an unappropriated surplus, taken from earnings, of $30,000,000 more; an amount of net return to stockholders of more than the capital stock?" asked Attorney Lyon.

"Yes, I would. I consider its need only from the standpoint of keeping up credit."

"And in the face of the showing I mentioned, you think that also is required for maintenance of credit?"

"I do," answered the vice-president.

"Did I understand you to say," inquired Attorney Lyon, in substance, "that unless in the next ten years you are permitted to clear in profit a surplus and dividends equivalent to your capital stock, you will go into bankruptcy?"

"I didn't say in ten years," answered the witness, laughing.

"What would you do with this yearly surplus?"

"I would put it back in the property," declared Mr. Gardner. "It is due either to high rates or to economical management, and belongs to the stockholders. Unless it is put into dividends, as their direct cash return, I think it ought to be put by the management into their property, so it still will go to them."

"And if it were put back into the property you would expect it to earn its share of dividend as any other part of the investment, wouldn't you?"

"Yes, I would."

Attorneys for the shippers expressed some surprise at the railroad's low estimates of the increase in revenue called for by the advances scheduled now under discussion. The Illinois Central's estimates of its gain if the rates be made effective is approximately $37,000 for next year, that of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Road, $567,130.

During a discussion it was explained by attorneys for these roads that while the present controversy hinged on proposed increases on only a few commodities the roads were endeavoring to make it a broader question that would embrace a general increase on all commodities, because of the alleged poor financial condition into which the railroads are said to be drifting.

It was decided that this broader question would be entertained, and that railroads should present testimony to this end.

Mr. Gardner's testimony in relation to the effect of labor pay increases on general maintenance made up the main part of his direct examination.

He said that this factor was the chief one in estimating probable increase in operation cost for the coming year; that in addition to the present controversy with the enginemen, which might mean an addition of $400,000 to the payroll, there was an additional payroll of $15,000,000 that had not yet come up for possible revision.

"Will you explain how you compute increased labor costs as being so important?" asked the railroad attorney, S. A. Lynde.

"Well, the freight trainmen's wages are the most important, inasmuch as while only 34 per cent. of the last year's tonnage was of freight, 75 per cent. of the salary paid trainmen was to those who handled freight.

"In addition to other increases due to short-hour laws, we now have to employ extra men to do work that regular employes used to do on their own time. For instance, it now costs us $150,000 a year for men to wipe engines, a work formerly done by enginemen. We have to hire men to put out and care for switch lights because baggage men now regard their work as too dignified to engage themselves with lanterns, and so it goes.

"When you consider that our payroll is $5,000,000 a month you can see how that influences cost of operation."

"How about cost of materials for general maintenance and operation?" was asked.

"Why, the cost fluctuates by years; I wouldn't say it was more or less than an average. Some of our material is cheaper, some more costly; some better in quality, some not so good. I would say this wasn't a material factor, however, in increased maintenance cost."

He added that death and liability claims had increased against the road yearly because of more trains, and the tonnage cost of transportation had grown chiefly because of higher wages.

Manager Takes Exception to Report of Reduction in Force.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—Alvan McCauley, General Manager of the Packard Motor Car Company, takes exception to a report that the company has recently layed off men and canceled orders for supplies. Asked for a statement, he wrote the following:

"Our business is in exceedingly healthy condition, both in orders received and paid for, and in shipments.

"August just passed was our banner month. We shipped more cars than ever in our history during the same period, and every one was paid for before it left our shipping room, not by the dealers, but by the individual dealers to whom they were consigned. We advertised in Detroit papers to-day for more men, because we are far behind our delivery dates on some styles of our cars, and customers are threatening cancellation on account of delay in delivery.

"We have on our payroll nearly, if not quite, 7,000 men, and shall add 500 more before the close of the week. We can put these to work now, as we are just moving into our new buildings, which add nine and one-half acres of floor space to our plant. Our factory is working under orders to produce this month the greatest output it is capable of."

Colorado Republicans Adopt Minority Report—Name Regular for Governor.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Sept. 21.—John B. Stephens of El Paso County was nominated for Governor by the Republican State Convention to-day, defeating Merle D. Vincent of Delta bya vote of 93 1to 36. Vincent was the advanced progressive candidate.

A majority report and two minority reports from the Committee of Resolutions brought to the convention floor the fight begun in the committee yesterday on the proposed indorsement of the initiative and referendum and the indorsement of United States Senator Simon Guggenheim. The latter was indorsed for his good work in securing public buildings for Colorado, but his Senatorial career in general was not approved, nor was he indorsed for re-election. The initiative and referendum was mildly condemned, and this action caused the two minority reports to be prepared.

The majority report emphatically approves the administration of President Taft, declaring he had introduced efficiency, economy and strict business methods into every department of the Government.

DEMOCRATS FOR REPUBLICAN

Wyoming State Includes Opponent of Republican Machine for Governor.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Sept. 21.—The Democratic State Convention to-day nominated the following ticket:

John M. Carey of Cheyenne for Governor, F. L. Houx of Cody for Secretary of State; Dr. Earl Whedon of Sheridan for Treasurer, W. B. Ross of Cheyenne for member of Congress, G. C. Forsythe of Lusk for Auditor, and pobably for Congress, and H. A. Coffeen of Sheridan for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The candidate for Governor always has been a Republican, but he is bitterly opposed to the present Republican organization of Wyoming.

MINNESOTA LOSES CASE.

Commodity Freight and 2-Cent Passenger Rate Laws Called Confiscatory.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 21.—The finding in the Minnesota commodity freight and two-cent passenger rate case, filed to-day in the United States Circuit Court, by Special Master in Chancery Charles E. Otis, holds those rates to be unconstitutional and confiscatory.

This finding, unless overruled by the higher courts, wipes out the rate-making power of the State of Minnesota through the Warehouse and Railroad Commission, and has a somewhat general effect in establishing Federal rate supervision as against State rate supervision.

The finding in the three cases was the result of suits brought a year or more ago by certain stockholders of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railways against their respective companies, the Attorney General of Minnesota, the State Warehouse and Railroad Commission, and certain shippers to enjoin them from enforcing certain rates prescribed by State authorities, namely: "Class rates," covering merchandise included in the Western classification—prescribed by order of the State Warehouse and Railroad Commission in September, 1906; "commodity rates," covering several new classes of carload freights of wheat, coarse grain, livestock, lumber, and coal, prescribed by the Legislature in 1907 and fixing the 2 cents per mile passenger fare.

Special Master Otis in his finding recommends a decision and decree in favor of the complainants on all points and finds each measure complained of in violation of the commerce clause of the Federal Constitution and also that the rates are so low as to be confiscatory and in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

It is held that the contention of the complainants' solicitors, that carriers could not obey the State law and apply State rates without being guilty of discrimination against commerce between States in violation of the Federal law is fully sustained and he recommends that the injunction be granted upon that ground.

A WET "FIVE-FOOT SHELF."

Brewers' Association Suggests a Rival for Dr. Eliot's Famous Library.

Following the example of Dr. Eliot, the United States Brewers' Association is suggesting a bookshelf on its own account, under the title "Five Feet of Information," with the explanation that it is for impartial students of the liquor problem. There are sixty-five books in the list, selected from the works of such diverse writers as President Taft, John Stuart Mill, and Holman Day.

Mr. Taft's unconscious contribution is his "Four Aspects of Civic Duty," in the Yale lectures. From this the association's pamphlet quotes this:

"Nothing is more foolish, nothing more utterly at variance with sound policy than to enact a law which, by reason of conditions surrounding the community, is incapable of enforcement."

"On Liberty" is the Mill book selected, and "Democracy and Liberty," by Lecky, is in the list. Other books of a more picturesque nature are "Taverns and Turnpikes of Blandford," by Sumner Gilbert Wood; "Inns, Ales, and Drinking Customs of Old England," by Frederick W. Hackwood, and "The Soldier's Trial, an Episode of the Canteen Crusade," by Gen. Charles King.

THREE HELD FOR LAND FRAUD

"Manorville," Lots They Sold Were in a Forest, Detectives Say.

Three arrests were made yesterday in connection with what Post Office Inspectors declare to be an extensive land fraud scheme conducted through the mails to swindle those living in the Middle West. The prisoners are Lena Cantu, who was arrested in a house at Thirty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue, and John Bauer and John B. Forster, who were taken in a house in lower Eighth Avenue. Post Office Inspector Crowell charges that they devised their scheme on April 25.

According to the complaint Forster was President of the Lyceum Realty Company, Bauer Secretary, and Miss Cantu Manager. On April 25 a letter was mailed to George Demeter at Aurora, Ill., saying that 100 choice acres were to be sold at Manorville, L. I., a tract which it said had been laid out in streets and among other improvements had on it a church, school house, and a lyceum. The Inspector declared the land in question is 62 miles from the city and is covered with scrub oak and weeds.

The Lyceum Realty Company, the Inspector said, baited its trap with a puzzle, the successful solvers having an opportunity to subscribe to the Manorville lots at $100 each.

Commissioner Gilchrist held the prisoners in $1,500 bail each for examination Oct. 5.

ROGERS UNRUFFLED IN TELLING OF BRIBES

Can't Remember at All, but Supposes $10,000 to Senator Goodsell Was a Returned Loan.

COLE CONFRONTED BY CHECK

$8,000 from Third Avenue Line for the Lobby Drawn as if Paid to a Boy Crippled by the Road.

The line of inquiry of the legislative graft investigating committee veered away yesterday from traction funds for eager legislators to the ethics of training Wall Street office boys in the art of bribery. The committee's lawyer asked G. Tracy Rogers what he thought of himself for using a junior clerk of the brokerage firm of Ellingwood & Cunningham as a dummy instrument through which to transfer large sums to law makers at Albany.

Mr. Rogers, who had smiled blandly through a long series of questions about bribe money, and had explained, often with a laugh, how the brokerage firm handled delicate accounts through the medium of a dummy clerk, was ruffled by the question about the morality of the system as it affected the dummy clerk.

"It never hurt the boy," he ejaculated with a flush of color in his cheeks.

M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel for the committee, rehearsed for the benefit of the witness the testimony previously brought out that the youthful clerk, Alexander S. Hackley, had found $10,000 checks in his mail, and invariably had been told by Rogers to credit them to his account and then forget about them.

"Is that the kind of an atmosphere you think is healthy for a young boy starting out in business?" Mr. Bruce asked with emphasis. "Would you like a boy of yours brought up in such an atmosphere? Will you say you think it did this boy any good?"

The lobbyist sat silent. When he again found his voice he was laughing over the sums that found their way in his care to Senators Goodsell and Raines, and Assemblymen Bedell and Malby, now Congressman Malby, and others.

The day was one in which the habit of forgetfulness, which has been a common trouble with the traction witnesses, reached a climax in an open rupture with the committee. H. H. Vreeland, the former President of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company; W. W. Cole, former Treasurer of the Street Railway Association, and Mr. Rogers, the secret partner of Ellingwood & Cunningham, forgot so successfully and so often that Mr. Bruce appealed to the committee Chairman to make the gentlemen remember. He made his appeal after he had totally failed to refresh the memory of Mr. Cole with documentary evidence that he had drawn $8,000 from the Third Avenue Line of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company as "attorney" for an alleged plaintiff in a damage suit. Mr. Bruce sought to show that the $8,000 transaction was really the source of funds for legislators and that the record of a damage suit, with a fictitious plaintiff, had been prepared to keep any mention of the matter off the books.

The client mentioned, who was pictured as having fallen off the rear platform of Car No. 247 at Ninety-ninth Street and Third Avenue on the morning of May 1, 1902, Mr. Cole could not recollect at all.

"That's your handwriting on the back of the voucher, acknowledging receipt of the money as attorney for Charles Lankeman, isn't it?" asked Mr. Bruce.

Mr. Cole admitted that it was, and that he deposited the money with the bank in which he kept the Street Railway Association's funds, with other sums received from dues and special political assessments.

"Why did you sign as an attorney when you were not an attorney?" asked Mr. Bruce.

"It is possible—" the witness began, when Mr. Bruce interrupted.

Insists on Direct Answers.

"Mr. Chairman," he said, addressing Assemblyman Merritt, "I am not going to have any more possibles about this. I have given the absolute documentary proofs of this transaction, and I want an explanation. Mr. Chairman, I am going to insist upon its being given. The witness had no right to come before this committee and have the documentary proofs put before him and then hide behind 'I don't know.'"

Q.—Now, Mr. Cole, your explanation. A.—It is possible——

Q.—Enough of your possibles. Give me a fact. A.—In a great many instances——

Q.—But I do not want a great many instances. I want this instance. A.—I shall have to take time to refresh my memory.

Q.—Then take it. We can wait. I think I have thoroughly refreshed your recollection. I have shown you the check, and I have shown you the voucher, and the receipts. A.—I absolutely do not remember the case in any way.

Q.—I presume you do not, but I refreshed your recollection in regard to it. Read it. There is the whole case, study into it. Learn about it. A.—Well, there were some cases——

Q.—I do not want some cases. Tell me about this case. A.—I cannot at this time.

Q.—Will you return at 2 o'clock, please, and spend the intervening time reviving your recollections?

Mr. Cole proved himself fully as weak in memory when he returned at 2 o'clock and he was allowed a further period of contemplation until this morning.

C. Tracy Rogers proved, both while on the stand and before taking it, that he was among old acquaintances. He fraternized with the committee and called some of them by their first names. Most of his testimony was accompanied by complacent smiles.

"Why," he declared in one burst of confidence, "I don't think I ever gave a dollar to any legislator in my life to use on himself. It was all for politics."

Mr. Rogers was asked when he first heard of Transportation stock, and he said it was when Senator Goodsell passed a tip to him that it was a good stock to buy. He denied all knowledge of the fact that Senator Goodsell at the time was fathering a bill to expand the franchise rights of the New York Transportation Company.

Q.—Do you know whom the tip to buy Transportation came from originally? A.—From Speaker Nixon, I think.

Q.—On March 28, 1900, the day before the bill passed, Mr. Nixon bought 400 shares of Transportation. On April 9 Nixon bought 400 more shares, and the day after—the day the bill was signed—he bought 200 more, making his holdings 1,000 shares in all. Do you know anything about that? A.—I want to help you all I can. I think Mr. Nixon and I were together in that.

Q.—You sent Mr. Nixon a telegram: "It is imperative that nothing be done until as late as possible next week." That was a warning, wasn't it, to hold the bill as late as possible toward the end of the session? A.—It might have been my telegram. I won't deny it, but I don't remember it, not a bit.

Little Deals for Legislators.

Mr. Bruce read to the witness a list of Transportation purchases he had made for legislators. There were 500 shares for Assemblyman Bedell bought with money supplied by H. H. Vreeland, 800 shares for Senator Raines, 200 shares for Dan Baxter, clerk of the Senate, and 100 shares for Senator Allds. Mr. Rogers could not remember buying a single share of the stock or why the legislators asked him to get it for them.

The witness maintained that $4,000 given Nixon was really for Nixon's County Committee.

Q.—Why all the indirection—why didn't you deal with the committee's treasurer if you wanted to contribute to politics? A.—Because I would give it to Nixon. That would be the easiest way.

Q.—I show you Check Stub 24,256, Oct. 24, 1900, marked "S. Fred Nixon, $1,000 account G. Tracy Rogers." That makes $5,000 you sent him? A.—Yes, but part was for margins and part contribution.

For other sums paid Senator Goodsell amounting to $10,000 the witness advanced the theory that it might have been for money loaned to him by the Senator. He didn't think it odd at all that his friend, the Railroad Committee Chairman should have loaned him $10,000 in a purely personal way without taking any memorandum of it. He also thought it was perfectly proper that the Transportation stock held by the legislators should find a market at 14 when it was selling at 4 in the Street.

A letter from Ellingwood & Cunningham to the Senate Committee Clerk, A. E. Baxter, was read assuring him that "the present complications arise because of the anxiety of our mutual friend, G. Tracy Rogers, to play safe with you." The letter dealt with stocks being held for Baxter. Mr. Rogers had forgotten what "playing safe" meant, and also why certain "political contributions" had come in out of season. They were "tardy" contributions, he explained.

Another to C. Loomis Allen, the General Manager of the Mohawk Valley Railroad, read:

My Dear Allen: I return your confidential letter inclosed, and am surprised at the condition the Cassidy bill has got into, for I certainly have been assured by the leading men of the district that if a donation was made to the party about which I have already spoken to you, the bill would be put through.

Mr. Cole, the former Railway Association Treasurer, explained that the leaders referred to were J. Sloat Fassett and Senator Cassidy.

H. H. Vreeland, recalled for his third appearance before the committee, stated that all the Metropolitan Street Railway contributions to politics were made in cash. The contribution of $20,000 to the Republicans made in 1903, he said, was turned over to Lemuel E. Quigg, a professional "accelerator" of legislation.

The sessions of the committee will be resumed to-day.

Women's Suits and Dresses On Which You Will Save Money, Besides Getting Distinctive Styles
Adams Building—Second Floor.

It is nothing to be able to pick up a suit for $20.50—there's no trick in being able to sell such a suit; it is done by every store in the United States, probably.

But it is definitely to your advantage to get the styles that a custom tailor would give you—the cut, the excellent tailoring, and to get it for less than anybody else will sell it for.

Tailored Suits, $20.50

Here is a woman's tailored suit made of winter weight serge and a mannish mixture in one of the latest models. The coat is lined with silk serge or soft satin, the skirt is a smart, well-cut, stunning skirt; the colors are black, navy blue, brown, raisin and black-and-white—we should say that $25 elsewhere would be a fair price for such suits; our price is $20.50.

Walking Dresses at $13.50

We have walking dresses of serge, well made, trimmed prettily with satin flounce—one style with a satin, the other with a deep flounce of the material.

We should consider them very cheap if you could buy them retail at $18.50, and we think you will find them very remarkable at $13.50, which is our price for them.

Dry Goods Greenhut & Co Wearing Apparel

Women's Fall Suits of Cheviot Special at $19.75

We call it a $29.50 suit—that is based on our own regular price, but there's many a store with a Fifth Avenue front that would ask more than that—yes, some would ask $35.

We consider it such an achievement that we feel warranted in saying that you have never seen such a suit—nothing nearly as good in style, material, tailoring or value—at

You know what Lymansville cheviot is—you know what Skinner's guaranteed-for-two-seasons' lining satin is—you know what first-class workmanship is—you know what a ladies' tailor would charge for making such a suit. Therefore you know what a really remarkable offering this is.

And yet we cannot tell you half so much as you can yourself tell by seeing the suit, so we urge you to come today and get your own evidence of what a Greenhut $19.75 Tailored Suit is.

The Suit Briefly Described.

Coat 32 inches long, with notch collar and turn back cuffs. Artistically trimmed around bottom with silk hercules braid, soutache loops and silk-covered buttons. The skirt is a very late model, close fitting top; plaited in side panels at bottom with bands of self material; finished with soutache, loops and buttons.

Talks on Teeth
BY
G. GORDON MARTIN
(INCORPORATED)

The knowledge which is based on practical experience is indisputable. What a man knows he knows. There is nothing questionable about that sort of evidence.

When we have put teeth in a man's mouth and they are as firm and solid and he can use them with as much satisfaction and comfort as he could if all his teeth were natural and in good condition, teeth he has lost because neither he nor his dentist knew of our method of supplying teeth without the aid of plates, that man when called upon is going to make a good witness for our side.

Here is a letter we are particularly proud of, and, being written by Col. Dana A. Rose, will interest and convince you:

G. Gordon Martin (Inc.),
320 Fifth Ave.,
New York City.

Gentlemen:

In the Spring of 1908 I came to you with less teeth than the average American hen, but I did happen to have one or two old snags on either jaw, which your skilled men used to advantage, and to-day I cannot tell whether I have lost any teeth or not. My mouth is perfect and my teeth perfection. The only trouble I find is that my butcher bills grow larger, and I think you should have a commission from all shops in your vicinity. I do so enjoy sitting down at table and be able to eat anything that is brought on. If people would only realize your great system regarding teeth they could all enjoy, as I do now, a good square meal.

DANA A. ROSE,
No. 1 West 83d St., City.

Such letters as this must impress you. You know it is authentic, or we could not publish it, and you know we could not "fool" Col. Rose into believing our work was superior if it was not so.

We invite you to call at our office for a free consultation and examination of your mouth and let us explain what we can do for you.

If you cannot call at once, send for our book,

"Martinolar Dentistry."

It is sent free on request.

The reading of this book has brought us patients from everywhere.

FIRST MRS. CHANLER NOW BEGINS SUIT

Divorced Wife Attacks the Ante-Nuptial Agreement with Cavalieri as Fraudulent.

WOULD CHEAT HER, SHE SAYS

Believes It Was Brought About While Her Ex-Husband "Was in a Suggestible Mental State."

Mrs. Julia Chamberlain Chanler, the first wife of Robert Winthrop Chanler, who divorced him in Paris in August, 1907, took the first legal steps yesterday to overthrow Mme. Cavalieri's claims to Chanler's estate. The fight to recover for him his property, deeded away in the now famous ante-nuptial agreement between him and Mme. Cavalieri, will be made through his first wife's suit. The first Mrs. Chanler cabled her permission for the bringing of the suit on Tuesday.

The first Mrs. Chanler's complaint is verified by Fred N. Watriss of Alexander, Watriss & Polk, who says that he takes this action because Mrs. Chanler is out of the State. The complaint outlines the main line of attack which Mme Cavalieri must meet if she is to preserve the hold she got on Chanler's property by filing the ante-nuptial transfer with Register Grifenhagen a few days ago. A lis pendens filed yesterday in connection with the suit will prevent Mme. Cavalieri from disposing of the real estate until the litigation brought by the first Mrs. Chanler is decided.

The inchoate right of dower which the first Mrs. Chanler contends that she still has in the estate of her divorced husband is urged as one of the reasons why he could make no such transfer to Mme. Cavalieri as he attempted to do in the ante-nuptial agreement. The first Mrs. Chanler also charges that the transaction, so far as it is effective, is a fraud on her and her children because it takes out of Chanler's power the means to pay her an income of $10,000 a year and her two daughters by Chanler $5,000 a year each as he agreed to do before she obtained judgment for divorce against him.

The first Mrs. Chanler also alleges that "she is informed and believes that the defendant, Robert W. Chanler, at the time of the execution of said indenture was in a suggestible mental state, that he was susceptible or liable to be easily influenced and deceived and that the said defendant Natalina Cavalieri Chanler, knowing of his condition and taking advantage thereof, contrived by misrepresentation, specious inducements, and undue influence to persuade him to execute the said indenture.

Defendants in the Suit.

The action is directed not only against Chanler and Mme. Cavalieri, but against the trustees of the different properties in which Chanler had an interest. These trustees are his brothers, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler and Winthrop Chanler, the Union Trust Company, and the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company.

In her complaint, Mrs. Julia Chamberlain Chanler asserts that she was married to Chanler on April 12, 1893, in London and on November 24, 1898, bore him a daughter, Julia, and on March 25, 1905, bore him another daughter, Dorothy, both of whom are still alive. She got a divorce in the Court of First Instance, Department of the Seine, France, on August 7, 1907.

On April 17, 1907, prior to this divorce, Mrs. Chanler asserts, she and her husband entered into a written agreement for the future support of herself and her daughters. This agreement provided that he should pay her $10,000 a year and give $5,000 each for the support of their children. The agreement contained the specification that it should be made a part of any judgment of divorce and should be in place of any allowance by the court. It was made a part of the judgment in accordance with this provision, Mrs. Chanler asserts.

At that time she says on information and belief and up to Sept. 16, 1910, when Mme. Cavalieri through her lawyers filed the ante-nuptial agreement, Chanler was possessed of an undivided one-eighth interest in the following New York City real estate: 793 to 797 Eleventh Avenue, 830 to 840 Ninth Avenue, 360 to 372 and various unnumbered vacant lots in West Fifty-fifth Street, 831 to 839 Tenth Avenue, 503 to 511 West Fifty-fifth Street.

Mrs. Chanler complains that on May 31, 1910, Chanler executed and delivered to Natalina Cavalieri Chanler, then Natalina Cavalieri, an indenture in consideration of an intended marriage and $1 by which he conveyed this same property and all his other realty, forming a part of his share in the estate of the late Mrs. Laura Delano, in which she, the first Mrs. Chanler, still possesses an inchoate right of dower, to Natalina Cavalieri.

Ante-Nuptial Agreement.

Mrs. Chanler also complains of that part of the ante-nuptial agreement which she says "assumes" to appoint Mme. Cavalieri her former husband's attorney in fact to collect rents and incomes from which she is to take and keep $20,000 a year.

By reason of this agreement, Mrs. Chanler's complaint says, although she does not know the amount of her former husband's income, she is advised and believes that by this intended agreement he has put it out of his power to carry out the agreement made before his divorce and that, therefore, she and her children "may be deprived of the means of livlihood and the moneys necessary for their support."

The equitable relief demanded by the first Mrs. Chanler is:

That it be adjudged that the execution of the said indenture was obtained by the defendant, Natalina Cavalieri Chanler, by fraud and undue influence and that the execution of the same was not the free act and deed of the said Robert W. Chanler, and that it was and is void;

That the said purported conveyance or ante-nuptial agreement be adjudged to be in fraud of the rights of the plaintiff and the children of the said Robert W. Chanler, and therefore void, and that it be brought into court and delivered up to be canceled, and that the record thereof in the office of the Register of the County of New York be canceled;

That the defendants the Union Trust Company, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, Winthrop Chanler, and the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company pay to the plaintiff the sums prescribed in the agreement of April, 1907, and the subsequent judgment of divorce before making any other disposition of the income of the estate of Robert W. Chanler;

That the said defendant, Natalina Cavalieri Chanler, be enjoined and forbidden from disposing of the said real property pending the settlement of this action, and that a receiver be appointed to take hold of and preserve the said real property and to receive the income to which the defendant Robert W. Chanler is entitled during the pendence of the action and pay thereout to this plaintiff the sums to which she is entitled as aforesaid;

That the defendant, Natalina Cavalieri Chanler, be required to account for any rents or other income which she has or shall have received by virtue of said indenture;

That the plaintiff shall have such further and other judgment or relief as shall be just and equitable in the premises.

Mrs. Chanler asks for costs only against her former husband and his present wife.

FIND NEWPORT TOO HIGH.

Naval Officers There Favor Removal of Naval War College to Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 21.—The suggestion that the Naval War College should be removed from Narragansett Bay to Washington receives support from complaints of officers of lack of hotel accommodations and the high cost of living in Newport. Many naval officers are quite outspoken against the college being retained here.

These officers share also the strong feeling of the Navy Department that, with a continuous course instead of a Summer course and the college in Washington a larger attendance of officers would be secured and better results obtained for the service.

FIND RUNAWAY GIRLS IN INDIAN'S "TEPEE"

May Brown and Mabel Roberts Traced to the Home of "Big Chief Elmonico."

GAY GATHERING IN COURT

Girls Were to be Trained as Snake Charmers and Assistant Nurses to Little "Young Owl."

Capt. Price of the Bronx Detective Bureau lined up before Magistrate House in the Morrisania Court yesterday afternoon a gay and diversified aggregation of prisoners and witnesses. Among the prisoners was "Big Chief Elmonico," who says he is famous among the Sioux Indians; William App, who prefers to be called "Happy" App, the boy scout; "Gus" Wolf, a plain boy, not of the scouts, and Barney Mishkind, whose nickname among the Indians is "Michigander."

The gathering listed as witnesses included an Indian squaw calling herself "Bluebird," the latter's eleven-year-old daughter, who rejoices in the title of "Sunflower," and May Brown, who was the cause of the crowd being haled to court. Also in court as lookers on were Red Feather, son of Flatiron, the Sioux warrior, and "Young Owl," the eight-months-old papoose of Mrs. Bluebird.

Mrs. Margaret Brown of 1,371 Washington Avenue, the Bronx, sent her seventeen-year-old daughter May around the corner on Monday night to buy a newspaper, and the girl failed to return. As the hours passed Mrs. Brown became alarmed, and finally went to Capt. Price, and told him of her fears. He soon had some of his men detailed to hunt for the missing girl. They searched moving-picture shows, hospitals, and even the morgues.

Capt. Price went to see Mrs. Brown on Tuesday night, and learned that the girl could speak two or three words in the language of the Sioux; that she had read much about Indians, and had a decided predilection for Indian beads and moccasins.

"That gave me my cue," said Capt. Price yesterday, "and I began to look around for Indian shows. I heard there was one or two at Coney Island, and sent my men down there, but the missing girl was not among the ones domiciled there."

Capt. Price heard yesterday that there was a troupe of Indians exhibiting at moving-picture houses in the Bronx, and that the head Indian of the troupe, known as Elmonico, with his squaw and papooses, lived on the second floor of a frame shanty in Third Avenue, not far from 100th Street. He calls it his "tepee."

Capt. Price had hardly verified this information when a man brought him the information that May Brown and Elmonico had been seen walking together in Third Avenue in the morning. He ordered his men to hurry to Elmonico's lodging place. They did so, and found not only May Brown, but a group of other youngsters who wanted to be Indians.

The Elmonico home is of three rooms, and everywhere are beads, moccasins, Indian baskets, blankets, feathers, and gaudy headgear. On an improvised couch "Young Owl," the papoose, kicked and cooed. Mrs. Bluebird, wife of Elmonico, was in the kitchen, and in the front room, that is close to the elevated, were Elmonico, Red Feather, the Son of Flatiron; "Happy" App, Michigander, "Gus" Wolf, May Brown, Mabel Roberts of Jersey City, little Sunflower, and a white rabbit that was skipping about the room for the edification of the Sunflower.

The detectives took everybody in charge except Mrs. Bluebird, the Sunflower, Young Owl, and Mabel Roberts, and the big son of Flatiron, the warrior. "Gus" Wolf, according to Capt. Price, was the lad who had painted Indian life in glowing colors to May Brown, and he was taken to the Bronx Detective Headquarters as the principal, while the rest of the prisoners were held as having aided and abetted in luring the girl from home.

Elmonico, who is a graduate of an Indian college, and as small as Red Feather is big, told Capt. Price two or three stories about the guests found in his house. He said that Miss Brown came there of her own accord, and so did Miss Roberts. The latter, Capt. Price said, had run away from her home in New York Avenue, Jersey City. He allowed the Roberts girl to remain, Elmonico said, so that she could teach Sunflower the English language, and assist in caring for "Young Owl."

The girls had a great future, according to the Big Chief. They were to have been trained as snake charmers, with "Happy" App as stage partner. After they had learned how to tame snakes they were to accompany Elmonico and the rest of the troupe to England. Michigander was to have been salesman of the brand of snake oil that bears the Big Chief's name.

When the prisoners were arraigned no evidence was brought out showing that the Indians had enticed any of the youngsters found in their apartment from their homes, and in the absence of such evidence Magistrate House discharged all hands. May Brown went home with her mother, Mabel Roberts returned to Jersey City with a cousin, while Michigander, "Happy" App, and "Gus" Wolf escorted the Big Chief, Mrs. Bluebird, Miss Sunflower, and little "Young Owl" back to the dingy apartment in Third Avenue.

Most of Crane Estate to His Son.

William N. Crane, who died a week ago yesterday at 16 East Thirty-seventh Street, left $125,000 besides his town house, his country residence at Tarrytown, and his residuary estate to his son, William M. Crane of Richmond, Mass., in a will filed yesterday for probate. He left $10,000 to his sister, Eleanor C. Hollister, $3,000 to the widow of his brother, Edward P. Crane; $30,000 to a dozen nephews and nieces, and $5,000 each to his stepson and daughter.

Baron Mitsui to Meet Roosevelt.

Baron H. Mitsui of Japan will be the guest of honor at a luncheon given today by Consul General Midzuno at the Lawyers' Club. Col Roosevelt is expected to attend. The other guests will include prominent Japanese residents and bankers. Baron Mitsui spent the greater part of yesterday in the financial district. Last night the Baroness entertained friends at the Plaza.

CUSTOMS TRIAL NEAR AN END

Case Against Weighers Will Go to the Federal Judy To-day.

The defence closed its case yesterday in the trial before Judge Martin of the United States Circuit Court of Charles H. Wardell, George E. Bedell and Charles D. Drew, who are accused of a conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with th ehimportation of sugar figs and cheese at less than their true weights. Wardell and Drew are former assistant eighters of the customs service and Bedell used to be chief clerk under Deputy Surveyor James E. Vail when that individual was head of the weighing division of the Custom House.

Wardell denied he ever had received any money from any one for underweighing or other customs improprieties, and his counsel put in evidence a letter he had written to James S. Clarkson surveyor of the part and to Mr. Vail in 1903 that the hand trucks originally supplied on the Arbuckle docks for the weighing of sugar had been taken away and others substituted. In this letter Wardell asked that others of standard weight be provided.

After brief cross examination by Henry L. Stimson, the Federal special prosecutor, the defence rested and in rebuttal, John W. MacMahon, dock superintendent for the National Sugar Refinery in Yonkers testifies that he had paid Wardell $15 a month while the latter was in charge of that division of the weighing. James Hyland, a former United States assistant weigher told of having divided money with Drew.

Concluding arguments will be made today and the case will go to the jury.

MARK FIRST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Tablets to be Erected in Two Churches —Work Started in 1810.

A bronze tablet will be unveiled next Sunday morning in the Church of the Covenant, in West Thirty-third Street, to commemorate the founding of the world's first Sunday school 100 years ago by Joseph W. Griffiths and Charles G. Somers.

The school was opened on July 10, 1810. Griffiths and Somers were members of the old Mulberry Street Baptist Church, and had been members of a group of young church folk whom the Rev. Archibald Maclay, pastor of the church, had been instructing in the Bible at his home.

The young men bought some Prayer Books and hymnals, and in a room at 88 Division Street, which was used on week days as a store, they began teaching 142 boys and girls each Sunday. Thus the Sunday school movement, not only in this country, but throughout the world, was started.

Somers afterward went into the ministry and became pastor of the Church of the Covenant. For this reason the tablet will be affixed to this particular church next Sunday evening. The old Mulberry Street Church moved uptown, and has become the Second Avenue Baptist Church. So a econd tablet to Griffiths and Somers will be unveiled there on Monday evening with an appropriate service. Both tablets bear the names of Griffiths and Somers, and the date on which they began their work at 88 Division Street. The room in which they started the first Sunday school now is a saloon.

CRIPPEN AND WOMAN HELD BY MAGISTRATE

Doctor Committed as Principal in Murder, Miss Leneve as an Accessory After the Fact.

CROWD OF WOMEN HOOTS HER

Solicitor for the Two Prisoners Says That He Will Reserve His Defense Until the Trial.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Ethel Clara Leneve were to-day committed for trial on the charge of the murder of Crippen's wife, Cora Belle Crippen, the American actress, who was known on the stage as Belle Elmore.

The doctor is charged as the principal and his companion as an accessory after the fact.

For some time the Magistrate in the Bow Street Police Court has been hearing the evidence offered by the Crown. At the conclusion of these preliminary proceedings to-day he announced that he would hold Crippen on the capital charge, and, without expressing an opinion on the evidence against Miss Leneve, added that he felt it was sufficient for him to commit her for trial as an accessory after the fact.

When the prosecution had concluded to-day the Magistrate proposed to set aside another day upon which Arthur Newton, the solicitor, who is representing both the accused, might make any statement he wished on behalf of the defense. Mr. Newton, however, after saying a few words in favor of Miss Leneve, who, he contended, had not been proved guilty, said he would reserve his defense until the trial.

The inquest into the death of the person of whose body parts were unearthed in the cellar of the Crippen home in Hilldrop Crescent has not been concluded, and another session of the Coroner's court will be held next Monday. The Crown had attempted to show that the parts found were of the body of Belle Elmore, but its medical experts have not been able to swear positively regarding the sex of the victim.

At last Monday's session of the inquest Emily Jackson, at whose home Miss Leneve lodged up to March 12, recited a conversation which she said she had with her lodger and which indicated that the girl expected to marry Dr. Crippen after his wife had left him. This testimony appears to have robbed the accused girl of some of the sympathy which she had heretofore enjoyed and was the cause of a hostile demonstration when she arrived at the Bow Street court to-day. The cab in which she was taken to the court was followed by a crowd of hooting women, and their taunts were echoed by the unusually large throng that had gathered in the vicinity of the court. Miss Leneve held an open umbrella before her face, and was fairly successful in escaping observation as she entered the building.

Inspector Dew to-day identified the suit of boy's clothing which William Long swore he had purchased at Crippen's request as the suit worn by Miss Leneve at the time of her arrest. Mrs. Jackson repeated the evidence which she had given before the Coroner's jury.

The financial affairs of the Crippens were gone into in connection with the prosecutor's opening assertion that the doctor at the time of Belle Elmore's disappearance was pressed for funds, and that the death of the woman was to the monetary advantage of the husband.

The manager of a bank testified that Mrs. Crippen notified the institution on Dec. 15, 1909, of the withdrawal of a joint account which she and Crippen had kept there.

Miss Merion Curmew, an employe of the Munyon firm, who succeeded Crippen in the management of the local office, testified that the poison, which is said to have been purchased by the doctor, and traces of which were found in the mutilated body, was not used by the company. She added, however, that Crippen frequently bought drugs for his own preparations.

The witness said that in February, when Crippen told her that his wife had gone to America and had died there, she cashed for him several checks, one for $500. She last saw the doctor on July 9, when she gave him the money on a check for $185. This was just before he disappeared, and at the time he said to the witness:

"If any one inquires for me, you are to know nothing. Say nothing."

Before this Crippen had left several packages with the witness, saying: "If anything happens to me give these to Miss Leneve."

When Crippen left the employ of the medicine company he formed a partnership with Gilbert M. Rylance, under the firm name of Crippen & Rylance, for the manufacture of artificial teeth. Rylance was called by the Crown to-day and after telling of his business relations with the doctor, testified that Crippen after telling him the story of Belle Elmore's death, added that he had married Miss Leneve. Later Inspector Dew called at the dental establishment in the course of his investigation of Belle Elmore's disappearance, and shortly afterward Crippen left a note for his partner in which he said: "In order to escape trouble I shall be obliged to absent myself for a time."

Following the introduction of this evidence, Mr. Humphreys of the Public Prosecutor's office announced that he had no further testimony to offer and, Mr. Newton choosing to defer his defense, the Court committed both prisoners for trial.

DISAPPOINTED BY DICKINSON.

Chinese Wanted Secretary to Discuss Affairs of Their Country.

PEKING, Sept. 21.—Officials of the Chinese Foreign Board gave a banquet to-night in honor of Jacob M. Dickinson, the American Secretary of War. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards and other members of Mr. Dickinson's party; W. J. Calhoun, the American Minister to China, and the staff of the American Legation were present.

In responding to an address of welcome Mr. Dickinson said that the United States could look only with gratification upon the strides which China was making in the development of her commerce, in strengthening her people, and in the maintenance of her national integrity.

Some of the prominent Chinese present evinced disappointment that the Secretary did not make stronger utterances concerning Chinese affairs. He did not mention Manchuria.

Mr. Dickinson was received in audience by the Prince Regent to-day and presented to him a letter from President Taft. The message was simply one of cordial greeting and expressions of satisfaction at the continued friendship between the two countries.

TO COMBAT UNEMPLOYMENT.

Conference in Paris Decides to Form an International Association.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The International Conference on Unemployment to-day decided upon the formation of an international association for the purpose of co-ordinating the efforts being made in different countries to combat unemployment through the establishment of separate national organizations.

Prof. E. T. Devine of Columbia University, Prof. Henry W. Farnam of Yale University, and I. N. Frankels of New York were chosen as members of the permanent international committee.

Ex-Premier Bourgeois in closing the congress especially commended the attitude of the labor representatives participating and said that the opening of the whole question of unemployment would lead to a better understanding between employers and employes.

LITTLE PRINCES ARE BRIGHT.

Persians Sent to America to be Educated Prove Apt Scholars.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Sent to this country by the Persian Government to receive an American education, three little Persian princes have been enrolled as pupils in the Henry D. Cooke public school of this city. They are Serf Eddin Khan, aged 12; Mozaffer Eddin Khan, aged 15, and Mohamed Ameen Khan, aged 16. Serf and Mozaffer are brothers, and Mohamed is their cousin.

The boys are living with the Secretary of the Persian legation. Though none of them spoke a word of English until yesterday their teachers report that they show remarkable alertness of mind, and that they give promise of making rapid progress through the primary grades.

REFUSED A RUSSIAN FAVOR.

Ambassador Straus Declined the Privilege of a Passport.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that Oscar S. Straus, the American Ambassador to Turkey, abandoned a proposed visit to Russia because he refused to accept the privilege of a passport from the Russian Government.

Mr. Straus left Constantinople on Sept. 3 for a holiday in the United States.

At an earlier date dispatches from St. Petersburg stated that the Russian Ministry of the Interior had published an order permitting the Ambassador, who is an adherent of the Jewish faith, to visit the Russian capital.

TWO LORD MAYORS COMING.

Other Distinguished Irishmen in Mission on Behalf of Queenstown.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 21.—A distinguished delegation of Irishmen embarked on the Oceanic to-day for New York. Their mission is to interview officials at Washington on the question of inducing the Cunard Line to continue Queenstown as a port of call for its larger mail steamers. While he was in this country recently, Frank H. Hitchcock, the American Postmaster General, promised to receive the deputation.

The delegation includes the Lord Mayors of Dublin and Cork, the Presidents of the Chambers of Commerce of Dublin and Belfast, the Town Clerk of Queenstown, and Sir James Long.

ANOTHER PORTUGUESE PLOT.

Its Discovery Followed by the Seizure of a Bomb Factory.

LISBON, Sept. 21, (via the frontier.)—The seizure of a bomb factory yesterday followed the discovery of a widespread anti-monarchical plot, with secret ramifications throughout Portugal.

The Imparçial, an official organ, serves notice on the conspirators that although it is Liberal, the Government is prepared to crush mercilessly any revolt.

Some of the Jesuits having returned to the monastery of Aldea Ponte after having been expelled from the country, the Government ordered that they be conducted again to the frontier.

According to the newspapers the returning monks broke down the doors of the monastery after the place had been closed.

FRENCH ANGRY WITH TURKEY

Foreign Office Accuses Her of Blackmail in Loan Negotiations.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The French press is showing great indignation at the prospect of the placing of a Turkish loan of $30,000,000 with an English group of financiers headed by Sir Ernest Cassel, after the French Government had intervened to prevent its flotation in France because it considered the guarantees insufficient, and because Turkey had refused to give certain diplomatic guarantees regarding French rule in Tunis and Algeria.

The papers charge that the acceptance of the loan by the Cassel group will foster German desires in Turkey.

The Foreign Office has authorized the statement that the French Government regards Turkey's attitude as little short of blackmail.

LATEST RUSSIAN BOMB PLOT.

Factory Found at Briansk—42 Arrests in Moscow and Elsewhere.

MOSCOW, Sept. 8.—Two bombs were seized here this week in connection with the arrest of twelve Anarchist-Communists.

Ramifications of the Terrorist body were traced to several neighboring cities, where thirty other suspects have been arrested. Their bomb manufactory at Briansk was discovered, and the authorities confiscated editions of Anarchist newspapers, and of a periodical called The Stormy Petrel.

The object of the Terrorist plot has not been disclosed.

PLOT AGAINST LIFE OF JAPAN'S EMPEROR

First Such Conspiracy in the 2,500 Years of the Country's History.

TRAITORS CAUGHT; TO DIE

News Was Kept Secret Until Yesterday and Has Created a Sensation in Tokio.

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—A sensation was created by the publication this afternoon of the alleged details of a plot among some of his own subjects to assassinate Emperor Mutsuhito.

The startling story appeared in the Hochi Shimbun, which states that the plotters, who are now under arrest, will certainly be sentenced to death after trials before a special secret court.

This is the first time in the history of the country that the life of the sovereign has been plotted against by his own people and the fact has been known.

It is understood that a most rigorous censorship prevented the publication of so much as a hint of the conspiracy until this evening, when the Hochi Shimbun assumed responsibility for the alarming announcement.

The paper's assertions have apparent authority. There are now in jail in this city a number of persons who are alleged to be active in the "Allied Socialist" movement, and those who may be considered responsible state, as does the Hochi, that the arrests followed the discovery of a conspiracy against the throne.

According to the paper the assassins planned to accomplish their end while the Emperor was visiting the Military School just outside the capital.

The plot was discovered in time to protect his Majesty and the plotters were seized at once.

In all the 2,500-year-old history of Japan, so it is declared with pride by Japanese historians, the reverence of the people for their sovereign has been such that there has never been a plot against the life of an Emperor.

The Japanese regard the Mikado in a manner which, to an Occidental, is impossible of appreciation. He is looked upon literally as a god, as the state personified, as containing in his person all the "virtue" of the nation. At various times in the course of the war between Russia and Japan, Japanese commanders, in reporting victories, placed the credit for them on the "virtues of the Emperor." Admiral Togo used this expression in announcing his great victory in the battle of the Sea of Japan, and it caused a good deal of curious comment in Europe and America.

Within the last few months there have been various indications that some of the Japanese are abandoning their ancient attitude toward the Mikado and are becoming imbued with Socialistic and Anarchistic ideas. In July it was reported that a band of Anarchists in Tokio had been manufacturing bombs. It was added that every known member of the band had been arrested, and that, to the amazement of the authorities, when the prisoners were examined they continued to declare their disbelief in rulers and government. It was reported that the leaders were to be sent to prison for life.

MACMASTER EXONERATED

Vice Consul at Cartagena Finally Prevails Over His Accusers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—American Vice Consul W. B. MacMaster, at Cartagena, Colombia, whose arrest was sought some time ago on a charge of shooting a native who had attacked him, has finally prevailed over his accusers.

After he had been originally acquitted in an inferior court, Mr. MacMaster's case was unexpectedly reopened, there was a summary proceeding in another court, and the Vice Consul was adjudged guilty.

The State Department intervened actively at this point, the matter was taken to a Superior Court, and now Mr. Frazier, the American Chargé at Bogota, reports that the trial Judge, after reviewing the evidence in the case, reaffirms the exoneration of the Vice Consul and finds against his accusers.

NORMAL COLLEGE OPENS.

Has the Largest Freshman Class in Its History—Teaching Staff Increased.

The Normal College, which is the women's college in the city's public education system, began its forty-first session yesterday with the largest freshman class in its history. The chief feature of the opening exercises was the address of President Davis.

The registration, he said, so far shows that 848 students have entered the freshman class. Of these, only about 125 have come from the High School department of the college. This large proportion coming from outside sources seemed to indicate, he said, that the people of all the boroughs of the city have come to a stronger appreciation of the function of the college in the life of the city school system, and appreciate more than ever the advantages of higher education offered now to women. Altogether the total register of the college shows 1,100 students.

Referring to the increasing numbers who elect to take their college work in four years, rather than in three or three and a half, the President stated that within a few years the longer standard time would be required of all students unless evidence of special ability existed.

The college staff has been strengthened this year by the appointment of Dr. Margaret B. Wilson as Professor of Physiology and Hygiene and the return of Dr. Carl F. Kayser, Professor of the German Language and Literature, from his year's residence at the University of Heidelberg. Further changes include the addition of Miss Smith and Miss Bradbury to the English department and of Charles T. Kirk, formerly of the United States Geological Survey Board, to the Department of Natural Sciences.

Cholera Increases in Italy.

ROME, Sept. 21.—The cholera epidemic showed an increase in the last twenty-four hours in Southeastern Italy, ten new cases and eight deaths being reported.

BRITISH AVIATOR FLIES AT MINEOLA

MISS CHASE HIS PASSENGER

Flight Over Grand Stand of Queens-Nassau Fair Stirs the Throng—He Discusses Risks.

Special to The New York Times.

HEMPSTEAD PLAINS, L. I., Sept. 21.—Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, visited the field here this afternoon. He made two trips aloft in the rebuilt Farman biplane belonging to Clifford B. Harmon, with which the latter crossed Long Island Sound. His first flight was a spectacular one of 10 minutes and 58 seconds. On his second he took Miss Pauline Chase, the actress, along as a passenger. After the flights Grahame-White talked to the reporters, leaving them impressed with the statement that $25,000 was not such a big sum of money after all.

"Will you join THE NEW YORK TIMES-Chicago Evening Post race from Chicago to New York?" he was asked.

"I don't know, but I hardly think so," he replied. "It's not so much money—not worth risking your life for, sailing over cities, do you think?"

Somebody suggested that $25,000 in the hand was worth many thousand dollars' worth of contracts in the air in a game where risk is inevitable.

"That may be, too," laughed the Englishman. "But if I'm falling I prefer to land on the ground rather than in the skylight of somebody's metropolitan dwelling."

He said that when a man was at the foot of the ladder of fame he was obliged to take such risks, but when he had left the lower rungs he could afford to think about taking care of himself. He said he liked aviation in the same degree that other men were devoted to hunting, fishing, and other sports, and that he had no intention of giving it up. The aviator expressed admiration of the course, thinking at first it was Belmont Park.

The Englishman took Mr. Harmon's biplane to a height of 150 feet in his first flight. The first circle of the field was made in two minutes—not quite a mile. In the second lap he rose to a 400-foot altitude, which he maintained. As he made big circles of the field the glistening copper of the gasoline tank could be seen for a considerable distance, and people crowded to the windows of cars and trains to watch the aviator. He made the second lap in 3:01, and the third, a quarter lap, in 54 seconds.

Great excitement was caused at the Mineola Fair, where thousands of people crowded the grand stand and grounds for the second day of the Queens-Nassau Agricultural Society's annual exhibition, when the biplane turned and flew in that direction, sweeping over the grand stand.

Mr. Grahame-White came down long enough to chat with Miss Chase, Fred Wright, and his manager, and to tell Mr. Harmon's mechanics that the lever of the rebuilt machine worked too hard. He also suggested a change in the ailerons and a shorter tail. Then he took up Miss Chase, who wore a hobble-skirted blue serge frock, with a jaunty Alpine hat of hunting pink. She was perched up behind Mr. Grahame-White, who soon had her 200 feet aloft. In view of his respect for financial values, he amused the little group of spectators by announcing, on landing, that not for $15,000 would he stay in air half an hour "pulling on that lever."

Ted Shriver, George Russell, Didier Masson, and a youth of the name of Samuel Burton, whose machine flew on its first trial, came out later in the evening.

MAY FLY TWO MILES HIGH.

French Airmen Believe They Can Reach That Height at Belmont Park.

The special prize of $5,000 announced by J. C. McCoy, Chairman of the Aviation Committee of the International tournament at Belmont Park, Oct. 22 to 30, is exciting great interest, not only in the French team, but also among French army officers and scientists. Advices received at the tournament headquarters from its foreign representatives state that at Paris it is confidently predicted that either one of the high-powered Blériot monoplanes, driven by Leon Morane and Georges Chavez, holder of the record for altitude, 8,405 feet, will succeed in rising two miles in the air

Morane and Chavez, in attempting their lofty climb will be prepared to withstand a temperature of zero centigrade at that height. This is the freezing point. Experiments are now being made in Paris with a snugly fitting armor of leather, lined with fur and supplemented by a helmet, completely inclosed like that of a diver, the air being admitted through fine holes over the forehead and around the sides of the face.

The helmet fits closely to the skull at the back and around the ears, which are left exposed to catch the motor's vibrations. The front is closed by a concave glass which allows free respiration and observation. Encased in this shell, the aviator can successfully protect himself against the risk of perishing from the intense cold experienced by Morane and Chavez during their recent altitude flights.

Chavez' record is now within 1591 feet of the two-mile level. Recently he rose to 7,456 feet while attempting to fly over the Simplon Pass. Morane, who has climbed to within 836 feet of the record, will undoubtedly attempt during the Belmont Park meet to regain the laurels that Chavez wrested from him.

But these Frenchmen will not have the contest to themselves. It is reported that the Wrights are preparing to enter the lists with a new machine giving a high degree of supporting efficiency in the thin air at great altitudes. This will be supplemented by a new motor of the highest power yet designed.

INVENTS A MONOPLANE.

Charles Snyder, an Ohio Blacksmith, Makes a Successful Flight.

DAYTON, Sept. 21.—Charles Snyder of Osborn, a village near this city, has completed a monoplane on original lines and to-day made a successful flight of half a mile at an altitude of 200 feet.

The builder is a blacksmith who has been devoting his spare time for the past three years to the development of his ideas. This trial was the first made with his machine.

MAXIM ABANDONS AVIATION.

It Had Been Expected That His Biplane Would Soon Be Exhibited.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Sir Hiram Maxim, after having devoted years to the construction of a biplane which has been described as "the Pullman of the air," today announced that he had abandoned his experiments with aerial machinery, being influenced both by his advanced age and the difficulty of competing successfully with French inventors and builders.

Sir Hiram is 70 years old. He has long shown an interest in flying and has encouraged every effort in that direction. His own model was to be exhibited soon, and great hopes of its success had been entertained. A novel feature was the employment of three screws, designed to lessen the waste in power unavoidable in the French aeroplanes of the small single-screw type.

RUSSIAN AVIATION MEET.

Prizes, Aggregating $20,000, Can Be Won Only by Subjects of the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 21.—The Russian aviation meet was formally opened to-day in the presence of Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch.

The prizes, aggregating $20,000, are open to Russians only. Among the participants are M. Ifimoff and a number of army officers. Seven biplanes and one monoplane competed to-day.

Lieut. Gowshkoff had a narrow escape from injury while alighting. His machine, a Farman model, was damaged.

AIRMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED.

Barnes Falls Fifty Feet at the Folkestone Aviation Meeting.

FOLKESTONE, Sept. 21.—Barnes, an English aviator, fell 50 feet and fractured his skull while participating with John B. Moissant and others in an aviation meeting here to-day.

All the airmen were troubled by the high wind.

SEYMOUR HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

His Biplane Falls and Is Wrecked After Collision with a Pole.

Special to The New York Times.

ONEONTA, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Joseph Seymour, the aviator who was scheduled to make flights in his biplane at the Oneonta Fair to-day, met with an accident in a trial trip at noon. His biplane was wrecked and he himself had a narrow escape.

The aviator started from the bluff close to the Susquehanna River.

He was making a successful flight when the breeze that had been aiding him died away and the biplane sagged sufficiently to bring him into contact with a telephone wire, one end of the machine striking a high pole.

The aviator fell fully twenty feet, but escaped with slight contusions. He announces that he will repair the biplane and make a flight before he leaves the mountains.

Alpine Flights Again Postponed.

BRIG, Switzerland, Sept. 21.—Although clear weather was reported from the other side of the Alps to-day a fog that made high flying impossible continued here. George Chavez, the Peruvian, and Mr. Weymann, the American, say that they will await favorable weather before again attempting the cross-Alpine flight over the Simplon Pass to Milan.

New $25,000 Aviation Prize.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—A Berlin newspaper has founded a prize of $25,000 to be awarded for a contest in the course of the European circuit of aeroplanes next year.

FLORENCE BURNS GETS DELAY

Magistrate Gives Her and Brooks Till To-day to Answer "Badger" Charge.

At the request of Mrs. Florence Burns Wildrick, who as Florence Burns, eight years ago, was tried for the murder of Walter Brooks in the Glen Island Hotel in Cortlandt Street and was freed after the jury disagreed, her trial on a charge of extortion, and that of Edward H. Brooks, who says he expects to marry her as soon as she gets a divorce from her present husband, was adjourned yesterday. Magistrate Corrigan, who was prepared to hear the charge of Charles W. Hurlburt, a lawyer of 39 Seventh Avenue, that he had been the victim of a "badger game," told them he would hear the case in the Tombs Court to-day whether they had obtained counsel or not.

Paul R. Adamson, chauffeur of the cab in which Hurlburt said he was forced to ride by Brooks and a second man after they had found him with the Burns woman, and had forced him to give up $57, to sign a note for $500 and a confession of his relations with her, was in court and told of the taxicab ride almost to Yonkers and back. He said $14.40 was due to him.

Adamson corroborated Hurlburt's story of the ride. He said also that the Burns woman was in the cab.

MOUNTED POLICE OUT FOR A CAMERA DRILL

Troop Gives Its Fancy Paces for Moving Pictures to Show at the Budget Exhibit.

THRONG OF 2,000 LOOKS ON

One Citizen Feared That the Horses Were Cutting Up the Lawn, but He Seems to Have Been Mistaken.

New Yorkers who are interested in the work of the city's mounted policemen had a rare treat yesterday. While about 2,000 citizens watched and applauded from the walks 150 members of the mounted force went through their drill for three hours on the Sheep Lawn just north of the West Sixty-fifth Street entrance to Central Park.

Led by Inspector Max Schmittberger the horsemen trotted out on the lawn from their headquarters in the Sheep Field about 9 A. M. in one long, straight single line. The line, long as it was, was so even that the horses seemed actually to be keeping step. The horses were all of chestnut color, and seemed to know they were on parade from the way they held their heads and the careful way they put each foot down.

When the entire troop, composed of Squads A, B, C, and D, had reached the centre of the lawn Inspector Schmittberger gave a single word of command and the line broke suddenly into fours. They formed hollow squares, "protected the flag," charged in squads with their batons drawn like sabres, and went through all sorts of wheeling movements.

In the afternoon the bicycle men under Sergt. Ben Mallon on the North Meadows showed how they could stop automobiles and runaway horses. There were twenty bicycle men and four motorcycle men. The mounted men will show how they can stop runaways on the North Meadow this morning.

The reason for yesterday's manoeuvres is that Police Commissioner Baker wanted to have some moving pictures of his mounted men for exhibition in the Budget Exhibit on Oct. 3.

A citizen who saw the drill telephoned to THE TIMES that the mounted men were cutting up the Central Park turf too much. He thought they ought to have gone up to the polo field at Van Cortlandt Park. Park Commissioner Stover, who permitted the mounted police to use the Sheep Lawn for a drill, said:

"I have always refused the State militia and the Boy Scouts permission to use Central Park for their drills for fear they would injure the turf, but for all the mounted police to go up to Van Cortlandt Park for a single day's manoeuvres would take too much time from their duties. When the mounted police last Spring were going to drill before the Mayor and an Oriental Prince I let them practice one day in Central Park. Recently Police Commissioner Baker wanted to have moving pictures taken of the men for the Budget Exhibit. As the headquarters of the mounted squad is at the Sheep Field in Central Park, and as it seemed to me an unnecessary hardship to make them trot all the way to Van Cortlandt Park for a morning's drill I let them use the lawn. I also thought that the sight would interest the crowds of Central Park."

THE TIMES reporter, after seeing Park Commissioner Stover, walked across that part of the lawn which had been used by the mounted men and did not find it cut up at all. There are bare spots on the lawn where the turf has been worn brown by small boys who play baseball. Perhaps the observing citizen was deceived by these.

PAYING BACK DIVIDENDS.

Westinghouse Electric Co. to Distribute 8¾ Per Cent. in Three Installments

At the meeting of the Directors of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company yesterday a distribution of 8¾ per cent. on the accumulated dividends on the preferred stock was declared. This disbursement wipes out the accumulated dividends on the preferred stock while the company was in the hands of a receiver, who was discharged on Dec. 5, 1908.

The first payment of back dividends will be 3½ per cent. on Oct. 15. The next will be 3½ per cent. on Jan. 15, 1911, and 1¾ per cent. will be paid on April 15, 1911. In addition to these back payments on the preferred stock the regular dividend of 1¾ per cent. was declared, payable on Oct. 15.

READING EARNINGS UP.

Net Receipts $30,824,913, Against $28,851,891 Last Year.

The thirteenth annual report of the Reading Company for the year ended June 30, 1910, shows net receipts of $30,824,913, against $28,851,891 in the previous year. After the payment of charges and taxes and dividends paid by the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company to the Reading Company there was a surplus remaining of $10,776,069, compared with $9,041,915 for the previous year.

The gross receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30 were larger than any other year in the history of the company. The receipts of the year ended June 30, 1910, brought the average annual gross receipts from 1901 up to that date to $37,483,451. The increase in operating expenses naturally followed the increase of tonnage, which influenced the increase of gross receipts, the largest percentage of increase in the operating expenses being a result of the item of increase in transportation expenses.

In commenting on the increase in expenses President Baer discussed the increase of 6 per cent. in wages put into force on April 1, 1910. This increase was not in full effect until July, 1910. According to the annual report, a comparison of the amount of the wages actually paid in the year 1909 with the amount of wages that would have been paid in that year on the basis of the new wages shows an approximate annual increase of $1,579,709. This general increase, which was common to all Eastern railroads, will increase the operating expenses of the company about $133,000 a month.

MALTING LOWERS DIVIDEND.

One Per Cent. Semi-Annual Declared on Common—Preferred, 62 Cents.

The American Malting Corporation declared a semi-annual dividend yesterday of 1 per cent. on its common stock, which compares with the declaration of the same period last year of 2½ per cent. Following this action of the directors, the dividend on the preferred stock was cut from 156 to 62 cents.

The report of the operations for the year ended Aug. 31, showed net earnings after all charges of $272,452. The results were regarded as gratifying by the company in the light of conditions which prevailed during the trade year. The barley crop of 1909 was poor in quality and expensive to handle and the competition for business reduced profits. Adverse conditions in railroad transportation followed by severe weather conditions reduced the practical returns from grain to the minimum. These conditions led to advances in barley which proved expensive to the company.

Pursuing the policy adopted by the company two years ago, when the payment of dividends on preferred stock of the American Malting Corporation was resumed, and the initial dividend upon the common stock of the American Malting Corporation was declared, the directors based their action on the dividends yesterday on the earnings of the year just closed.

CONSOLATION IN DEFEAT.

Even if Vice President SHERMAN should be defeated for the Temporary Chairmanship of the Republican Convention, Mr. BARNES and the other men of the machine would not give way to despair. Mr. ROOSEVELT would be Temporary Chairman. He would in his speech and in the platform declare the policies of the party. He would select the candidate. But then the responsibilities of the campaign would rest upon his shoulders. The men of the machine would say to the Colonel: "The Convention is yours, the candidate is yours, you have organized the campaign, now take the field and let us see you win the victory."

That is not going to be an easy task. The Republicans are everywhere disheartened, they are particularly disheartened in this State because there is a bitter quarrel among them at a time when the Democrats appear to have concluded that harmony is the best policy. It will be an uphill fight, a campaign of extraordinary energy will have to be waged. Mr. ROOSEVELT has energy enough, but he will need money for the campaign. Where will he get it? Mr. HARRIMAN is no more. We do not at the moment think of the name of any other "practical man" of great wealth and influence to whom Mr. ROOSEVELT could hopefully appeal for contributions. The "interests" will not converge upon The Outlook office with satchels of currency or with large checks. They will regard the Colonel's campaign efforts with the calm and coolness of distant and not deeply interested observers.

Besides, made prudent by the awkward experiences of 1904, the Colonel has come out with corrupt practices principles which would deter the corporations from giving him any money. However much they might desire to cast an anchor to the windward by contributing to both sides, they would not like to see their names in print with specification of the amounts contributed. It is going to be a lean year for the noble workers, particularly upon the "progressive" side.

HOBBLING THE TRUSTS.

Mr. UNTERMYER returns from Germany filled with enthusiasm for the German method of controlling the trusts. The method may be excellent, but the example cited in support of it will hardly commend it to American opinion at this time. The potash industry having fallen into some of the evils of uneconomic competition, the Government intervened to rescue the trust, not to slay it. The trade rivalry having become so keen that goods were sold below cost of production, and the natural deposits being thus depleted without profit, the Government did for the trust what it failed in doing for itself. It apportioned production among the producers and maintained prices, incidentally overruling the contracts at the lower prices which the components of the trust had made with large American buyers, themselves trusts in relation to American consumers.

The popular demand among us is all for the things which German paternalism is seeking to check. Having forgotten the evils of uneconomic competition, we think we want it back again. And, our trusts having accomplished by appropriate economic methods much of what Mr. UNTERMYER praises Germany for doing by uneconomic methods, we are all in a state of mind regarding the possible results of the courts' enforcing the laws we have passed to annihilate all trusts, good and bad, reasonable and unreasonable alike, and even those which actually stimulate trade, because the power to stimulate is also the power to restrain.

Mr. UNTERMYER tells us that foreign observers are even more alarmed for us than we are for ourselves regarding the possibility of the courts' giving effect to the popular demand for what some think an infuriated crusade against the mere forms of doing business, leaving the substance of property and conduct unaffected even if the prosecutions are successful. This is Mr. UNTERMYER'S view. He tells us that this "political grand stand play" leads nowhere, and that it is impossible to smash the trusts. The suggestion is "unworthy of consideration," and the present attack upon them cannot and will not solve the problem. His own idea is that only Federal corporations should be allowed to engage in inter-State commerce, and that their prices and conduct should be regulated by Federal commissions.

It is singular that so cool an observer should go so far to identify himself with a popular hysteria which he disapproves without calmly making sure of the existence of the ills which he seeks to cure by remedies inconsistent with our institutions. Is there any such essential difference between the operations of our trusts and Germany's methods of regulating industry as to warrant our displacing procedure before grand and petit juries by the inquisitions of Federal commissions? When the worst truth is said about our trusts have not the selected victims either justified themselves before juries or been guilty of acts respecting which courts are divided in opinion? And is it not beyond dispute that most men regard the law against trusts as one to be obeyed by other men and broken by themselves? In particular is it not true that a process of discipline is proceeding of which too little notice is taken? How many remark that while the Government is hardly able to "bust" a single trust they are destroyed by their own acts when they infringe the unwritten commercial laws? How happens it that while the infuriated crusade against the forms of business has been in full cry, within the last dozen years, one trust has been smashed by the Federal Government, while a score of trusts, capitalized at three-quarters of a billion of dollars, have gone into bankruptcy and disappeared from the scene, the victims of their own economic crimes?

It may be doubted whether our trusts would thrive if they were really obnoxious to true public opinion. Those with memories and candid minds can observe a distinct change in their administration. The corporations which have maintained their existence would not to-day dare or desire to do acts which have been alleged against them in the past with too much appearance of truth.

The reformers have been too impatient. They are willing, apparently, even to sacrifice our institutions to hasten a process all the while silently at work. They have not been willing to believe the truth that there can be no permanent extortion of profit beyond the average reward of capital, and that there can be no monopoly without the support of law. There is no monopoly (except patents) sustained by law, and the tariff is the chief support of quasi monopolies. Even under the tariff the field is open to all. So long as the field is open every trust or so-called monopoly—there existing no true monopoly—exists only on condition of good conduct. No trust which does not produce a better or cheaper article, or which attempts to oppress its customers or its producers, can long survive. Those which have attempted it have died by the dozen.

MR. LEWIS'S CANDIDACY.

With great good sense the Republicans of New Jersey have nominated as their candidate for Governor Mr. VIVIAN M. LEWIS, a gentleman of pleasing manners and invisible achievements, who will give WOODROW WILSON the least possible trouble. They might have nominated a strong man, their best man, and have made a vigorous campaign in his behalf. But would it have been worth while? They must have seen that duty and patriotism enjoined upon them the nomination of a weak candidate, to the end that Mr. WILSON'S majority should be great enough to serve as an expression of the people's satisfaction in voting for a candidate of that high quality.

The temper of the Republican Convention was excellent. When Mr. RECORD of Hudson County made an argument for a progressive platform he was jeered at and howled down by the regulars. Mr. OSBORNE of the Essex County Progressive Republican League made a speech for the "square deal" and dwelt upon the imperative need of nominating a candidate worthy to be pitted against Mr. WILSON. He, too, was howled at, and barely succeeded in naming his man. This was the right spirit. Had the Convention taken Mr. OSBORNE'S nominee the result in November would have been the same, and much precious energy would have been wasted. It was wiser for the Convention to name Mr. LEWIS with a view to a perfunctory campaign that shall in no wise endanger the triumph of WOODROW WILSON.

New Jersey is in a mood to elect the Democratic candidate. He is the worthiest and best candidate they have had a chance to vote for over there in many years. By naming Mr. LEWIS the Republicans have, as it were, indicated their intention to co-operate with the Democrats in swelling Mr. WILSON'S majority.

MORE THAN HALF THE SENATORS.

By virtue of its present population of 4,766,883 and of its certain growth this city will have more than half the State Senators after the next apportionment in 1916. This majority will be accorded Greater New York despite the passage in Section 4, Article III., of the State Constitution, which reads:

> No two counties, or the territory thereof, as now [1894] organized, which are adjoining counties, or which are separated only by public waters, shall have more than one-half of all the Senators.

This provision, designed to deprive the populous counties of New York and Kings of their proportionate representation in the Senate, was adopted by the Constitutional Convention of 1894. Its framers intended that the wealthy urban districts should never become stronger than the rest of the State. Because of its preponderance in the Legislature "up-State" has continually shifted the burden of taxation to this city, and has forced upon it laws inimical to home rule. But the perpetrators of the Constitutional trick did not foresee Greater New York's consolidation.

The interests of the five boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Richmond, and Queens are practically identical in opposing the peculiar methods of the up-State legislators. Manhattan and Brooklyn, whose adjoining counties are included in the interdict of 1894, will, with the Bronx, which has increased in ten years 115 per cent. in population; with Richmond Borough, which has increased 28.8 per cent., and with Queens, which has risen from 152,999 inhabitants in 1900 to 284,041 in 1910, hereafter have the majority of Senators by any just apportionment according to population.

And that is not all. The growth of Queens is but beginning. The opening of the Pennsylvania tunnels to Long Island decided the future great expansion of this city to the eastward of Brooklyn. The interests of Long Island are the interests of Greater New York in all legislative matters.

KANSAN CONSERVATORS.

Kansas is ever progressive. It was a foregone conclusion that the Republican platform of Kansas would be written by "progressives," and that they should speak out in favor of the Roosevelt brand of conservation "as opposed to the lines laid down by those who are hiding behind the doctrine of State rights." Here is the Kansans' demand:

> We demand that every possible effort be made to prevent private interests from obtaining unrestricted ownership or unchecked control over our vast mineral and water and timber resources.

And the vast mineral and water and timber resources of the State of Kansas not already under the unrestricted ownership or unchecked control of private interests are embraced in an area of Federal lands not fifteen miles square!

Suppose Kansas had got a dose of its own conservation medicine, according to the "new Nationalistic" prescription. Under private ownership and control the wheat fields of Kansas have been notoriously mismanaged. Their fertility, which should be conserved for the feeding of posterity, has been subject to reckless spoliation. The yield of wheat per acre in Kansas today is only half the yield harvested annually in England, France, and Germany. Why not restore these half-spoiled fields to the public domain, and restrict their future ownership and check their private control under a Federal Intensive Cultivation act, with the requirement that every farmer shall till them during good behavior, and pay a tax into the Federal Treasury?

Why not, indeed? But the "progressive" Republican farmers of Kansas would hike for the shelter of the Constitution and State rights.

PART-TIME PUPILS.

According to the Board of Education's report 53,816 pupils were on part time at the opening of the public schools. There were in all 698,933 pupils registered for the new session. In a special report to the Board of Estimate, called for by the Finance Board, the Board of Education a few days ago shouldered the responsibility for continued increase in the number of part-time pupils squarely on the Board of Estimate itself, asserting that all the remedies at the hands of the Commissioners of Education are but makeshifts at best.

The Board of Estimate inquired how the part-time evil could be eliminated. The Board of Education gave these four specific remedies, pinning its faith, however, only to the last:

> By consolidating classes. By transferring pupils of higher grades from a congested school to a neighboring school in which, for any reason, there is a considerable number of vacant seats. By the erection of portable and temporary buildings, a device which has proved effective in outlying sections where the use of wooden buildings is permissible and where land may be cheaply rented. By the erection of permanent school buildings where congestion shows they are needed.

In elaboration of the last remedy the Board of Education says that as long as the public school population continues to increase at the rate of from 25,000 to 30,000 pupils a year—the increase this year was but 18,000—the erection of permanent school buildings in sufficient number to meet the constantly increasing demand for school accommodations is the only sure and permanent method of reducing the number of part-time pupils. To do this, the Board of Education declares, it should have $8,000,000 a year for the next five years for the erection of elementary school buildings alone.

REVIVING A "SETTLEMENT."

To attempt to put new life into a social "settlement" whose last workers declared it to be dead, might appear ill-advised. To plan to arouse a dormant community might seem foolhardy. In spite of these apparent handicaps there is a body of men on the west side who have confidence in themselves and in their neighbors to do these things. They have leased a great building belonging to Mr. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, Jr., formerly known as the West Side Neighborhood Settlement, and are going to start a great democratic clubhouse.

These men are doing another thing, and thereby rendering the community a service. They intend to show the community that it is not outside help which their neighborhood needs; that they don't want things done for them. Usually the "settlement" is imposed from without. These men, of every religious creed, of every political faith, of every business interest, intend to demonstrate the efficiency of united effort from within. Their experiment should be watched and encouraged.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

The ravages of infantile paralysis in this city are not accurately known by the Board of Health. Hitherto it has not been regarded as a contagious disease, and it is not "reportable." Closer study of the malady as it has appeared this year in various parts of the country, notably in central New England, shows that it may be not only infectious but contagious. That is the opinion of Dr. SIMON FLEXNER of the Rockefeller Institute, whose brilliant researches have already opened the way along which a cure may be confidently sought.

The cases as discovered should be quarantined. It is a horrible, mutilating disease, killing from 8 to 15 per cent. of its victims and crippling the remainder for life. According to Director JOHN F. ANDERSON of the Marine Hospital Service at Washington there are at least 500 cases in this city yearly; in 1907 the epidemic attacked 2,500 children here. Monkeys have been partly immunized against it; it is known that most adults and many children are naturally immune. Its spread this year has already been checked by the approach of cooler weather. But the cases should be uniformly reported and published, both as an aid to physicians and as a warning to parents to guard their offspring from infection. If detected in time the worst effects of the malady can be prevented by an antiseptic treatment.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Misunderstanding a Low Death Rate.

While it would be impossible to overpraise the work done by American sanitarians on the Isthmus of Panama, one of our neighbors showed yesterday that it is easy to misunderstand just what has been accomplished there by Col. GORGAS and his subordinates. They have, indeed, been able as a result of their efforts to report for the American inhabitants of the Canal Zone a death rate of only 4 per 1,000, and how remarkable that achievement is can be inferred from the frightful mortality which prevailed among the men who built the first Panama railway, and in the later days when the French attempted to unite the oceans they perished only a little less rapidly. Col. GORGAS has not proved, however, that "the white man could live and work in the tropics and maintain his health at the same efficiency as when at work in the temperate zone."

That conclusion ignores several important facts. For one thing, the canal force is composed almost exclusively of strong and healthy men in the prime of life. In northern cities, where the general death rate is three or four or five times as high, there would be practically no deaths at all in a group thus carefully selected. Again, the 4 per 1,000 rate leaves out of account the brief time during which a majority of the canal employés remain on the Isthmus, the frequency with which many of them take more or less prolonged vacations in the United States, and the number that return here, suffering from tropic neurasthenia and other maladies from which not a few of the patients are slow in recovering or do not recover at all.

What Col. GORGAS has in truth proved is, not that white men can live and work in the tropics in any such way as they live and work in temperate climates, but that, by utilizing to the utmost the resources of modern sanitation, enforced under a strict military discipline, properly chosen white men can for the first time in history go to the tropics and remain there for a few years with comparative safety. There is no more reason now than ever for hoping that if the white man who stays too long out of his natural zone, the zone to which he has been adapted by centuries of elimination of the unfit, will not either die or degenerate. One or the other he has always done, and the Panama death rate does not even hint at any change in the ancient rule.

"Taxation Without Representation."

Encouraged by a court decision that the Oklahoma negroes disfranchised by the "grandfather clause" cannot be compelled to pay a poll tax, some of the colored brothers in that State are declaring that until they are allowed to vote they will pay no taxes at all. They raise, of course, the colonial cry of "no taxation without representation," just as some of the suffrage women have done, but, highly respectable as is that venerable watchword, it is not likely to carry them far.

As for the poll tax, that is distinctly a fee exacted from voters, as such, and it seems reasonable enough that negroes who do not vote should escape it as well as others similarly deprived of the privilege—or exempted from the obligation, just as one chooses to view the case. But between "representation" and voting no necessary and inevitable connection has ever been recognized, and the colonists who protested against taxation without representation must have had something very different from voting in mind, else would they not have proceeded, as soon as they won—as soon, indeed, as they asserted—their independence, to tax all the property under their control, quite regardless of whether its owners had a vote or not. Many had none, then as now, including several large and numerous classes of people, including women and aliens.

As a matter of fact, there is really no such thing as universal suffrage, or even "manhood suffrage," anywhere, and probably never will be, since there never should be, and if taxation were conditioned on voting either public revenues would be terribly decreased or the voters would be terribly burdened. Why, in this city hundreds of men are disfranchised every year, not on account of an injudicious or unfortunate selection of grandfathers, but merely because within thirty days before election they have moved from one street to another, or even from one to the other side of the same street. They are not on that account overlooked by the tax collector, nor do they consider themselves unrepresented because they did not vote for the officials who determined the amounts to be paid.

Of course this is not argument, one way or the other, as to whether the Oklahoma negroes should be permitted to go to the polls or should be kept away from them. That is a different and larger question, of much less easy solution than that concerning the right to tax them whether they vote or not.

Why Favors for the Travelers?

One of our correspondents recently suggested that the collection of customs would be much simplified if the $100 exemption were abrogated and returning travelers had to pay the regular duties on everything they bought abroad. This is not at all a bad idea, from some points of view, but it has been received with resentment by several other correspondents, none of whom seems really to understand the exact nature and purpose of a protective tariff.

The writer of a letter we printed yesterday wanted to know, evidently with the belief that his question defended the present anomalous admission free of dutiable articles, what woman would not be glad to pay $5 instead of $25 for a Paris hat, or $50 instead of $150 for a gown made to order. Those who would not are rare indeed, but the preference is quite as strong among the women who stay at home as among those who are able to go abroad, and it is not easy to see why those who, whether poor or rich, can afford to make a foreign tour, should be favored above those for whom for one or another reason it is impossible.

Unless everybody can have a $100 exemption why should anybody? Opinions on most questions relating to the tariff can differ honestly, but to that one there would seem to be only one answer compatible with fairness and justice. In a moment of excitement, an eminent manufacturer of harvesting machinery forgot his own obligations to the tariff and vehemently declared that he thought an American citizen—meaning his own wife—should be allowed to bring in anything she chose. That is a good idea, too, some of us believe, but since there is no present likelihood of its adoption, why let her bring in anything at all?

ROOSEVELT AND EUROPE.

American in Paris Writes of the Effect of His Speeches.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

To the reactionary influences of Europe, to those who resist the progress of liberal ideas and of democracy, to those who wish to believe that sooner or later every republican form of government must end in a dictatorship, and that, as a matter beyond dispute, a constitutional monarchy is the only form of government, Roosevelt's attitude in Europe and his actions and speeches since his return to his own country give the greatest possible satisfaction. While he was in Europe they made the most of him as the personification of the idea that the United States had reached the point at which personal government was to be substituted for self-government and that Roosevelt was to be our Diaz. The liberals of Europe who look upon the United States with hope and confidence as the example of a successful democracy, deeply regret that they are not at present in a position to refute the damaging statements of the ex-President, who is supposed to speak with the greatest possible authority upon what he considers the deplorable conditions in his own country. In America he might well be considered an expert in political corruption, especially after the Harriman incident.

In England more importance is given to what Roosevelt says of the lamentable standards of business and commercial honesty and of the harmful influence of American politics upon business and of business upon politics. Without any unfriendliness to the United States, it is natural that commercial rivalry and the desire that British capital be invited to Canada and other parts of the empire should induce the press of England to give special prominence to what seems to be agitating Roosevelt's mind. It may be that in his mad desire to occupy the front pages of the newspapers he is indifferent to the harm he is doing his country. He acknowledges that it is better to face what he calls "temporary disaster" than that the country should be deprived of his services and therefore the agitation he is engaged in promoting ought to be considered a great benefit.

DRUNKENNESS A SYMPTOM.

Magistrate Butts Analyzed a Young Man's Case.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In Yorkville Court yesterday Magistrate Butts discharged and promised to find employment for a young man whose father accused him of being lazy and drunken. The youth had an impediment in his speech, had been unable se secure employment on that account, and had tried to drown his sorrows because he was "discouraged." The father could only see the "ne'er do well"; the Judge, with keener insight into character, saw the despondent who needed help and sympathy. This young man is probably saved to society instead of becoming a charge to it—a jailbird, drunkard, criminal, or perhaps insane. Any one who reads between the lines of THE TIMES'S report of this case in to-day's issue will realize that drink to this boy was simply a means of getting away for a time from unendurable mental depression. Yet his father already classed him as a drunkard! The intensely interesting article in last Sunday's TIMES must surely convince every one that modern psychotherapy and psychiatry are the media for the treatment of such cases as this.

It would be interesting to know what proportion of America's 200,000 mental incompetents were classified as drunkards before admission to asylums, and in what percentage of these cases drunkenness was really a symptom of a mind deranged and not a cause, as is so often taken for granted.

New York is to be congratulated on having such a man as Magistrate Butts on its judiciary.

The Title of Queen Mother.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a recent editorial concerning Queen Alexandra's clinging to her title, this statement caught my attention: "Alexandra's repugnance for the title of Queen Mother is, of course, curiously and even amusingly unreasonable."

I cannot agree with this. The name "Queen Mother" has been made famous in history through the medium of Catharine de Medici, who followed almost all her evil career under that title. Moreover, the last English Queen before Queen Alexandra styled Queen Mother was Henrietta Maria, the ill-fated and unhappy wife of Charles I.

Probably Queen Alexandra has both of these cases in mind. Is it unreasonable, therefore, that a woman as sweet and noble as her Majesty is known to be should resent a title associated largely with misfortune.

Progress and Paternalism.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am puzzled by the use of the word "progressive," as applied by the Republican insurgents to their favorite doctrines. The ideas these insurgents shout for are the paternalistic ideas of Europe—ideas which have prevailed in the Old World for many years, but from which we have considered ourselves free and flattered ourselves accordingly.

What we have called "progress" in the past has invariably been along the lines of individualism, which is but another term for liberty. If our American idea of progress has been wrong and it is necessary for us to retrace our steps, by all means let us do so, but in common fairness it should not be done in the name of progress.

Judged by the Roosevelt-Pinchot-Garfield test, Russia is the most "progressive" country in the world.

JUDGE VANN.

He Should Be Renominated by All Political Parties.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Hon. Irving G. Vann's term as an Associate Judge of the New York Court of Appeals expires on Jan. 1, 1911. He should be renominated by all of the political parties in this State as a matter of right. By "right" I mean to include justice, duty, and all proper motives which should induce men and political parties to act. A Judge who is fully equipped for the office, and who has served the State faithfully and satisfactorily in the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals for nearly twenty-nine years, has clearly earned the right to remain upon the bench until the constitutional limit of retirement has been reached.

The ostensible point raised against the renomination of Judge Vann is that his term of service will be short—not quite three years, but the real reason is that he is not a Democrat. With great respect to those who urge it, the fact of his age constitutes no real objection.

Judge Vann's physical condition is phenomenally vigorous and his intellectual conceptions and work exhibit a mind unaffected by disease or age. To those who have seen him performing his judicial duties, and who read his legal opinions, he presents a full picture of an admirable Judge.

From a purely selfish point of the services which he will perform during the remainder of his term, if renominated, will amply compensate the act.

But there is a moral aspect of the subject which rises far above selfish considerations. There is a plain duty which the people owe to Judge Vann and all judicial officers similarly situated. The State is justly bound to render to its faithful judicial servants all of the honors it can bestow upon them. If, then, the electoral term of a Judge falls short of the constitutional tenure, he should be allowed to serve the full period. The cup of judicial honors would then be filled. The State would have given the faithful Judge the full meed of reward. Abruptly to snuff out the official life of such a man before the period when the Constitution demands it is a crying shame. It would be an act of ingratitude on the part of the people, hardly falling short of cruelty.

Nothing can produce better results to the State than the full incorporation of the principle into our political system—that, subject to health and faithful performance of his duty, a Judge once upon the bench can remain there until the limit of age fixed by the Constitution is reached. It will revive the ambition of our best equipped lawyers for judicial honors; it will make the Judges independent of all political ties; it will establish permanency of judicial thought, and it will incite the Judges to the greatest intellectual efforts.

I need hardly add that this letter is written without the solicitation of knowledge of Judge Vann.

"KICKING UPSTAIRS."

Reform Movements Suffer from This Common Process.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article, "Mayor Gaynor and the Governorship," seems to the writer to ignore an important aspect of the Mayor's "mission" in connection with this city's affairs. We have come to look upon improvement in municipal administration as a one-man work. We know that no business house can succeed unless the organization is sound, energetic, and resourceful. It gets its inspiration, to be sure, from the head of the house, but the character of his assistants and department heads determines largely the success or failure. Yet of late years it has been the custom to elect a man of ability, and then, as soon as he has made a start, send him upstairs, leaving the basement to its own devices.

In spite of the improvement and inspiration that our good Mayor has injected into the city's Commissioners the Police Department appears to be just as solidly organized as ever, unofficially, for corrupt traffic. The predatory party organization that has for generations lived on the criminal and dependent life of this city is held together by hope, and those channels of revenue not yet closed, and it is safe to say that any change in the administration's head will be welcomed by these interests. This without reference to the excellent impression made by Mr. Mitchel.

The list of sporadic "housecleanings" you publish to-day shows what we are accustomed to call an awakening of conscience. The subsequent history of too many of these awakenings shows that the awakener is promptly sent to the State Legislature or to Congress, and a relapse into old conditions follows. The inspiration of a strong, clean public officer is usually given too little time to permeate the administration and the electorate. We are too fond of the process known as "kicking upstairs." Please let us have Mr. Gaynor a little longer, and then send him to Albany with a new pair of gloves to tackle that job.

CITY BAD PAY?

Contractors Hesitate to Offer Bids for Work.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Is the city bad pay? I am asked to advise a friend who is contemplating the taking of certain city work, and in order to do so properly I am investigating the matter of the city's payments to contractors and others who do work for Father Knickerbocker outside the salary list. So far as I have gone I am astounded. I learn that everybody is more or less held up who presents a bill to the Controller, while many are waiting years for payment. I learn of some men, employed as experts, with reasonable bills, awaiting their adjustment for from one year to two years past, and still waiting. I am informed that many contractors would have to suspend business if dependent entirely upon fairly prompt payment for city work.

It would seem that the "watch-dog-of-the-treasury" idea is carried out by the Controller's auditors and adjusters to the absurd degree—to the degree where suspicion attaches to their motives. Does the Controller understand this? I am informed that a man seeking adjustment and payment of his bills is tossed about from auditor to engineer, from engineer to adjuster, and then back again!

Can I advise my friend properly to bid for certain contracting work, erection of costly steel work, under such circumstances? Is the city's credit being undermined for selfish reasons?

COUNSELOR.

New York, Sept. 20, 1910.

A Living Superstition.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While I was out of town last Summer I received a letter, bearing my full name and address, forwarded by the Post Office. After quoting a short prayer, the letter continues:

> This is an exact copy of an ancient prayer. Copy and see what will happen. It is laid in Jerusalem that he who will not copy this prayer will meet with misfortune, but he who will write it out for nine days, beginning with the day he receives it, and will send it each day to some friend, will on the ninth day experience some great joy and will be delivered from all calamities.
> Make a wish and do not break the chain. This paper must not be signed.

Letters of this nature have been denounced, I understand, from the pulpits of Brooklyn churches, and very justly, for they develop and encourage superstition. Whoever receives a copy of this should break the sequence, thereby doing his share in stopping the circulation of such foolish and unconsciously sacrilegious matter.

ATTACK $1,000,000 CANCER CURE GIFT

They Allege Their Mother Left It to Them at His Death, and He Induced Them to Transfer It on Specious Plea

The charge that George Crocker, the wealthy California millionaire, who died on Dec. 4 of cancer, who left property at Sixty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, valued at $1,000,000 to the trustees of Columbia University to establish a special esarch fund to fight, for humanity's saks, the disease to which he succumbed, obtained that property by a fraud on his stepchildren is the basis of a suit which is being bitterly fought in the Supreme Court.

Alexander H. Rutherford, Alice H. Erving, wife of John Langford Erving, and Emma Ruth Kearny, wife of Philip Kearny, the three children of Crocker's wife, Emma H. Rutherford Crocker, are making the attack on their stepfather's memory to set aside a transfer of the premises which they made Jan. 18, 1905.

Supreme Court Justice Whitney heard arguments and reserved decision yesterday on a motion to make permanent a temporary injunction granted Aug. 12 by Justice Hendrick restraining the executors under George Crocker's will, Nelson C. Thrall, John Hays Hammond, and Edgar C. Bradley, from disposing of the property. Thomas Kearny argued the motion for the stepchildren. Stephen C. Nash appeared for Columbia University and Frederick W. Longfellow appeared for the executors of the will.

Besides the executors the beneficiaries under Mr. Crocker's will are also named as defendants. These are William H. Crocker, Harriet C. Alexander, brother and sister of the testator; Jennie Adaline Crocker and Charles Templeton Crocker, his niece and nephew.

Under the will of Emma H. Rutherford Crocker, who died July 24, 1904, the property at 1 East Sixty-fourth Street was left to her husband, George Crocker, for life, with the provision that it was to go to her children at his death. The property is valued at $1,000,000, and recently an offer of $700,000 was received for the house and $174,000 for its contents, according to an affidavit in the moving papers.

According to the summons and complaint in the action, Crocker was an intimate friend of the father of his future stepchildren, in California. Their father died on March 16, 1893, and on June 11, 1894, he married their mother. Their relations up to January, 1905, were those of parent and child. They all declare that he "exhibited loving and tender consideration toward them." On Aug. 24, at his country seat in Darlington, N. J., he read their mother's will to them.

During the month of December, 1904, when Mr. and Mrs. Kearny were living at the Crocker residence, at 1 East Sixty-fourth Street, and were considering the purchase of a country residence, they allege that Crocker told them that if they would give up their interest in the property he would give them each two or three times as much as they would need to buy a country place. The amount they thought of investing in such an establishment was $100,000. He also proposed that they agree to the sale of 1 East Sixty-fourth Street and accept a division of the proceeds of the sale. He said he desired to live in the future at his country place, Darlington, N. J., and disliked the restrictions imposed upon him as merely a life tenant of the premises at 1 East Sixty-fourth Street.

During the life of Mrs. Crocker, the complaint rehearses, both she and her husband were very friendly with a Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Childs. Mr. Childs was one of the witnesses to Mrs. Crocker's will. After the death of the mother of the plaintiffs the friendship continued, and in December, 1904, there were many friendly offices exchanged and the parties exchanged visits. The complaint alleges that Mr. Crocker gave Mrs. Childs "numerous valuable presents" and that she "often visited him at his country seat" and "saw him frequently and familiarly." He left her $100,000 in his will.

The step-children charge that Crocker sent Mrs. Childs to them as his "emissary" to tell them that if they would deed over their remaining interest in 1 East Sixty-fourth Street to him he would give them $300,000 apiece. He also sent Eugene D. Hawkins, his confidential lawyer, to them, they charge, though at that time they did not realize "the part he was playing in the transaction." They made the transfer Jan. 13, 1905, they allege, without consideration, and it was not recorded until Jan. 16, 1910.

They call attention to the fact that Crocker was an executor of their mother's will and occupied a legal as well as a moral position of trust to them. This they charge he used to further his "fraudulent and wicked ends." In his will he left them but $100 apiece, though he gave $25,000 to his Chinese servant Lee Hung Yung and $100,000 to Mrs. Childs.

The step-children ask that the deed they made under alleged false representations be canceled, that they be put in possession of the property, and that the executors under Crocker's will be compelled to furnish an accounting of their stewardship thus far.

The answers submitted by all parties thus far are general denials of all the allegations of fraud and in fact of any representations whatever on the part of Crocker. Much was made by opposing counsel yesterday of the long delay in attacking the deed which transferred the remainder interest of the step-children in the premises.

290,036 ACRES MADE TAXABLE

Big Tract Within Limits of Northern Pacific Grant Clear-Listed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Lands in Montana amounting to 290,036 acres within the primary limits of the grant of the Northern Pacific Railway Company were to-day brought into the taxable area when they were clear-listed by the Department of the Interior. The lands are in the Helena, Lewiston, and Miles City (Mont.) land districts.

The survey of the grant was made under the act passed at the last session of Congress requiring the survey of all railroad lands within National forests. Previously surveys were not extended over the lands within railroad grants unless requested by the railroads, and then only upon a deposit of an amount sufficient to cover the cost of the surveys desired. Until surveyed, such lands were not subject to local or other taxation.

MORE LAND WITHDRAWALS.

President Reserves from Entry 70,382 Acres in California and Colorado.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President Taft has withdrawn from entry approximately 70,382 acres of land in California and Colorado under the provisions of the act of Congress of June 25, 1910.

The California lands, approximating 1,327 acres, are situated along the East Walker River, in California. They are believed to be valuable for power purposes.

Those in Colorado are in the Glenwood Springs land district, and amount to about 68,055 acres. They are coal lands, and were withdrawn to permit the Geologic Survey to classify the grades of coal contained in them. This withdrawal makes the total of coal land withdrawals in Colorado approximately 6,295,133 acres.

JAMES SPEYER BUYS FIFTH AVE. HOME SITE

Banker's Madison Ave. Residence, Though Recently Built, Already Elbowed by Business.

James Speyer, head of the banking firm of Speyer & Company is to build a fine home in upper Fifth Avenue in the near future. He is the purchaser of the fifty-foot plot in that thoroughfare between Eighty-sixth and Eighty-seventh Streets, the sale of which was made a few days ago through the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company. Mr. Speyer took title yesterday, but only a nominal consideration was named in the deed.

The plot is 110 feet deep and with its frontage of 50 feet offers excellent facilities for the building of a private house that will be in keeping with the character of the residences in the immediate vicinity. Henry Phipps' new mansion is on the north corner of Eighty-seventh Street, only a short distance above Mr. Speyer's purchase, while adjoining the plot on the south is the home of Charles Page Perin.

The significant feature in Mr. Speyer's Fifth Avenue purchase is not that he contemplates residing on Fifth Avenue in the near future, but that he recognizes the inevitable business invasion of Madison Avenue above the Murray Hill restricted zone. Mr. Speyer only recently completed his home at 257 Madison Avenue, between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Streets, and it is one of the imposing houses in what was once the choicest section of Murray Hill.

The Murray Hill restriction which J. Pierpont Morgan and his neighbors have fought so hard to retain ends on the south side of Thirty-eighth Street. The block from Forty-first to Forty-second Streets is already largely given over to business and within the last year evidences of commercialism have crept into the district immediately below.

Only a few weeks ago Mrs. Clarence Hyde leased her residence on the northwest corner of Madison Avenue and Fortieth Street for twenty-one years to an art firm, and it is now being remodeled for exhibition and auction purposes. Half a dozen other houses in the vicinity are about to be altered into stores and bachelor apartments, and the number of signs, "For Lease," that have appeared there within the last few months indicate that others beside Mr. Speyer are looking ahead to the time when the inroads of business will make that part of Murray Hill no longer desirable for private homes.

Diagonally opposite Mr. Speyer's home, on the northwest corner of Thirty-eighth Street is the large vacant plot, 75 by 100 feet, which was excavated for the erection of a twenty-story apartment house over a year ago, and then purchased by George F. Baker, Jr., just before actual construction began at a price said to be $1,000,000.

Mr. Baker's object was to preserve the exclusive residential character of the neighborhood and it was said at the time that some of Mr. Baker's friends would buy the property for private homes. Nothing, however, has been done and the property to-day is simply a big hole in the ground surrounded by a high fence, exactly as it was in October a year ago.

Mr. Baker, it is learned, has virtually abandoned the hope that the corner will ever be utilized for private residences. The carrying of an unimproved piece of property worth $1,000,000 in that part of the city is an expensive undertaking in itself and there have been rumors that it will ultimately be devoted to a high class apartment house or an office building. George F. Baker, senior, occupies the house in Madison Avenue, adjoining the vacant corner plot and he also owns the next house adjoining the Thirty-ninth Street corner.

Mr. Speyer, it was said, does not intend to leave Madison Avenue immediately, and it may be a year or more before he begins the erection of his new Fifth Avenue home.

LUSITANIA BEHIND RECORD

But Is Coming in Fast with a Record List of 2,041 Passengers.

The Cunard liner Lusitania, now nearing port from Liverpool, is not breaking records, according to the wireless report received yesterday at the company's office. At noon she was 782 miles east of Sandy Hook, and Capt. Charles notified the company that she will be abeam the Ambrose Channel Lightship at 7 P. M., making her time of passage four days and fourteen hours. Her best record westward over the short course is four days, eleven hours, and forty-two minutes.

But the Lusitania has been making good time and the weather conditions have been good. Her day's runs were 647 to noon Monday, 627 to noon Tuesday, and 631 to noon yesterday. She is averaging about twenty-five and a half knots an hour.

She is bringing the largest number of cabin passengers she has yet brought to port. She has 501 first, 420 second, and 1,120 steerage passengers. Among those in the cabin are:

GOLD BAG LOST ON A PIER.

Woman Who Went to Meet Homecoming Friends Seeks It Through Times.

Mrs. Leon Sultan of 182 St. Nicholas Avenue, who went to the White Star Line pier when the liner Teutonic, from Southampton, docked last night to meet friends, lost a gold mesh bag containing valuables and other property. A search of the pier was made, but no trace of the bag was found. When inquiries were made at the pier last night the employes then on duty said that the loss had not been reported to them.

Mrs. Sultan advertises her loss in THE TIMES lost column this morning, and offers a reward for the return of the mesh bag and its contents.

MORRISTOWN HORSE SHOW.

Entries for Field Club's Annual Event to Close on Saturday.

The Field Club of Morristown, N. J., will hold its thirteenth annual Horse Show Oct. 6, 7, and 8. The prize list contains 58 classes, of which 47 are open to all, and the balance are restricted to owners of horses residing in Morris or Somerset Counties, N. J. There are competitions for roadsters, horses in harness, tandems, four-in-hands, saddle horses, ponies, jumpers, and draught horses. In some of the classes the conditions require that ladies must either ride or drive. Purses of substantial size are given to the first and second in nearly all the classes, and in others cups will be awarded.

The entries will close Saturday, Sept. 24. The judges will be Louis Haight, Richard Newton, and Hamilton H. Salmon.

The committee is John R. Brinley, chairman; George J. Little, treasurer; Dr. Frederick H. Humphreys, secretary; Walter P. Bliss, Charles D. M. Cole, A. Fowler, Robert A. Granniss, Jr., Joseph W. Harriman, A. Fillmore Hyde, Otto H. Kahn, Dr. D. H. McAlpin, Joseph W. Ogden, George R. D. Schieffelin, Kenneth B. Schley, Henry W. Shoemaker, and Richard H. Williams. The assistant secretary is W. S. Blitz.

The private boxes for the show will be sold at auction at the Field Club, Morristown, Monday evening, Sept. 26, at 8:30.

Miss Elizabeth de Selding's Wedding.

At the wedding of Miss Elizabeth de Selding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Shrewsbury de Selding, to Henry Mason Day, which is to take place at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, Oct. 8, at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, the maid of honor will be a sister of the bride, Miss Katharine de Selding, and the bridesmaids selected are another sister, Miss Agnes de Selding, and the Misses Edith Thurston, Ethel Adams, Edith Burrell, Lucile Day, a sister of the bridegroom; Georda Layton, and Elizabeth Rossiter.

Lee Garnett Day will be his brother's best man, and the ushers are to be Edgar H. Arnold and George Carhart of Brooklyn, and Edward P. Jones, Alfred Garnett, Howard Morris, Ralph C. Carroll, and F. Monroe de Selding of New York.

Miss Steele to Wed on Oct. 19.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Steele, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele, and Count Jean de la Greze of Paris, will take place on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 12 o'clock at Westbury, L. I., and will be a small affair, as the Steeles are in mourning for Mrs. Steele's father, S. Barton French. The Vicomte François de la Greze will be his brother's best man, and Miss Steele's two younger sisters, the Misses Nancy and Kathryne Steele, will be her only attendants.

NICHOLS—GUNDRY.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—A wedding in Baltimore society to-day was that of Miss Grace Gundry, daughter of the late Dr. Richard Gundry, to Capt. J. H. Nichols of the Medical Corps, United States Army. The ceremony was performed at 6:30 o'clock at Athol, the country home of the bride on the Frederick Road, near Baltimore. The Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Timothy's Protestant Episcopal Church at Catonsville, officiated. James Nichols of Binghamton, N. Y., brother of the bridegroom, was the latter's best man.

LENEHAN—BUTLER.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Butler of 109 West Seventy-seventh Street and Luke Lenehan of Perth Amboy, N. J., took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Seventy-first Street and Broadway. The honeymoon will be spent at Niagara Falls.

Miss Wycherly to Act in "Blue Bird."

Margaret Wycherly was engaged yesterday by The New Theatre for the rôle of Light in "The Blue Bird." Miss Wycherly had just returned from her Summer vacation when she was sent for by the theatre management.

This will be Miss Wycherly's first appearance in New York in two seasons. Her last notable performances here were in a series of the poetic dramas of William Butler Yeats. Season before last she was starred in the rôle of Marise in "The Thief," and previously she appeared with Arnold Daly in "Candida" and as Lydia Carew in "Cashel Byron's Profession." One season she starred in a modern drama, "The Primrose Path."

BERNARD BACK, ADDS GAYETY TO LIFE

In an Exceptionally Bright and Attractive Musical Show at the Casino.

LAVISH GOWNS AND MILLINERY

Winona Winter Exceptionally Clever and Attractive—Adele Rowland and Martin Brown in Good Cast.

HE CAME FROM MILWAUKEE, a musical comedy in two acts, by Mark Swan; lyrics by Edward Madden; music by Ben M. Jerome, Melville Ellis, and Louis Hirsch. Casino Theatre.

Herman Von Schellenvein	Sam Bernard
Egbert Keskiesko	George Anderson
Bruce Chetwynce	Martin Brown
Brokaski	Henry Norman
Lestichy	Charles Burrows
Lieutenant	Paul Musaeus
Sentry	Henry Holt
Sergeant	Dolph Ryan
Porter	Frank Sargent
Constance Harvey	Winona Winter
Terriffa	Amelia Summerville
Betty Winthrop	Adele Rowland
Mrs. Matthew Harvey	Alice Gordon
Leska	Nella Bergen

It may not be the most charitable thing in the world, but a great many people will undoubtedly be glad that Mr. Samuel—more familiarly Sam—Bernard went back to work last night. For when he is working the gayety of this metropolis is always considerably increased. In this particular instance, in a new show at the Casino, which is as spick and span and full of bright things as baby's new tin bank, Mr. Bernard is as funny as he has ever been, and maybe funnier.

Through the exigencies of a plot which is really and truly in evidence, and which has both beginning and a middle if a somewhat sudden finish, he has to be several things during the evening besides the humble citizen of Milwaukee, "the city that made the beer shameless," which figures in the title. And whether he is passing as a Duke in place of the hero of the love part of the comedy, or accommodating a lady lion-tamer by assuming the rôle of a wild man on short notice, he is persistently, insistently amusing in his explosive fractured English way. Of course, he does some things that he has always done before, but his antics are so spirited and delivered with such apparent good humor and sincerity that the old as well as the new seems to have the quality of freshness and spontaneity.

To have had "nothing to eat but four huckleberries, one of which was faded," to be in danger of providing "a feast for ravens—just his luck—after they had fasted 400 years," and to be the central figure in a drumhead court-martial—these are some of the experiences of Hermann Schellenvein, the gentleman from Milwaukee, who, besides coming perilously near being shot, comes just as near being crowned, both of which are equally distasteful to him. The court-martial scene is excruciatingly funny, but one might make the same comment about most of the scenes in which Mr. Bernard figures and not be far from the truth.

Otherwise the show is a blend of catchy tunes, graceful dances, and gorgeous girls in gorgeous clothes and hats, with some ravishingly beautiful color schemes displayed on figures that lend them their full values. And there are several supporting principals who are exceptionally pleasing for this sort of show.

It is doubtful, for instance, if there is in this country another singing soubrette with as much general ability and absolutely no affectations as Miss Winona Winter, who used to ventriloquize in the vaudevilles. She acts charmingly, sings very sweetly, and always with such delightful diction that not a word of her songs is lost. One of the numbers, "The Sentimental Moon," is a particularly pleasing number.

Adele Rowland is another acquisition—a girl of the type that seems humanly attractive after a surplus of the artificial sort, who are generally prominent in these entertainments. With Martin Brown, who dances beautifully, she sang "When We Are Married, You and Me," a dainty little number, to be followed shortly by "Wedding Bells," in which a quartet aided by the chorus was repeatedly encored. It is a capital number, with some very effective stage business to keep it going.

Of the ensemble numbers "Come Back to Bohemia" and "In Gypsy Land" are both highly effective, and the chorus groupings and color effects are unusually rich. And Mr. Bernard has a song, "Consequences," with some topical interpolations, which is exceptionally clever as to stage business and most amusing in its subject matter.

George Anderson, Louis Harrison, and Henry Norman are among the men who contribute to the general excellence of the show, while Miss Nella Bergen brings spirit and plenty of voice to several scenes and songs.

The production has been admirably staged by Sidney Elliston and praise is due Melville Ellis for the exceptional beauty and good taste of the costuming. Incidentally there is a debt of gratitude to Mr. Jerome, who directed the orchestra, for not forcing the encores to the point which usually makes musical show first nights a torture to tired ears.

'RED HEADED' GIRLS MATINEE

Children Entertained at Broadway in Honor of Irene Franklin's Song.

They gave a "red headed matinée" at the Broadway Theatre yesterday, in honor of Irene Franklin's song that refers to the tribulations of a "brick-top." The audience was composed of children who were able to present red heads at the door and satisfy the management that the hair was real. About thirty people from the New York Blind Asylum were also guests of the management.

Before the matinée Lew Fields's office force experienced a burglar scare. They found the glass door of Mr. Fields's office broken, the drawers of his desk open, and papers scattered about the floor. A number of clues were discovered before the arrival of Mr. Fields, who explained that he had caused the damage. After leaving his office Tuesday night he remembered a manuscript that he wished to read, and as he had no key to the place, he broke the door and climbed through the opening.

FRANK GOULD NO FRENCHMAN

Resents the Report That He Intends to Expatriate Himself.

Upon his departure for Europe yesterday on the Cunard liner Mauretania Frank Gould and his wife, who was Miss Edith Kelly took occasion to express their annoyance over the stories published that Mr. Gould was to become an expatriate.

"There have been many stories published about me," said Mr. Gould. "Some I have not been bothered about, but the report that I was going to leave this country for good is one I wish emphatically to deny. The thought of becoming a citizen of France has never entered my head. I am a full fledged American and I intend to remain one."

Except to say he was satisfied with the provisions made for his children Mr. Gould would not discuss his family affairs. He is going over to watch his horses run in France, and he expects to return to this side in December. He has now thirty horses in his French stable.

"I have made a good start for a beginner," said Mr. Gould, exhibiting a clipping from a French paper showing the turf winners with Mr. Gould's name well up in the list. "My winnings since March 1 have been 60,905 francs, a good showing for a newcomer. I have a contract with Reif, the jockey, and I expect to win more races befire I get back."

The name of Mr. and Mrs. Gould did not appear on the steamship's advance list.

PAYS DUTY ON OLD GOWNS.

Miss Van Pett, Again Home, Forgot to Declare Them Last Year.

Miss Gertrude Van Pett of Philadelphia, who arrived last night on the White Star liner Teutonic, was delayed three hours on the steamship pier while customs men examined her baggage. At the end of the examination she had to pay $240 duty on Parisian gowns which she purchased a year ago abroad.

Miss Van Pett admitted, however, that she had not declared them upon her last arrival. Deputy Surveyor O'Connor informed her that she would have to pay the duty now. He agreed to make a reduction in the value, as the dresses had been worn, and Miss Van Pett made an arrangement with the express company forwarding her baggage to act as Government agent and collect $240 duty upon the delivery of her trunks in Philadelphia.

Miss Clara F. La Place, a seventeen-year-old girl, was accused by the customs officials yesterday with having tried to smuggle in some $600 worth of undeclared articles. The parents of Miss La Place live in New Orleans. She has been abroad some months with her aunt and cousin. When she arrived yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Friedrich der Grosse her declaration showed that she was bringing home $100 worth of foreign purchases. Customs Inspector M. F. Henry on opening her trunks decided that she had more than that and notified Deputy Surveyor O'Connor, who ordered the trunks sent to the Public Stores.

On account of the youth of Miss La Place no legal action will be taken against her, the officials say. She will, however, be subject to penalties and confiscation of her effects if the evidence warrants it.

Katherine Fletcher, Old Actress, Dead.

Mrs. Katherine Lingham, who was found dead at her apartment, 205 West Ninety-eighth Street, Tuesday, was an old-time actress, known to the stage as Katherine Fletcher. She had been a member of the Union Square stock company, of Palmer's company, and of Augustin Daly's forces. For a number of years she played in the support of James O'Neill in "Monte Christo," going with him on almost every one of his road tours. Her most recent engagement was as Mrs. Harris in a road company of "Paid in Full," and this year she was to have played Aunt Selina in one of Wagennals & Kemper's "Seven Days" companies. She was 60 years old. Her only surviving child is Thomas Lingham, who is appearing in vaudeville.

Henry M. Haar.

Henry M. Haar, a member of the New York Produce Exchange, died suddenly Tuesday evening at his home in New Rochelle. Mr. Haar was prominent in German musical circles in this city. He had been the projector of a plan for a bridge across the Hudson River from Manhattan and for many years managed the extensive brewing interests of his father-in-law, Frank Kress.

Mr. Haar was born in Buedingen, Prussia, in 1841. He came to this country with his parents in 1859, after having received an excellent musical education in Germany. He had lived continuously in New York until six years ago when he moved to New Rochelle. He was President of the Unadilla Valley Railroad Company and a director of the Sebastian Wagon Company of this city. Besides his widow, there survive two daughters, Mrs. Walter Timme, wife of Dr. Walter Timme, a physician of this city, and Mrs. Burnett Gosman of New Rochelle, and two sons, Henry Philip Haar, Yankton, South Dakota, and William Haar of this city.

Gustave Barna's Funeral To-day.

The funeral services of Gustave Barna, who died in Mount Sinai Hospital on Tuesday, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the rooms of the Hungarian Republican Club at 76 Second Avenue. Barna came to this country in 1876, and as the Hungarian colony in this city grew around him, he became known far and wide as "Uncle Barna," dispenser of many charities, and a man to whom his compatriots could go for advice and assistance. He could always be found every night at the same table in the Café Boulevard, or later at his apartment, 46 Stuyvesant Square. Gustave Barna had considerable means. He was born at Gyangyas, Hungary, and received his education in the University of Budapest. Hungarians in great numbers will attend the services to-day.

8 P. M. Solemn Pontifical Vespers.

FRIDAY, OCT. 7.
8 P. M. Reception at Catholic Club.

Archbishop Farley, through Monsignor W. G. Murphy, made public yesterday the complete programme of the consecration services of the St. Patrick's Cathedral, which are to take place Oct. 5, 6, and 7. The consecration is to be one of the most notable Roman Catholic functions ever held in this city. St. Patrick's Cathedral holds 15,000 people. But the officials say that many more than that number will desire to attend each of the different functions of the three-day services, and they are making corresponding preparations. There are about 800,000 Roman Catholics in Manhattan and the Bronx alone, not to mention 500,000 in Brooklyn, 60,000 in Queens and 16,000 in Staten Island.

A cordon of about fifty uniformed and mounted policemen will be drawn up along the walks and steps leading to the Cathedral. A Reception Committee of one hundred prelates and laymen will have charge of the seating. Mrg. M. J. Lavelle is chairman of this committee.

Services will begin at 6 o'clock in the morning of Wednesday, Oct. 5. The doors of the Cathedral will be open fully an hour before that time. The consecration services themselves will consist of choral chanting and a vast procession of priests, bishops and choristers around the long aisles of the big Cathedral. Mgr. Lavelle will have charge of these services. Mass will be intoned and there will probably be preaching by one of the European prelates who have crossed the Atlantic to take part in the ceremonies. A complete description of these services will be printed in THE TIMES as soon as the details have been fully arranged by Archbishop Farley and his advisers.

The second function of Wednesday Oct. 5 will be the high pontifical mass, which will be celebrated in the Cathedral at 11 A. M. This is purposed to be the most important function of the three days' ceremonies. Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, who is now in his seventy-sixth year will officiate at this mass and will probably deliver the address, the text of which will be announced later in the week by Mrg. W. G. Murphy of the Press Committee of the consecration ceremony.

The third function of Wednesday, Oct. 5, will be the dinner to visiting prelates and clergy in the Diocesan House in Madison Avenue, in the rear of the cathedral. The dinner will take placo at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Roman Catholic churchmen from all parts of this country and from Europe will be guests of honor at this function. Such a number of Roman Catholic prelates have probably never been assembled at dinner before in the history of the Roman Catholic Church in this city, in the opinion of those who are making the arrangements.

The last event of the first day will be the evening solemn pontifical vespers, which will take place in the cathedral at 8 P. M. Archbishop Diomede Falconio, who since 1902 has been Apostolic Delegate to this country, will preside at these vespers. The sermon will be preached by Archbishop Thomas F. Hickey, Coadjutor Bishop of Rochester and titular Bishop of Berenice. Thousands of this city's Roman Catholics whose daily occupations have prevented them from attending the 11 o'clock pontifical mass are expected to attend these services.

On Thursday, Oct. 6, the second day of the consecration there will be a solemn pontifical mass in the cathedral for all the Roman Catholic children of this city. This mass will take place at 10 o'clock in the morning. The responses of the mass will be sung by 6,000 of the children of the parochial schools of the diocese, and children will fill the pews of the big cathedral to hear the mass chanted.

This grand mass of thanksgiving for the children will be the only event of the second day. On Friday, Oct. 7, there will be a solemn pontifical mass in the cathedral at 10 o'clock in the morning for all the religious orders of the diocese. Members of the religious orders of the diocese number more than 30,000, and this event will be one of the most largely attended of the consecration.

The consecration ceremonies will close with a reception to the forty visiting prelates at the Catholic Club, in Central Park South, at 8 P. M. The guest of honor will be Cardinal Vannutelli, who was Papal Legate at the recent Eucharistic Congress in Montreal.

Sues Ziegfeld for Monte Carlo Loan.

Tomasso Mazziola of Blogna, Italy, filed summons and complaint of a suit against Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., the theatrical manager, in the Supreme Court yesterday. Mazziola alleges that he lent 2,000 lire or about $400 in American money to Ziegfeld at Monte Carlo in February, 1906. Ziegfeld calls it a gambling debt.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Rehearsals of "Nobody's Widow," in which Blanche Bates is to be the star, began yesterday at the Belasco Theatre. For the supporting company David Belasco has engaged Adelaide Prince, Edith Campbell, Dorothy Shoemaker, Bruce McRae, Harry Tighe, Henry Schumann-Heink, and Westhrop Saunders.

Charles Frohman completed negotiations yesterday by which he obtained all English-speaking rights to "Decorating Clementine," and also an option on a new play by the same authors, De Caillavet and De Flers, to be called in English "Woman's Sway."

The Astor Theatre celebrated its fourth birthday yesterday. The house was first opened on Sept. 21, 1906, with Annie Russell in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." It has remained open all through two of the three Summers of its existence, once with "Paid in Full" and once with "Seven Days." During the first Summer it was closed for six weeks while William Hodge, starring in "The Man from Home," married Helen Hale and went on a honeymoon.

This year's electrical show at Madison Square Garden will open on Oct. 10, and continue for ten days. A feature of the exhibition will be the presence of Thomas A. Edison. He will have a large display of his recent inventions, some of which have never been shown to the public.

OUR MANY DIVORCES.

Bishop of Salisbury, England, Thinks Slack Respect for Law Is One Cause.

The Right Rev. John Wordsworth, Lord Bishop of Salisbury, England, and a grandnephew of the poet Wordsworth, arrived last night on the White Star liner Teutonic on what is his first real visit to the United States. Twice before he has been in America, but it was to go direct to Canada. He is now on his way to Cincinnati to attend the tercentenary Protestant Episcopal General Conference on Oct. 6. On Sunday he will preach here in Trinity Church, and during his ten days' stay he will be the guest of the Rev. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity.

The Bishop is intensely interested in America and things American. At the conference, he said last night, he may have something to say on the divorce evil.

"I can't say now just what I will say on the subject," he said as the Teutonic came up the bay. "It is a great question that the Church faces here. In England we have not the same evil to contend with. There are many reasons for this condition, and a great deal has been said on the subject. At the bottom of it lies, I believe, less respect for the law—the spiritual law as well.

"This is a very large country, and it is easy for a man to get lost here. Of course, much money may have its effect, and the fact that there is not enough home life. There comes a slackening of home ties. Men are more away from their homes here than in England. Here a man never goes home to his luncheon in the middle of the day, and it is often late in the night before he gets back to his family.

"To suggest a remedy would require a deep study of the subject. Others have given this subject much thought, and there has been much discussion. I think a country-wide law on the subject, instead of the many laws which hold in different States would have a great influence in lessening the divorce evil. Women of the world are good, but upbringing and environment must have their effect. What I am going to say on this subject, and I may touch on it, I cannot discuss at this time."

POISONS HUSBAND TO WED.

Special to The New York Times.

PONTIAC, Mich., Sept. 21.—Fred Kinney, Roy Whitney, and Mrs. Charles Watson, all of this city, were arrested today, charged with attempting to poison the woman's husband in order that Kinney and Mrs. Watson might be married. Both men have confessed. Whitney stated that he was to receive $100 for procuring the drugs. Watson was taken violently ill a week ago, after having taken a headache powder administered by his wife, and may not recover.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

CHASE TO MANAGE NEW YORK YANKEES

George Stallings Coming Home to Learn That He Has Been Deposed.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Hal Chase will be manager of the New York American League Club next season. His contract as leader of the Yankees already has been signed and approved and is in the hands of Owner Frank Farrell. Chase gave out this news to-day. It was not exactly news at that, for the events of the last week or two all pointed to just such a condition. But it was the first time a positive announcement of any kind had been made. Hal probably would have maintained silence if Manager George Stallings had remained here, but the latter was on his way to New York to confer with Owner Farrell.

Stallings will meet his employer tomorrow morning and the tidings will be broken to him then. However he won't be surprised, either, for his perfectly good eyes have enabled him to read the handwriting on the wall, the bench, and everywhere else. The present manager's contract does not expire until the end of this season, but there is a possibility that he will be paid off and given a permanent vacation. In that event, Chase will continue the job of managing, which he started to-day.

Chase doesn't believe he is "in wrong" with his team mates. He said to-day they knew as well as he did that he was to manage them in 1911 and that none of them had acted as if displeased by the knowledge. Mr. Farrell will hear Stallings's side of the long argument with Chase at the meeting in New York tomorrow, but nothing George can tell him will make any differences with the owner's plans, which already are laid.

Chase, of course, will continue to play first base and will direct the team from the field. It is understood that his added duties will bring him a fat increase in pay. It remains to be seen whether or not there is truth in the stories that the other players are "sore" at him and will not give their best services under his leadership.

Eleven Innings and No Runs.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Cleveland and Philadelphia played eleven innings with neither team scoring. Fanwell pitched steadily with men on bases, while Coombs was practically unhittable. It makes forty-six innings the latter has pitched without being scored upon. Lajoie made his two hundredth hit of the season. Score:

Registration Committee to Meet.

The Registration Committee of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union will meet to-day to elect a Chairman in succession to Hermann Obertubessing, who has been elected official handicapper. Indications point to the election of P. J. Walsh, New York Athletic Club, who led the Registration Committee ticket. Mr. Walsh, who is a lawyer, was formerly one of the best short-distance runners in the metropolitan district, and is well equipped for the office. The other members of the committee are: J. Farley, Irish-American Athletic Club, and Edward Hart, Mohawk Athletic Club.

Peters Wins in Billiards.

Harry Peters defeated Louis Pell in last night's game of the three-cushion carrom billiard tournament for Class B, amateurs, now in progress at John Doyle's Forty-second Street Billiard Academy, by the score of 25 to 22. The match was very closely contested throughout. This evening Al Sanders will cross cues with Harry Hammond.

Newark Wins and Then Loses.

Newark and Providence divided a doubleheader in Newark yesterday, the Indians getting away with the first game by the score of 9 to 8. The second game ended 6 to 3. Heavy hitting was the feature of each contest, five home runs, seven doubles, three triples, and twenty-five singles being the total of the bingles in both games. Elston of the visitors got two of the circuit swats.

The first game was a hummer and was captured by Newark when it seemed that the Braves were doomed to defeat. The score stood 8 to 4 in the visitors' favor when they got three runs across in the ninth. The locals came back, and with some rapid-fire swatting sent five runners across the plate, the winning run going in on a hit by Ganley, which drove two men home.

In the second game Lavender held the Braves in check, and after the fifth inning, when the score stood 4 to 3 in his favor, they could not connect safely. The scores:

Skeeters Blanked by Orioles.

Baltimore coated the Skeeters with whitewash yesterday in Jersey City as souvenirs of the season's wind-up between these hot rivals. Donnelly's twirling was too puzzling for the Jerseys, and they could do nothing when hits were most needed. Sitton and Bartley were easy, the latter being touched up for homers by Schmidt and Walsh. Shortly before the Cardinals left town yesterday afternoon they thrust a rude jolt at the Giants at the Polo Grounds and shoved them down into third place. It was the final appearance of St. Louis here this season, and Bresnahan made the get-away slap as uncomfortable as he could for his friend McGraw. The ugly details were 5 to 4. Rube Marquard was approached for three stinging three-baggers in the first three innings, and then settled down to steady work up to the end of the eighth, when he gave way to let Becker try to pinch-hit. Rube leads the league in hard luck. Leon Ames climbed to the mound in the ninth, after New York had tied the score. Ames wasn't there with much mystery stuff on the ball, so St. Louis batted out the win right then and there.

Golden, one of the yearlings in Bresnahan's stable, did pretty well for a couple of innings, but in the third the goat-getting ability of McGraw on the coaching line got the youngster going, and he blew.

Bresnahan will probably send him back to the Salt and Pepper League to get a little more seasoning.

Johnny Lush came to the rescue, and in the sixth he dropped out to give a pinch hitter a chance, and Harmon finished the game. The Giants didn't hit any of them very effectively, for every one of the four runs followed the generosity of the Cardinal twirlers in dealing out bases on balls.

Huggins, in the first inning, greeted Marquard with a three-base drive to right. Mowrey's sacrifice fly to Devore scored him. In the next inning Rube hit Evans on the head with the ball, and Phelps walked. Abbott whirled a triple to deep centre, scoring Evans and Phelps. He tried to stretch the poke into an excursion trip, but was stabbed at the platter. Murray to Doyle to Meyers.

Huggins got his second triple in the third, when his hit to centre was misjudged by Snodgrass and rolled far, far away. Mowrey contributed the emergency rap that sent Huggins across. In the same inning New York leaned roughly against Golden and took all the glitter off him. After Marquard had rolled out, Devore and Doyle walked. Golden was then roped, and Lush took up the burden. The first thing he did was to demonstrate that when it came to wildness Golden had nothing on him. He walked Snodgrass, filling the bases. Murray timbered a single to short centre, scoring Devore and Doyle, and Bridwell's spank to left scored Snodgrass.

The Giants loaded up the bases in the fourth, but couldn't get a run over. A phenomenal catch by Huggins of Murray's liner back of second saved St. Louis's scalp. New York tied the score in the eighth, and had a nifty chance to strangle the game. Merkle walked and went to third on Meyers's single. Becker, batting for Marquard, flied to Huggins. Huggins made a wild return after the catch, and Devlin scored because none of the Cardinals deemed it essential to cover the plate.

St. Louis won out in the ninth. Konetchy beat out a bunt, and Evans did the same thing somewhat neatly. Phelps fanned. Abbott grounded to Fletcher, who succeeded Bridwell at short, and he threw Koney out at the plate. Hauser then ripped a warm hopper right through Fletcher, and Evans scored. Abbott tried to get home on the hit, but Snodgrass threw him out at the plate.

The Cubs will indulge in a double-header to-day.

Sixteen Cubs Can't Beat Brooklyns.

The Chicagos wound up their series with Brooklyn yesterday, and met with a 4-1 defeat, although Manager Chance brought most of his reserve forces into the game, sixteen in all taking part. A home run over the right-field fence by Hummel clinched the game, and drove McIntire to the clubhouse. Score:

COLORADO E. TROTS WORLD RECORD HEAT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—Racing off the trotting division of the Kentucky Stock Farm futurity at this afternoon's Grand Circuit races brought forth a world's record mile by Colorado E., owned by George H. Estabrook of Denver. This colt, holder of the world's record for three-year-old trotters, reduced his mark from 2:06½ to 2:05¾.

No declaration of Driver Gus Macey's intention was made public. The first heat of the race, on which there was no betting because of the superiority of Colorado E., was easy for him in 2:08¾. Finding conditions suitable, the colt's driver treated an expectant crowd to a championship mile the second time out.

Like the first quarter of the initial mile, the opening quarter of the record one was trotted in 30¾ seconds. Four lengths ahead of Emily Ellen, Colorado E. made the half in 1:02¾, and the three-quarters in 1:33¾. That rate of speed made a new record probable. Macey did not hurry his champion home from the last turn, but a last quarter in 32 seconds completed the mile in 2:05¾.

In the pacing division of the same futurity backers of first choices were dismayed when Nell Gentry, owned and driven by Charles Cameron, won in straight heats and ordinary time from Baroness Evelyn. In the 2:17 trot Peter Dorsey was beaten by Major Wellington, the third choice. The favorite won the first heat. Summary:

New Record for Uhlan.

ALLENTOWN, Penn., Sept. 21.—Uhlan, the champion trotter, hung up another world's record to-day when he went a mile in 2:05¾ over a half-mile track, thereby clipping three-quarters of a second off the best previous time. This wonderful record was made despite the fact that Uhlan made a bad break at the first turn. The time by quarters was: 0:32, 1:03¾, 1:33, 2:05¾.

WAGNER BEATS DUNN.

Furious Bout at Sharkey A. C. Goes Through the Ten Rounds.

Jimmy Dunn was surely "done" up last night in his ten-round session with Young Wagner at the Sharkey A. C., and the best he was able to get was an even break in one round. Wagner carried the fighting from beginning to end to his opponent, and had he not lacked the necessary strength toward the end he would have surely disposed of Dunn more decisively. The latter being fairly strong was able to stand up under Wagner's assault until the final.

The bout was fast from the start, as both were aggressive, but in nearly every instance Wagner would beat Dunn to the punch and score with either a stinging left hand jab on the face or a right to the body. The bulk of the work was done at close range, and at this style of attack Wagner thoroughly outclassed Dunn.

Dunn was somewhat favored by the referee during the contest, and the latter's attitude toward Wagner came near causing a rumpus between the official and Wagner's seconds for the way in which he handled Wagner in the breaks. The last round was furious, and Wagner tried his best to put Dunn away, but the latter was full of grit and hung on like a bulldog.

CANNOT EVADE AUTO LAW.

Chauffeurs, Although Part Owners of Car, Must Have License.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—In response to an inquiry from the Automobile Club of America Attorney General O'Malley to-day gave an opinion, holding that no person can legally operate motor vehicles as a chauffeur for wages or for hire without a license, whether or not he is a part owner of the machine.

The Automobile Club asked for a ruling on the right of chauffeurs who have failed to pass the State examination and obtain licenses to avoid such requirements by purchasing a part interest in a car. The Attorney General was advised that it was reported that a number of these unsuccessful candidates had taken a share in their employers' car, frequently not greater than $1, and were assuming to operate the car without a license on the ground that they were part owners.

YALE IS GOLF CHAMPION.

Princeton Beaten in Final Matches for Intercollegiate Title.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 21.—Yale won the intercollegiate golf team championship at the Essex Country Club to-day, successfully defending its title of last year, by defeating Princeton 5 to 1 in the singles matches in the morning and 2 to 1 in the four-ball matches in the afternoon, giving Yale a total of 7 points to 2 for Princeton.

The amateur record for the course held by W. J. Travis and John G. Anderson was equaled during the four-ball matches by Albert Seckel of Princeton, the present individual title holder, and bettered by one stroke by Carl E. Mosser of Yale, the latter making the eighteen holes in 74. It was the best golf of the week and proved highly interesting.

Johnson Refuses to Put Up $20,000.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—Jack Johnson, the champion heavyweight and conqueror of Jim Jeffries, refused to-day to put up $20,000 for a fight for the title with Sam Langford, the Boston colored middleweight boxer, until the latter had made the first deposit. They may come to terms later. The two fighters, who had a two-round oratorical contest in the ring at one of the local boxing clubs last night, had another fast joint debate in the sporting department of a Boston paper to-day, and while each displayed a roll of bills which he claimed contained $1,000, Johnson absolutely refused to show additional cash until Langford had made the first move.

Brooklyn Marines Win Shoot.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Sept. 21.—A team of marines from the Brooklyn Navy Yard to-day won the first inter-post shoot ever held in the service, with a total score of 5,328. The Newport (R. I.) Barracks team was second, two points behind, and the Portsmouth (N. H.) Barracks third, with a total of 5,148. Other teams competing were from the Portsmouth naval prison, the U. S. S. Wabash, the Charleston Barracks, and the Charlestown naval [illegible]

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK AT N.Y.U.

Only Two of Last Year's 'Varsity Team Lost by Graduation.

Football practice has been going on for over three weeks at the New York University Survey Camp, Eddyville, N. Y., and the men are rapidly becoming acquainted with the new rules. Since Aug. 29 a squad of twenty-five men has been out daily, and although practice has been confined largely to signals and light scrimmage, some heavy work has been indulged in. Capt. Galloway has charge of this early practice, but Coach Olcott will join the boys shortly after college opens. New York University did not lose heavily by graduation last year. Stone, Vesley, and McKay being the only 'Varsity men who will not return. Yule, the star full back, is in camp, and displays his old-time form. Other old 'Varsity men attending practice are Capt. Galloway, Elliffe, Nixon, Brennan, Wheeler, Kennenberger, Mallen, Boothe, Krauss, Miller, and Wildenberg. Murphy, the quarter-miler, will join the squad this year, and is expected to make a good showing on the gridiron.

In the early practice, open plays and forward passes, in accordance with the new rules, have been tried out. Tackling, without the feet leaving the ground, is felt to be the severest restriction, and much work is required to train the candidates in the new method. Constant practice on the "dummy" is, however, overcoming the inclination for flying tackles. Without doubt, Garsch, Yule, Nixon, and Galloway will be the fastest backfield New York University has had in years. All are men of experience on the gridiron, and all four worked together last season. The candidates in camp have played against teams of the neighboring high schools, but as it is very early in the season, little can be judged from the results of the games. New York University's first game will be with Princeton this year, and the New Yorkers are preparing to put up a strong fight with the Tigers.

YALE'S FIRST SCRIMMAGE.

'Varsity and Scrubs Have Short Workout—Changes in Squad.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEVILLE, Conn., Sept. 21.—Yale's football warriors had their first taste of defensive work to-day, but it was disorganized and a mere beginning. For the first time the scrubs were given the ball and the regulars ordered to throw the substitutes back. The scrubs were stationed at the 'Varsity 30-yard line and tried three times to take it over, succeeding only on the last trial. Mead Robinson, the fastest dodging back on the second team, scored the touchdown, eluding the 'Varsity tacklers.

The 'Varsity scored once, making the play a tie for the scrimmaging. Arthur Howe nabbed a forward pass and dashed free for a 20-yard run and scored. Howe has shown first-class form since the squad reported. The only scrimmaging of the day was ordered this morning, and lasted fifteen minutes. Ralph Bloomer joined the coaching squad to-night, and Georges Adee departed. Adee has been here all the week, under his tutelage th quarterbacks have developed fast. Bloomer is the first line coach of the year to report. He is badly needed. Burr Chamberlain and Foster Sanford will be here Friday, according to word received to-night.

Childs and Paker, two of the best tackles at Yale, have been removed from the squad to prepare for scholarship examinations. They will be kept out of the opening games of the year. Pete Francis, half back last year, has been moved to tackle. Walter Camp, Jr., won promotion to-day, going to full back on the 'Varsity and Jack Field was given his old place at half back.

PRACTICE AT PRINCETON.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, Sept. 21.—With the opening of college to-day twenty more Princeton athletes are expected to report for football practice at University Field. The list posted at the fieldhouse shows the names of sixty men. Some fifteen of these, however, have lagged behind, and have not put on togs. Those who got back early have had to pay their own board because of a regulation which forbids football operations to begin in earnest before college opens. On this account many stayed at home as long as possible.

The three squads took hold of the situation yesterday at practice, and ran through their plays like veterans. There were none of the stupid but unavoidable collisions that usually go with early season practice on account of crossed signals. Coach Roper expressed satisfaction over the showing of the men during their first signal practice. He followed one of the squads constantly, and kept it moving fast by shouting "run hard" and "get that ball."

Minot May Join Harvard Soon.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 21.—Thirty-six men reported for football practice at the Stadium this afternoon. Johnson and Pierce, candidates for quarterback; Emery, centre; Hann, end, and Maguire, guard, came out for the first time. No work of a strenuous nature was attempted, the usual stunts for limbering up the men and conditioning them being employed.

It looks now as if Full Back Minot may be restored to good standing by the passing of his study conditions, but McKay's return is dubious. Coach Haughton has accepted an invitation to address the physical instructors of the surburban high schools on the new rules and their intricacies next Saturday.

Navy Veterans Arrive for Practice.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 21.—In anticipation of the beginning of football practice for the main squad at the Naval Academy to-morrow, five members of last season's squad have reached Annapolis. Trainer Jack McMasters is also here, and has reported to Lieut. Berrien, head coach. Those who have reached Annapolis are Capt. Clay Erwin, Carrey, Elmer, and Loftin. These five, all of whom were on the long ocean cruise this Summer, are in splendid shape, and this is said to be the condition of all the deep-water sailors. Lieut. Berrien named fifteen of the fourth-class men who will be allowed to get into the big squad, and the balance will try for the class team. There are thirty veterans who will report to-morrow.

Smith and "Knockout" Brown.

Young Sammy Smith is so sure that he will beat "Knockout" Brown in their ten-round bout at the National Sporting Club to-morrow night that he has wired his manager to bet his end of the purse that he wins. When Danny Morgan, who looks after the interests of Brown, heard of the offer, he said: "Brown will surely stop Smith, and you can gamble that I will cover his wager." Smith defeated Young Erne at Philadelphia a few weeks ago, and it is conceded that this victory alone gives him a look-in with the best lightweights in the business. Brown has been coming to the front with rapid strides of late, so the match figures to be one of the best slugging bouts to be held at the swell Broadway club in many weeks.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—Harvard has bagged two of Yale's athletic Captains of last season—Capt. Steve Philbin of the baseball nine and "Rube" Wodell of the crew. They were graduated from the Eli institution in June, and have decided to become Johnnies in the law school at Cambridge. Bob Taft, the President's son, their classmate at Yale, will also enter the Harvard law school, and the three will room together, making a unique Yale group. Yale sends fifteen to twenty academic graduates to Harvard annually for law and medical work, but rarely the Captain of an athletic team. Philbin, who is a son of the former New York City District Attorney, left here to-day for Beverly to be young Taft's guest till Harvard opens.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

No "Wide-Open Cut in Prices" Is Anticipated—Some Recent Orders.

Commenting on the situation in the Iron and steel trade the Iron Age says:

There is little basis for the widespread predictions in the past few days of a wide-open cut in steel prices," implying that the market is to be taken forcibly in hand and made active.

To-day buyers are holding off because of conditions outside the industry itself. It is plain that the present hand-to-mouth buying cannot be galvanized into liberal contracts for forward delivery by a slaughter of prices.

The 1.40c. Pittsburg price for plates, structural shapes and bars is maintained by the Steel Corporation and by nearly all its competitors. For bars this is minimum. The shading on plates is on narrower widths. In structural material the chief departures from 1.40c. have been in connection with fabricating contracts, which have gone in some cases to as low a level as at any time last year.

The volume of new wire business is exceptional, and wrought pipe and tubes stand second in amount of new business taken. In sheets competition has been sharp for some time, but with nothing approaching demoralization.

In pig iron the aggregate of small orders for shipment this year has been more in some markets than for weeks.

The Iron Trade Review says:

Predictions that there would be a general reduction of prices of finished steel at an early date have been given surprising credence during the past few days. These reports were sent out by people who either were grossly misinformed or who deliberately misrepresented the facts in order to influence the stock market. For many weeks some so-called official prices have been almost forgotten in the trade, notably those for sheets, but on practically all products there is now no more marked tendency toward lower quotations than there has been for a long time.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Only a few stocks were traded in to-day on the local Exchange. There were no developments in connection with any of the corporations whose shares are listed here to incite either buying or selling. The bond market was quiet, though houses doing most of their business "over the counter" reported a better inquiry for first-class investments and expressed the hope of decided improvement before long. Extreme dullness in stocks, it is contended, usually means better buying of bonds.

PETER PAN III. MAKES FAST TIME ON HUDSON

Swift Motor Boat Runs to Poughkeepsie and Return in Record Time of 5:22:43.

With an entry list of twenty-five of the best known boats in this country, the first races of the National Motor Boat Carnival were run off yesterday on the Hudson River, starting from 158th Street where the house-boat Najme of the Motor Boat Club of America is anchored.

There were two races, one for speed boats to near Poughkeepsie and return, a distance of 115 miles, and one for cruisers to Peekskill and return, 60 miles.

Nine speed boats were started at 9:35, and they got away in a bunch, but the tenth starter, Ibis, was over a minute behind the others.

The speed boats were nearly all out of sight beyond Fort Washington Point when the cruisers were started at 9:40. The cabin boats were divided into two classes, one for boats 40 feet and over, and the other for boats under 40 feet over all.

It was expected that it would be about 2:30 before the first boats would finish, and great was the surprise when at 2 o'clock two boats were sighted coming down the river, as they drew nearer it could be seen that they were the Avis, last year's winner, and the Edmee. They came rushing down towards the line bow to bow, but as they got still nearer Avis gradually drew ahead and finished 4 seconds ahead of Edmee. It was one of the most remarkable finishes considering the length of the course that has ever been seen. The third boat to finish was Wyandance, also a cruiser.

The first boat to finish in the speed class was Peter Pan III., driven by her owner, James Simpson. Peter Pan III broke the record for the course that was formerly held by X. P. D. N. C., covering the distance in 5:22:43. The boats kept coming in at frequent intervals until at 4:20 the last of the cruising boats arrived.

Gunfire II in the speed class reported that she had broken down when part way up the river. Temporary repairs were made and she limped in. It, owned by Chas. Mallory, crashed on soon afterward. The boat had run up on a sunken dock near Fishkill and had broken the shaft and propeller. The craft was towed to Newburg and a new shaft was put in. Rapier, Red Raven and Ibis had not finished when the committee decided to declare the race finished.

Edith II won the race on corrected time and Peter Pan III won the cup for the fastest elapsed time.

This afternoon at 2:00 o'clock the series races will be started over a 30-mile triangular course laid out off 158th Street.

Restless and Nameless, the two fast International racers, are expected to compete in the National Championship race. The summaries:

COLORADO E. TROTS WORLD RECORD HEAT

Famous 3-Year-Old Colt Wins Stock Farm Futurity, Best Heat in 2:05¾.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—Racing off the trotting division of the Kentucky Stock Farm futurity at this afternoon's Grand Circuit races brought forth a world's record mile by Colorado E., owned by George H. Estabrook of Denver. This colt, holder of the world's record for three-year-old trotters, reduced his mark from 2:06½ to 2:05¾.

No declaration of Driver Gus Macey's intention was made public. The first heat of the race, on which there was no betting because of the superiority of Colorado E., was easy for him in 2:08¾. Finding conditions suitable, the colt's driver treated an expectant crowd to a championship mile the second time out.

Like the first quarter of the initial mile, the opening quarter of the record one was trotted in 30¾ seconds. Four lengths ahead of Emily Ellen, Colorado E. made the half in 1:02¾, and the three-quarters in 1:33¾. That rate of speed made a new record probable. Macey did not hurry his champion home from the last turn, but a last quarter in 32 seconds completed the mile in 2:05¾.

In the pacing division of the same futurity backers of first choices were dismayed when Nell Gentry, owned and driven by Charles Cameron, won in straight heats and ordinary time from Baroness Evelyn. In the 2:17 trot Peter Dorsey was beaten by Major Wellington, the third choice. The favorite won the first heat. Summary:

New Record for Uhlan.

ALLENTOWN, Penn., Sept. 21.—Uhlan, the champion trotter, hung up another world's record to-day when he went a mile in 2:06¼ over a half-mile track, thereby clipping three-quarters of a second off the best previous time. This wonderful record was made despite the fact that Uhlan made a bad break at the first turn. The time by quarters was: 0:32, 1:03¾, 1:33, 2:06¼.

WAGNER BEATS DUNN.

Furious Bout at Sharkey A. C. Goes Through the Ten Rounds.

Jimmy Dunn was surely "done" up last night in his ten-round session with Young Wagner at the Sharkey A. C., and the best he was able to get was an even break in one round. Wagner carried the fighting from beginning to end to his opponent, and had he not lacked the necessary strength toward the end he would have surely disposed of Dunn more decisively. The latter being fairly strong was able to stand up under Wagner's assault until the final.

The bout was fast from the start, as both were aggressive, but in nearly every instance Wagner would beat Dunn to the punch and score with either a stinging left hand jab on the face or a right to the body. The bulk of the work was done at close range, and at this style of attack Wagner thoroughly outclassed Dunn.

Wagner started off in the first round and got to Dunn's body with hard right and left punches. After the second round Wagner had matters all his own way and pounded away at will, rarely missing a blow. Each round, exclusive of the eighth, showed Wagner pegging away almost to suit himself.

Dunn was somewhat favored by the referee during the contest, and the latter's attitude toward Wagner came near causing a rumpus between the official and Wagner's seconds for the way in which he handled Wagner in the breaks. The last round was furious, and Wagner tried his best to put Dunn away, but the latter was full of grit and hung on like a bulldog.

Chauffeurs, Although Part Owners of Car, Must Have License.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—In response to an inquiry from the Automobile Club of America Attorney General O'Malley to-day gave an opinion, holding that no person can legally operate motor vehicles as a chauffeur for wages or for hire without a license, whether or not he is a part owner of the machine.

The Automobile Club asked for a ruling on the right of chauffeurs who have failed to pass the State examination and obtain licenses to avoid such requirements by purchasing a part interest in a car. The Attorney General was advised that it was reported that a number of these unsuccessful candidates had taken a share in their employers' car, frequently not greater than $1, and were assuming to operate the car without a license on the ground that they were part owners.

YALE IS GOLF CHAMPION.

Princeton Beaten in Final Matches for Intercollegiate Title.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 21.—Yale won the intercollegiate golf team championship at the Essex Country Club to-day, successfully defending its title of last year, by defeating Princeton 5 to 1 in the singles matches in the morning and 2 to 1 in the four-ball matches in the afternoon, giving Yale a total of 7 points to 2 for Princeton.

The amateur record for the course held by W. J. Travis and John G. Anderson was equaled during the four-ball matches by Albert Seckel of Princeton, the present individual title holder, and bettered by one stroke by Carl E. Mosser of Yale, the latter makinu the eighteen holes in 74. It was the best golf of the week and proved highly interesting.

Johnson Refuses to Put Up $20,000.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—Jack Johnson, the champion heavyweight and conqueror of Jim Jeffries, refused to-day to put up $20,000 for a fight for the title with Sam Langford, the Boston colored middleweight boxer, until the latter had made the first deposit. They may come to terms later. The two fighters, who had a two-round oratorical contest in the ring at one of the local boxing clubs last night, had another fast joint debate in the sporting department of a Boston paper to-day, and while each displayed a roll of bills which he claimed contained $1,000, Johnson absolutely refused to show additional cash until Langford had made the first move.

Brooklyn Marines Win Shoot.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Sept. 21.—A team of marines from the Brooklyn Navy Yard to-day won the first inter-post shoot ever held in the service, with a total score of 5,328. The Newport (R. I.) Barracks team was second, two points behind, and the Portsmouth (N. H.) Barracks third, with a total of 5,148. Other teams competing were from the Portsmouth naval prison, the U. S. S. Wabash, the Charlestown Navy Yard Barracks, and the Charlestown naval prison, in the order named.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK AT N.Y.U.

Only Two of Last Year's 'Varsity Team Lost by Graduation.

Football practice has been going on for over three weeks at the New York University Survey Camp, Eddyville, N. Y., and the men are rapidly becoming acquainted with the new rules. Since Aug. 29 a squad of twenty-five men has been out daily, and although practice has been confined largely to signals and light scrimmage, some heavy work has been indulged in. Capt. Galloway has charge of this early practice, but Coach Olcott will join the boys shortly after college opens. New York University did not lose heavily by graduation last year. Stone, Vesley, and McKay being the only 'Varsity men who will not return. Yule, the star full back, is in camp, and displays his old-time form. Other old 'Varsity men attending practice are Capt. Galloway, Elliffe, Nixon, Brennan, Wheeler, Henneberger, Mallen, Boothe, Krauss, Miller, and Wildenberg. Murphy, the quarter-miler, will join the squad this year, and is expected to make a good showing on the gridiron.

In the early practice, open plays and forward passes, in accordance with the new rules, have been tried out. Tackling, without the feet leaving the ground, is felt to be the severest restriction, and much work is required to train the candidates in the new method. Constant practice on the "dummy" is, however, overcoming the inclination for flying tackles. Without doubt, Garsch, Yule, Nixon, and Galloway will be the fastest backfield New York University has had in years. All are men of experience on the gridiron, and all four worked together last season. The candidates in camp have played against teams of the neighboring high schools, but as it is very early in the season, little can be judged from the results of the games. New York University's first game will be with Princeton this year, and the New Yorkers are preparing to put up a strong fight with the Tigers.

YALE'S FIRST SCRIMMAGE.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEVILLE, Conn., Sept. 21.—Yale's football warriors had their first taste of defensive work to-day, but it was disorganized and a mere beginning. For the first time the scrubs were given the ball and the regulars ordered to throw the substitutes back. The scrubs were stationed at the 'Varsity 30-yard line and tried three times to take it over, succeeding only on the last trial. Mead Robinson, the fastest dodging back on the second team, scored the touchdown, eluding the 'Varsity tacklers.

The 'Varsity scored once, making the play a tie for the scrimmaging. Arthur Howe nabbed a forward pass and dashed free for a 20-yard run and scored. Howe has shown first-class form since the squad reported. The only scrimmaging of the day was ordered this morning, and lasted fifteen minutes. Ralph Bloomer joined the coaching squad to-night, and George Adee departed. Adee has been here all the week, under his tutelage th quarterbacks have developed fast. Bloomer is the first line coach of the year to report. He is badly needed. Burr Chamberlain and Foster Sanford will be here Friday, according to word received to-night.

Childs and Paker, two of the best tackles at Yale, have been removed from the squad to prepare for scholarship examinations. They will be kept out of the opening games of the year. Pete Francis, half back last year, has been moved to tackle. Walter Camp, Jr., won promotion to-day, going to full back on the 'Varsity and Jack Field was given his old place at half back.

PRACTICE AT PRINCETON.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, Sept. 21.—With the opening of college to-day twenty more Princeton athletes are expected to report for football practice at University Field. The list posted at the fieldhouse shows the names of sixty men. Some fifteen of these, however, have lagged behind, and have not put on togs. Those who got back early have had to pay their own board because of a regulation which forbids football operations to begin in earnest before college opens. On this account many stayed at home as long as possible.

The three squads took hold of the situation yesterday at practice, and ran through their plays like veterans. There were none of the stupid but unavoidable collisions that usually go with early season practice on account of crossed signals. Coach Roper expressed satisfaction over the showing of the men during their first signal practice. He followed one of the squads constantly, and kept it moving fast by shouting "run hard" and "get that ball."

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 21.—Thirty-six men reported for football practice at the Stadium this afternoon. Johnson and Pierce, candidates for quarterback; Emery, centre; Hann, end, and Maguire, guard, came out for the first time. No work of a strenuous nature was attempted, the usual stunts for limbering up the men and conditioning them being employed.

It looks now as if Full Back Minot may be restored to good standing by the passing of his study conditions, but McKay's return is dubious. Coach Haughton has accepted an invitation to address the physical instructors of the surburban high schools on the new rules and their intricacies next Saturday.

Navy Veterans Arrive for Practice.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 21.—In anticipation of the beginning of football practice for the main squad at the Naval Academy to-morrow, five members of last season's squad have reached Annapolis. Trainer Jack McMasters is also here, and has reported to Lieut. Berrien, head coach. Those who have reached Annapolis are Capt. Clay Erwin, Carrey, Elmer, and Loftin. These five, all of whom were on the long ocean cruise this Summer, are in splendid shape, and this is said to be the condition of all the deep-water sailors. Lieut. Berrien named fifteen of the fourth-class men who will be allowed to get into the big squad, and the balance will try for the class team. There are thirty veterans who will report to-morrow.

Smith and "Knockout" Brown.

Young Sammy Smith is so sure that he will beat "Knockout" Brown in their ten-round bout at the National Sporting Club to-morrow night that he has wired his manager to bet his end of the purse that he wins. When Danny Morgan, who looks after the interests of Brown, heard of the offer, he said: "Brown will surely stop Smith, and you can gamble that I will cover his wager." Smith defeated Young Erne at Philadelphia a few weeks ago, and it is conceded that this victory alone gives him a look-in with the best lightweights in the business. Brown has been coming to the front with rapid strides of late, so the match figures to be one of the best slugging bouts to be held at the swell Broadway club in many weeks.

With an entry list of twenty-five of the best known boats in this country, the first races of the National Motor Boat Carnival were run off yesterday on the Hudson River, starting from 158th Street where the house-boat Najme of the Motor Boat Club of America is anchored.

There were two races, one for speed boats to near Poughkeepsie and return, a distance of 115 miles, and one for cruisers to Peekskill and return, 60 miles.

Nine speed boats were started at 9:35, and they got away in a bunch, but the tenth starter, Ibis, was over a minute behind the others.

The speed boats were nearly all out of sight beyond Fort Washington Point when the cruisers were started at 9:40. The cabin boats were divided into two classes, one for boats 40 feet and over, and the other for boats under 40 feet over all.

It was expected that it would be about 2:30 before the first boats would finish, and great was the surprise when at 2 o'clock two boats were sighted coming down the river, as they drew nearer it could be seen that they were the Avis, last year's winner, and the Edmee. They came rushing down towards the line bow to bow, but as they got still nearer Avis gradually drew ahead and finished 4 seconds ahead of Edmee. It was one of the most remarkable finishes considering the length of the course that has ever been seen. The third boat to finish was Wyandance, also a cruiser.

The first boat to finish in the speed class was Peter Pan III., driven by her owner, James Simpson. Peter Pan III broke the record for the course that was formerly held by X. P. D. N. C., covering the distance in 5:22:43. The boats kept coming in at frequent intervals until at 4:20 the last of the cruising boats arrived.

Gunfire II in the speed class reported that she had broken down when part way up the river. Temporary repairs were made and she limped in. II, owned by Chas. Mallory, came in soon afterward. The boat had run up on a sunken dock near Fishkill and had broken the shaft and propeller. The craft was towed to Newburg and a new shaft was put in. Rapier, Red Raven and Ibis had not finished when the committee decided to declare the race finished.

Edith II won the race on corrected time and Peter Pan III won the cup for the fastest elapsed time.

This afternoon at 2:00 o'clock the series races will be started over a 30-mile triangular course laid out off 158th Street.

Restless and Nameless, the two fast International racers, are expected to compete in the National Championship race. The summaries:

Noted Ells Go to Harvard.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—Harvard has bagged two of Yale's athletic Captains of last season—Capt. Steve Philbin of the baseball nine and "Rube" Wodell of the crew. They were graduated from the Ell institution in June, and have decided to become Johnnies in the law school at Cambridge. Bob Taft, the President's son, their classmate at Yale, will also enter the Harvard law school, and the three will room together, making a unique Yale group. Yale sends fifteen to twenty academic graduates to Harvard annually for law and medical work, but rarely the Captain of an athletic team. Philbin, who is a son of the former New York City District Attorney, left here to-day for Beverly to be young Taft's guest till Harvard opens.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

No "Wide-Open Cut in Prices" Is Anticipated—Some Recent Orders.

Commenting on the situation in the Iron and steel trade the Iron Age says:

There is little basis for the widespread predictions in the past few days of a wide-open cut in steel prices," implying that the market is to be taken forcibly in hand and made active.

To-day buyers are holding off because of conditions outside the industry itself. It is plain that the present hand-to-mouth buying cannot be galvanized into liberal contracts for forward delivery by a slaughter of prices.

The 1.40c. Pittsburg price for plates, structural shapes and bars is maintained by the Steel Corporation and by nearly all its competitors. For bars this is minimum. The shading on plates is on narrower widths. In structural material the chief departures from 1.40c. have been in connection with fabricating contracts, which have gone in some cases to as low a level as at any time last year.

The volume of new wire business is exceptional, and wrought pipe and tubes stand second in amount of new business taken. In sheets competition has been sharp for some time, but with nothing approaching demoralization.

Domestic rail business includes two orders from the St. Paul Road for this year, one for 55,000 tons placed at Chicago, and one for a less tonnage placed at Buffalo.

In pig iron the aggregate of small orders for shipment this year has been more in some markets than for weeks.

The Iron Trade Review says:

Predictions that there would be a general reduction of prices of finished steel at an early date have been given surprising credence during the past few days. These reports were sent out by people who either were grossly misinformed or who deliberately misrepresented the facts in order to influence the stock market. For many weeks some so-called official prices have been almost forgotten in the trade, notably those for sheets, but on practically all products there is now no more marked tendency toward lower quotations than there has been for a long time.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Only a few stocks were traded in to-day on the local Exchange. There were no developments in connection with any of the corporations whose shares are listed here to incite either buying or selling. The bond market was quiet, though houses doing most of their business "over the counter" reported a better inquiry for first-class investments and expressed the hope of decided improvement before long. Extreme dullness in stocks, it is contended, usually means better buying of bonds.

MINNESOTA CASE A FACTOR

Decision Favoring Northwestern Railroads Leads to Abrupt Advance In All Departments.

A general advance in prices, under the leadership of Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and St. Paul, followed the publication in Wall Street late yesterday afternoon of dispatches from St. Paul reporting the handing down of a decision favorable to the railroads in the long-drawn-out Minnesota rate case. Up to the time of the appearance of this news the market had moved in its accustomed rut, uninfluenced by such over-night developments as Judge Gary's statement of existing conditions in the steel trade, the defeat of Representative Tawney in his campaign for re-election in the First District of Minnesota, or the similar treatment meted out to Vice-President Sherman in his home county, where delegates inimical to his programme had been elected to attend the Saratoga Convention. The Minnesota rate decision eclipsed these and other current matters in point of interest, and led directly, of course, to the rise of 3¾ points in Great Northern, 3½ points in Northern Pacific, 2⅛ in St. Paul, and similar, if somewhat smaller, gains in practically every department of the trading list. The market closed active, with prices at the top figures of the day.

Until the details of the decision which has been handed down by Judge Otis, the Special Master in Chancery for the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to whom the Minnesota rate case was referred, have been received it is somewhat hazardous to venture predictions as to the scope or effects of the judgment. In any event, this will have to be submitted to the Circuit Court of Appeals itself for approval, and may thereafter be carried to the United States Supreme Court before it is finally adjudicated. In the meantime it appears that the attempt of the State to fix rates upon the business done within it by the roads whose stockholders brought the suits in question, these rates covering both passenger and freight traffic, is voided on the grounds that the rates are confiscatory and in conflict with inter-State commerce regulations. Whatever may be the line of reasoning upon which the decision is based, it is at least a satisfaction to find that between hasty and oppressive legislation and rulings by uninformed State authorities and the objects of their attacks—in this case the railroads—there stand the courts to protect the investor. The presence of this bulwark has been disclosed time and time again under similar circumstances in the past, but its existence is always forgotten by the financial community and the individual investor until, as in the present case, it rises in due time from the dust of legal battles temporarily obscuring it.

On the money markets the most interesting development of the day was found in the rather definite reports that the committee of foreign bankers whose insistence upon a guarantee of cotton bills by our own bankers has thrown the cotton export financing into chaos is inclined to modify its demands, and may even decide at to-day's meeting in London to send a sub-committee to this side to make a more careful examination of the entire subject. The banks reported a smaller loss to the Sub-Treasury for the period beginning with Friday last and closing last night than was the case a week ago, and fewer inquiries from Southern and Western points were reported. Foreign exchange reacted from its recent weakness, while the easy English money market practically assured the maintenance of the prevailing discount at to-day's meeting of the Bank Directors.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—Shoe Machinery was the principal feature in the local market to-day, this issue recording a further advance of 4½ points, to 56½, on rumors of settlement of the controversy with the plant company. The balance of the list all displayed a strong undertone and prices are all fractionally higher as a result of the day's trading.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Steel Trade Position.

Judge Gary's statement, published after the close of business on Tuesday, regarding present conditions in the steel trade was without definite market effect yesterday. Steel shares moved much as they have in recent days, holding in fair degree the strength displayed by them through all the period of discussion of price concessions in the trade. Those on the floor of the Stock Exchange who considered reductions certain and adverse in their bearing asserted that they found in Mr. Gary's statement ample support for the first of these two opinions, at least, in the phrase, "the principal manufacturers are disposed to maintain their prices," as well as in the denial by the Chairman of the corporation of the quotation in the Pittsburg dispatch of Tuesday that the cut would occur "before the end of the week." This prediction, Mr. Gary says, was without justification, but bearish traders insisted that in no place in the Gary statement would there be found any prophecy regarding the course of prices after this week. It is illustrative of the present temper of a good part of Wall Street that so much stress is placed upon this matter of price concessions in steel. There was a time when, with business only measurably duller in steel lines than it is now, Wall Street was upbraiding the executives of the larger concerns because they held prices firm. If there was any reason in the arguments then urged that concessions would bring business there ought to be as much, certainly, in similar arguments under the similar circumstances now surrounding the trade, and it is, therefore, difficult to see why portents of trouble should be based upon the possibility of lower prices for steel products.

Corn Maturing Safely.

In practically all parts of the corn belt the weather continues to favor the safe maturing of the crop, and every day now, of course, places a larger area beyond danger from the frosts which may come later. The State Agricultural Department of Iowa issued a report yesterday which placed 70 per cent. of corn in that State as absolutely safe from harm from frosts and that thirty days more of favorable climatic conditions will insure the gathering of the biggest crop on record. Corn prices on the Produce Exchange are slowly yielding before this prospect, which, in connection with the favoring conditions surrounding the cotton crop, is at the moment one of the most cheerful factors in the general business and financial situation.

Western Farm Mortgages.

Western bankers report that the large Western insurance companies and to some extent Eastern insurance organizations are again taking on farm mortgages. The withdrawal of the insurance companies from the mortgage market last Spring caused much complaint in the West, particularly from the banking interests, which had to assume the burden of this financing, but as the event has proved the step was a wise one in a broad sense, since it served to check the excessive speculation under way in land. It was by means of an announcement that nothing less than 6 per cent. would be accepted as an interest rate that the insurance companies curbed the land fever, and this having been accomplished they are now letting down the bars somewhat by reducing that demand to 5½ per cent. The rate is still high enough, and discrimination in the matter of loans is still great enough to prevent any outburst of the earlier speculative mania.

October's Disbursements.

Dividend and interest disbursements to investors on Oct. 1 are placed at $169,434,537 in the regular compilation of The Journal of Commerce, the amount comparing with $159,792,185 in October a year ago, while the December total was $92,488,289. Of the Oct. 1 disbursements, dividends will account for $84,134,537, an increase of $5,842,352, while interest payments call for $85,300,000 as against $81,500,000 in 1909. There have been some reductions in dividends in the last quarter, but increases have also been made in many cases, and these, together with the payments on enlarged capital, explain the increase noted. Additions to bond and note issues have brought about in the same manner the larger interest payments to be made at the close of this month. Industrial distributions will amount to $39,235,000, those by steam railroads to $38,103,000, and by street railways to $6,794,000. In every line of activity the disbursements are heavier this year.

The Minnesota Decision.

The decision favorable to the railroads in the "Minnesota rate case" was the generally accepted excuse yesterday for the advance in prices. The active stocks were more prominent in the advance than those directly affected, but the market letters sent out by the Stock Exchange houses yesterday afternoon showed how widely the decision bore on the general sentiment. The tenor of the interpretation of the decision among brokerage houses is illustrated in the following extracts sent out last night by a firm prominent in grain and stocks:

"Our courts have never decided against property interests per se from the Dred Scott decision to date, but they have prevented the abuse of property rights when public interest was involved. * * * Rates made by the Minnesota Legislature were illegal and void because they were confiscatory. * * * This ends the foolish action by State Legislatures to reduce railroad rates and embarrass capital, provided the higher courts sustain Judge Otis's decision."

TRADING IN BALTIMORE.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 21.—The market was better to-day than it has been for the past month. The prices were inclined to go upward. Cotton Duck 5s were active and gained a point in the morning's trading. Atlantic Coast Line convertible debenture 4s opened at 97 and dropped to 96½. Bonds, $117,300; shares, 320.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were quiet to-day.

Business was meagre, and the movements of prices were narrow on the Stock Exchange. Home rails, gilt-edged securities, and foreign bonds were supported by investors, but weakness in the speculative issues in the afternoon made the closing easy.

American securities showed slight gains at the opening, and prices improved during the first hour. Then the support was withdrawn and the market eased off, led by United States Steel. Wall Street buying checked the decline, and the closing was quiet and steady.

Bar silver steady, 24⅛@24⅜d per ounce.

Money, ¾@1 per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅝@2⅝ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 2 13-16@2¾ per cent.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows: At Madrid, 7.35; at Lisbon, 4.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Prices were irregular on the Bourse to-day.

The private rate of discount was advanced ⅛ to 2½ per cent.

Exchange on London, 25 francs 23 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—Trading was dull and prices were irregular on the Boerse to-day.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

At the Metal Exchange yesterday business was quiet. Copper was slightly higher. Tin was weak at a recession of ⅝c. Lead and spelter were unchanged.

The closing bid and asked prices follow:

	Wednesday. Bid.	Asked.	Tuesday. Bid.	Asked.
Stand. Copper—
Spot	12.10	12.25	12.05	12.15
September	12.10	12.25	12.05	12.15
October	12.10	12.25	12.05	12.15
November	12.12½	12.25	12.05	12.15
Lead	4.37½	4.40	4.37½	4.40
Spelter	5.50	5.60	5.50	5.60

On the London Metal Exchange the transactions in spot and future deliveries of copper and pig tin are noted in the following table. These prices are the closing figures and compare with the last of Tuesday:

Copper, spot	54	15	55	0
Copper, futures	55	10	55	15
Pig tin, futures	156	..	157	5

The market ended weak. Spanish pig lead was steady and unchanged at £12 12s 6d. Cleveland warrants were quoted at 49s. Spelter was steady at £23 7s 6d.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Aside from the opening decline the wheat market was rather featureless, with fluctuations narrow and without special significance. The lower range of values witnessed at the beginning of the session resulted from lower Liverpool advices. The cables received were a decided disappointment to the bulls, as they had obtained encouragement from this source during the past few days. There were predictions made that Black Sea exports, which were somewhat lighter last week, would show another good increase this week, and the bearish sentiment was intensified by favorable reports regarding the Argentine situation. At the decline, however, a good demand set in from shorts, with Western elevator interests active buyers. Large professional operators, who were sellers the last few days on bulges, were also disposed to take profits, and this buying tended to impart a steadier undertone to the market. On the bulges there was an increase in selling from commission houses which rather emphasized the bearish sentiment prevailing, but these offerings were not heavy enough to cause any particular pressure. The flour situation shows some improvement, and advices from the Northwest and the Southwest were more encouraging. The report that millers were fair buyers of wheat, especially at Minneapolis, was favorably regarded, but this was offset by the poor export demand, with total sales reported of only 8,000 bushels durum wheat. Cash wheat quoted: No. 2 red, Winter, $1.04¾, elevator; No. 2 red, spot, nominal, new, $1.04¾, free on board, afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern, Spring, $1.23¼; No. 2 hard, Winter, new, $1.05¾; No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.09¼.

The corn market continues unsettled, with the trend of values toward a lower level. Liquidation continued, induced by the fine weather prevailing for the maturing of the crop, and apprehension regarding possible frost damage has decreased. The report that farmers are again offering old corn at concessions, and are disposed to market as freely as possible, confirms the belief that existing conditions are encouraging. Sentiment is extremely bearish, with best support coming from shorts, and it seems to be the opinion that the market will have to seek an export basis. The cash demand was slow, notwithstanding the decline in prices. Export business amounted to 50,000 bushels, cost, insurance, and freight, locally, and 8,000 bushels at outports. Cash corn quoted: No. 2, 61½c, nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer nominal, elevator, export basis.

Oats were easier during most of the session, in sympathy with corn. Predictions are made of a more liberal movement in the near future, and bears were more aggressive. They argue that the technical position has been materially weakened as a result of the elimination of weak shorts during the strength of the past several days. The cash demand was comparatively quiet at lower prices. Cash oats quoted: Standards, 40c; No. 3 white, 41c; No. 3 white, 39½c; No. 4 white, 38c; natural white, 39@41½c; white, clipped, 40@44c.

Provisions were weak, in absence of demand. There was some buying of near by stuff by packing interests, but the absorbing power was not sufficient to hold values. The decline in feedstuffs and larger movement of hogs than expected had quite a little effect on sentiment.

COTTON.

The cotton market opened fairly active and firm at 2@16 points advance. Decided strength was displayed in the September delivery, with active buying of this month by spot interests. On the purchase of less than 3,000 bales it advanced over 20 points above the previous finals. Offerings were very light, and it was not until the bulls were disposed to sell that any material reaction occurred. The strength of this option had a sympathetic effect on other deliveries, but the South was a fair seller here early, and the demand was rather easily supplied, resulting in a moderate reaction. Liverpool advices were somewhat below expectations, but these received little attention from traders, who were inclined to pay more regard to the dispatches stating that foreign spinners are disposing of cotton yarns at profitable prices. This, in the past, was said to be impossible, and had consequently been used as a bear argument. After midday prices advanced gradually up to the high of the session. Spot interests continued fair buyers of the Winter months, and it was also thought that a prominent member of the bull party was supporting values. The South sent buying orders, and outside demand showed a decided improvement. Advices received by unfavorable crop reports. Private dispatches stated that the crop in Oklahoma and parts of Texas was deteriorating, owing to hot winds, and there were also some boll weevil damage reports in circulation. Buying by trade interests was on a fair scale, and there was a decided absence of pressure on the market's advance. Southern spot markets unchanged to ⅛c advance.

New York.—Spot cotton quiet, 15 points advance; middling uplands, 13.90c; middling Gulf, 14.15c.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

James Speyer the Buyer of Upper Fifth Avenue Plot—Commissioner Lederle Sells His Private Residence —Big Coenties Slip Deal—Activity in the Bronx.

In the number and variety of transactions yesterday the realty market showed every indication of an active Fall season. James Speyer, the banker, took title to the Fifth Avenue plot, 25 feet south of Eighty-seventh Street, reported sold a few days ago through Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown & Co., full details of which as indicating the recognition of Murray Hill residents of the forthcoming business invasion will be found in another column.

Demand for business property in the downtown district was evidenced by the purchase of a large plot on Coenties Slip and Water Street for the erection next season of an eight-story building. The private house market was also active. Health Commissioner Lederle being numbered among the recent sellers of their private homes. Further indication of important developments in the Dyckman tract was given by the third large sale of the week. Bronx property figured in many sales, the features there being the purchase of two large parcels for immediate improvement with apartment houses.

Buys Coenties Slip Corner.

An important transaction in the downtown commercial district was the sale by William A. White & Sons for the Water Street Realty Company of 7, 9, and 11 Coenties Slip, southwest corner of Water Street, occupied by three four-story buildings, on plot 76.8 by 45.2. The buyer is a large concern now located in the neighborhood, which will erect on the site an eight-story fireproof building for its own use, when the present leases expire, May 1 next.

The Water Street Realty Company, of which William L. Levy is President, owns the adjoining building, 37 Water Street.

Activity in Dyckman Tract.

Continued activity in the Dyckman tract, where two large sales were announced early in the week, is revealed by a third sale involving the plot at the junction of Isham and 211th Streets, having a frontage of 136.7 on Isham Street, 166.10 on 211th Street, and a rear line of 95.8 feet. Max Marx was the broker.

Commissioner Lederle Sells Residence

Health Commissioner Lederle has sold his private residence at 471 West 143d Street, a four-and-one-half-story brick and stone dwelling, on plot 18 by 70, by 99.11. The buyer will occupy the house. Moore & Schute were the brokers in the sale.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's New Home.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt will be the new occupant of the Ernesto G. Fabbrie residence, at 11 East Sixty-second Street, a large five-story American basement dwelling, having a frontage of 45.6 feet, which was leased last week for the owner by Worthington Whitehouse.

Manhattan and Brooklyn Trade.

A deal involving Brooklyn property in trade has been made by David Freiberger, who has sold to the J. H. H. Realty Company the premises at 540 West Twenty-ninth Street, 24.6 by 98.9. In part payment the buyer gave Brooklyn property, which figured at $12,600, being the plot 166.3 by 100, on the south side of Seventy-seventh Street, 400 feet west of Twenty-first Avenue, and a plot, 88.8 by 100, on the north side of Seventy-eighth Street, 460 feet west of Twenty-first Avenue.

Deal in Seventh Avenue Section.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

THE POST & DAVIS COMPANY, printing and engraving at 275 Water Street, has made a settlement with creditors at 15 cents on the dollar. Judge Holt confirmed the composition, yesterday. Liabilities, $19,050.

ERFORD L. WOOD, druggist, of Hudson, N. Y., has made a settlement with creditors at 20 cents on the dollar. Judge Holt confirmed the composition yesterday. Liabilities, $6,500.

MARCUS SCHIFF.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Marcus Schiff, wholesale poultry, 35 Ridge Street, by these creditors: Koenig & Co., $486; Monroe Live Poultry Market, $500, and H. & S. Schonzeit, $368. Assets estimated, $500.

CIRCLE PUBLISHING COMPANY.—A meeting of creditors of the Circle Publishing Company of 50 Madison Avenue was held yesterday at the office of Nathaniel A. Prentiss, referee in bankruptcy, at 115 Broadway, and John A. Morrison was elected trustee with a bond of $5,000.

JACOB SHAFFER.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Jacob Shaffer, manufacturer of men's clothing, 25 East Fourth Street, by these creditors: Sol Friedman & Co., $308; Milius Guggenheimer & Co., $345, and Jacob Jacobs, $300. Attorneys for the petitioning creditor said that the liabilities are $20,000 and assets $7,000.

LEWIS ETTINGER, cloak manufacturer at 32 West Twentieth Street, has failed to file schedules in bankruptcy, and yesterday an attorney for the petitioning creditors filed a list of fifty-three creditors, whose claims aggregate $3,292. Among the creditors are H. H. Kahn, $2,156; Lion Manufacturing Company, $528; Belding Brothers, $432, and E. W. Ballow & Co., $345.

NEUBERGER-PHILLIPS SILK COMPANY. —A meeting of creditors of the Neuberger-Phillips Silk Company of 57 Greene Street and Paterson, N. J., was held yesterday at the office of W. H. Willis, referee, 80 Wall Street. Many claims were filed and Anton Schmidt, the receiver, was elected trustee with a bond of $25,000. Liabilities, $358,781.

CLOUD-MARTS COMPANY.—Judge Gavegan of the Supreme Court has appointed Franklin Leonard, Jr., receiver of the Cloud-Marts Co., automobiles and supplies on Broadway, with a bond of $5,000, on application of the directors: Josiah G. Cloud, Chester M. Cloud, S. Marts Cloud, and Samuel B. Marts for a voluntary dissolution of the corporation. Liabilities, $5,812; assets, $5,543.

WILLIAM S. C. WILEY of Catskill, President of the Wiley Manufacturing Company of Catskill and of the Aken Knitting Company of Philmont, N. Y., has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $53,121 and assets of $7,222. Part of the liabilities are on notes of the Wiley Manufacturing Company, which he indorsed. Among the creditors are the Catskill National Bank, $12,000; National Hudson River Bank of Hudson, $6,640; Ernest E. Weiskotten, $14,044; Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, $2,087; Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, $2,020; Delia A. Aken, $5,000, and Harvey B. Scott of Catskill, $5,600. Petitions in bankruptcy were filed here on Aug. 19 last against the Wiley Manufacturing Company and the Aken Knitting Company.

ELECTRICAL AGE COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Electrical Age Company, publisher of The Electrical Age, monthly, of 45 East Forty-second Street, by the Wynkoop-Hallenbeck-Crawford Company, creditor for $1,488. It was alleged that the company made preferential payments, including one to Horace S. Ely and the New Jersey Telephone Company. The publication was started in 1883, and since then a large amount of money has been spent on it. The company, December, 1905, was incorporated, with a capital stock of $125,000. Judge Holt appointed Simeon B. Chittenden receiver, and authorized him to continue business ten days. It was stated that to obtain the best results from a sale of the property it will be necessary to carry on the business, get out additional issues, and thereby keep it in a position to sell it as a live publication. It was also stated that the company for some months has failed to issue. The petitioning creditors estimate the assets at only $1,000.

SURROGATE CITATION.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW York, by the grace of God free and independent, to GEORGE H. RAYMOND, CHARLES E. RUDD, EDWARD D. McKOWN, LOUIS H. PORTER, ARTHUR F. REES, JOSEPHINE HUTCHINSON, MABEL REES COFFIN, EMMA REES RUDD, and FLORENCE REES, the executors and heirs and next of kin of NORMAN I. REES, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas George H. Raymond of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing and the codicil thereto relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Norman I. Rees, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 30th day of September, one thousand nine hundred and ten, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said county, the 8th day of August, in the year

Witness, Hon. Abner C. Thomas, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said County, the 8th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ten. DANIEL J. DOWDNEY,
LOUIS H. PORTER, Esq., Attorney for Petitioner, 140 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

RECEIVERS' SALES.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York.—GEORGE P. HUDSON, Complainant, against NEW YORK & ALBANY TRANSPORTATION COMPANY, Defendant.—EMPIRE TRUST COMPANY, as Trustee, Intervenor, against GEORGE P. HUDSON and others.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to an order of resale made by the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York in the above-entitled cause on September 13th, 1910, and filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court on September 16th, 1910, I, Joseph H. Choate, Junior, as Receiver of the defendant New York & Albany Transportation Company, in exercise of the powers and duties by said order conferred upon me, will on the 29th day of September, 1910, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, offer for sale by Joseph P. Day, Esq., auctioneer, by public auction to the highest bidder, the property, a brief general description of which is given below, in accordance with the terms and provisions of said order, on the steps of the north main entrance of the New York County Court House, Chambers Street, in the Borough of Manhattan in the City of New York.

The following is a brief general description of the property to be sold:

The property of the defendant, New York & Albany Transportation Company, namely, the two steamboats "Frank Jones" and "Saratoga," together with their engines and boilers, as the same shall be on the day of the sale directed in and by said order of resale, together, also, with such permanent additions or fixtures as have been made or affixed to the hulls or structures of said steamboats or either of them since July 27th, 1909; and together, also, with such tackle, apparel, and furniture as was sold with said vessels on said July 27th, 1909, and still remains on board (but without any tackle, apparel and/or furniture placed on board by the purchaser or possessor under the sale of July 27th, 1909); and all the right, title and interest of said defendant New York & Albany Transportation Company in and to said property. The said tackle, apparel and furniture to be sold, as aforesaid, will be sold without warranty or representation by or on behalf of the Receiver as to the kind, quality, quantity, value or existence

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Washers Not Exclusively for Autos Not "Automobile Parts."

The Board of United States General Appraisers, in sustaining a protest filed by S. Hoffnung & Co. of New York, has decided that metal washers with an improved device to prevent the nut from slipping after it has been properly fastened are dutiable properly as "washers" under Paragraph 162 of the Tariff act of 1909 rather than as manufactures of metal not specially provided for under Paragraph 199 of the act.

The merchandise was invoiced as fast-nut washers, and were classified by the Custom House authorities as manufactures of metal, whereas the importing concern claimed that the articles are "washers" and properly dutiable at three-quarters of 1 cent per pound under Paragraph 162, which specifies "washers of wrought iron or steel." The question was raised at the hearing of the protest whether the articles are in fact "washers," and, secondly, whether if in fact "washers" they are not designed for use on automobiles and dutiable as parts of automobiles.

On this point General Appraiser Fischer rules that a patented metal washer, though it be used on automobiles, having no adaptation for that purpose, and in fact commonly and practically used otherwise, is dutiable as a "washer" rather than as "parts of automobiles." Discussing the question of the classification of the articles, the decision says in part:

"It is true that these articles are not the common washer well known to everybody, but they are nevertheless washers. They are intended for and in fact used only as washers, have always been so used, and differ from the old-fashioned article only in that they have an improved device to prevent the nut from slipping after it has been properly fastened. This extra device or improvement does not rob the article of its character as a washer, and the provision in the tariff for washers fully covers it. They fit the term as understood both commonly and in trade.

GAMBLERS CAUGHT IN GRAND JURY NET

Two Proprietors of a Broadway Establishment Will Be Indicted To-day.

POLICE HEADS MAY BE NEXT

"City Wide Open," Says Magistrate Corrigan — Commissioner Baker Asks Grand Jury to Hear Him.

The Grand Jury investigating vice conditions is expected to hand down indictments to-day against two proprietors of an alleged gambling house in Broadway, between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Streets. The house, according to the investigators, is run by two men who have been known as leading gamblers for many years. One was a former hotel promoter, whose place was a recognized rendezvous for the gamblers of the city.

The other has been known in gambling circles as the "outside man" of a police official whose name has appeared several times since the present investigation of vice conditions began. Their gambling house is supposed to be just above a café on the east side of Broadway.

No introduction was necessary to obtain entrance to this gambling house which, the investigators say, was and probably is at present operated as a poolroom during the afternoon and is equipped with a roulette wheel and other gambling devices for night trade.

Edward C. Becherer, employed by the Municipal Research Bureau, visited this place several weeks ago. It was 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon when he arrived. After being assured that Becherer wished to "lay a bet" the man at the door admitted him. There were a dozen or more men in the room, each apparently there to bet.

It was this visit of Mr. Becherer's along with others he made to various gambling houses in the Tenderloin that started the Inspectors from Commissioner Fosdick's office on the trail. A report to the Acting Mayor was made by the Bureau of Municipal Research which opened Mr. Mitchel's eyes. The evidence against this Broadway house was the first to be placed before the Grand Jury.

There is evidence against ten other gambling houses in the heart of the theatre section to be passed on by the jury. Each case will be acted upon as fast as the evidence is presented, and bench warrants will be issued.

With the gambling cases out of the way the Grand Jury will take up the evidence against disorderly resorts, which Commissioner Fosdick's men have gathered under the noses of the police. There are a large number of these, and the evidence is said to be convincing.

It was learned yesterday on the best authority that the Grand Jury is greatly aroused by what they have heard from Acting Mayor Mitchel and Commissioner Fosdick concerning the open existence of vice seemingly free from restraint, and that indictments against police officials may be looked for within a week or two.

The same programme which is now being carried out by the Grand Jury in Manhattan is being followed by the Grand Jury in Kings County. Assistant District Attorney Elder in Brooklyn has obtained several indictments of proprietors of gambling houses, it was learned yesterday, but is holding back the bench warrants until all the cases have been passed upon by the Grand Jury.

District Attorney Whitman had no comment to make yesterday on the evidence of gambling laid before the Grand Jury here. He was before the jury all yesterday morning. During the day he was visited by Police Commissioner Baker, who asked for permission to appear before the Grand Jury and make a statement. Mr. Whitman told him that the Grand Jury would doubtless be very glad to hear what he had to say. He suggested that Mr. Baker put his request in writing.

Commissioner Baker wrote out his request immediately upon returning to Police Headquarters. The Commissioner was advised to be on hand this morning. It is understood that Mr. Baker wishes to make clear his own stand in regard to gambling.

In Mr. Mitchel's letter to Commissioner Baker on Sept. 16 he directed the Police Commissioner to give the District Attorney a list of all suspected and known gambling houses and disorderly resorts in the city. Such a list has not been forthcoming, but Mr. Baker may take it along to-day.

The Police Commissioner's appearance at the District Attorney's office created something of a stir. It was supposed that he would wait to be called upon. This belief was caused by his attitude toward the Acting Mayor in refusing to obey the latter's order to place on trial what Mr. Mitchell termed "the responsible officers in the Thirty-second Street case and in any other cases where you can prove notice."

The strained relations between the Acting Mayor and the Police Commissioner remained unchanged yesterday. There was a report around City Hall that Commissioner Baker had beaten Mr. Mitchel to St. James and had laid the entire matter before Mayor Gaynor a day or two before Mr. Mitchel's visit to the Mayor. This could not be confirmed.

The Acting Mayor has been informed that conditions as to gambling and vice have been flagrant of late. He has been told that poolrooms have been paying as high as $500 a month for protection, and that the sum total which was paid each month for protection at Coney Island during the Summer months was at least $20,000.

Mr. Mitchel said yesterday that while such statements have been made to him, neither he nor his investigators have actual proof of them. Evidence of that nature would be extremely difficult to obtain.

The vice investigation is not confined to the Grand Jury room at present. Evidence is still being gathered by the Inspectors from the Commissioner of Accounts office. Mr. Fosdick was in conference with District Attorney Whitman yesterday afternoon, and also visited the Acting Mayor.

Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, hearing a lot of talk about New York being a "wide open town," decided to look around. What he saw convinced him, he says, that the stories were not at all exaggerated.

"Conditions are certainly deplorable," he said yesterday. New York is certainly 'wide open.' It has been drifting that way for months.

"I was accompanied on my tour by former Secretary Whitin of the Committee of Fourteen, and we did not confine ourselves to any particular district. Harlem, the east side, and the Tenderloin were visited, and in every district we found conditions equally bad. There wasn't even a pretense of excise enforcement. There is disorder all over town.

"I have never known the city to be so gang ridden. The Car Barn Gang up at Ninety-ninth Street and Second Avenue is in full swing. So is the Goofer Gang over in Hell's Kitchen, and numerous other gangs. Why, only a little while ago Eddie Reardon saw two thugs attack a policeman one night, and when Reardon asked him why he didn't use his nightstick the policeman admitted that he was afraid to do so. Reardon took the club away and himself knocked the two thugs down.

"It seems to me that in doing away with the old system under which the precinct police could make an arrest for violation of the excise law on the spot, a mistake has been made. As it stands now, any police Captain who wished to take graft could have a perfectly good defense in case he was charged with neglect of duty. He could say that the authorities have prevented him from enforcing the law by taking away the plainclothes men and so tying his hands that he is no longer able to make arrests on the spot for violations of the excise law.

"Why, when Acting Mayor Mitchel obtained his evidence at Coney Island, he was obliged to use men in plain clothes to get it."

LESS TYPHOID THIS YEAR.

Fear of an Epidemic in Brooklyn Groundless, Says Dr. Bensel.

Dr. Walter Bensel, City Sanitary Superintendent, said yesterday afternoon that there is less typhoid fever in the city now than there was last year at this time. Many people are complaining about the way the hydrant water tastes and smells, and they believe that there must be an increase of sickness on account of the water. Dr. Bensel said that this is a popular error that comes out at the end of almost every Summer, especially when it has been dry.

He was led to make the statement about the water by a report from several doctors of the Park Slope section in Brooklyn that there had been a large increase in the number of typhoid cases in that borough, and that it was all due to the bad water. An epidemic was feared, it was said. It was declared also that in the past the Department of Health published analyses of the water supplied to the city from time to time, but that this had ceased.

"These reports are still made every week," said Dr. Bensel. "But it takes an expert to tell what a water analysis means. Nevertheless the reports are printed every week and many copies of them sent out. The report for the week ending Sept. 3 shows that the number of typhoid cases in Manhattan and the Bronx was 113 and those in Brooklyn forty-five. For the week ending Sept. 10 the typhoid cases in Manhattan and the Bronx were seventy-four and those in Brooklyn thirty-four.

"There is typhoid in the city all the time. There always will be until the sources of water supply are absolutely pure. All the sources of water supply have been examined very recently, those for Brooklyn as well as those for the other boroughs, and they are in better condition than they have been."

HELD AS GIRL'S ASSAILANT.

Clerk Must Answer Mildred Archer's Charge of Attacking Her in a Taxicab.

John Margras, a clerk, living with his wife and two children at 1,277 Walton Avenue, was held in $2,500 bail for examination by Magistrate House in the Morrisania Court, yesterday, on the charge of attacking 17 year old Mildred Archer of 1,279 Walton Avenue. The Archer girl told the police that last Thursday she had been attacked while riding in a taxicab with Margras, and that when she defended herself he hit her with his fist and tore her clothing.

Margras was arrested at 1 o'clock yesterday morning when he came home. The girl, according to the police, originally told a story to the effect that she had been struck in the head while walking in 161st Street, near Jerome Avenue, and lay unconscious in the road from 7 o'clock Thursday evening until 2 o'clock the following morning.

Dr. Frederick Hargrave, who was called in by the girl's parents, sent a certificate to the magistrate saying that the girl was in no condition to appear in court. Magistrate House then held Margras for examination to-morrow.

MRS. MORSE LOSES MASCOT.

Imprisoned Banker's Wife Offers $100 Reward for Jeweled Trinket.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 21.—Mrs. C. W. Morse, wife of the New York financier who is serving a term in the Atlanta Federal prison, has offered a reward of $100 and no questions asked for the return of a piece of jewelry of which she was robbed on a recent visit to Atlanta. The trinket is in the form of a turtle, the back made of pearls interspersed with diamonds.

Mrs. Morse thinks it was taken from her dress when she was caught in a crush at the Union Station. She says that she and her husband have always regarded it as a mascot. Mr. Morse bought it for her when they were abroad just after their marriage. She has lost it several times before, she declares, but it has always been found, and whenever found heretofore good luck has always followed for herself and her husband.

They Slip Quietly Over from Tenafly, N. J., to Yonkers for the Ceremony.

BRIDE ADMITS SHE'S 31

Bridegroom Gives His Age as 75 to the License Clerk, but Neighbors Correct Him.

The rumor spread from house to house in Tenafly, N. J., yesterday that John S. Lyle, the richest and one of the oldest men in Bergen County, had slipped over to New York the day before with a woman nearly sixty years his junior and been quietly married to her in Yonkers. Her name is Julia G. Hannon, and she entered the Lyle household about two years ago as a nurse, who had had her training in the Presbyterian Hospital of New York.

Deputy Clerk O'Brien, in the Marriage License Bureau at Yonkers, said yesterday that he had welcomed Mr. Lyle and Miss Hannon just before noon on Tuesday, when he made out their license, and in answer to their questioning told them that as non-residents they must be married in Yonkers, if at all. The marriage is said to have followed shortly. They gave their residence as Englewood, N. J., Mr. Lyle adding that his age was 75 and she confessing to 31.

The women of Tenafly rather thought she was more than that, and they said so yesterday. As for Mr. Lyle, he is 93, according to one of the men who has worked for him and seen much of him. The old gentleman is erect in carriage, and looks distinguished, with his silvery hair and beard.

The Lyle house is set among broad lawns and great trees that make it one of the beautiful spots in Bergen County, and its owner is possessed of a fortune that is variously estimated at $20,000,000 to $40,000,000. The first Mrs. Lyle died several years ago, and they had no children. That he had no heir and would leave a big estate has long been one of Tenafly's favorite topics of conversation.

Reporters making inquiries at the house yesterday afternoon were received by Miss Emily Mitchel, who has had charge of the house. She was most gracious, but kept the screen door tightly closed.

An Early Train.

"We have absolutely nothing to say," she declared. "We are neither affirming nor denying anything. The next train leaves for New York in fifteen minutes."

Nothing could be added to this broad hint, and the woman to whom people in Tenafly still referred as Miss Hannon was invisible. Later in the evening a woman talking over the telephone with her asked if there was anything in the rumors that the marriage had been solemnized on Tuesday.

"Why, yes, there is," said the woman, but she said little more.

There were few doubts in the minds of the neighbors. "It was no more than we expected," said Tenafly, and then proceeded to speculate on the emotions it would arouse in the bosoms of the Newcombs, who live among less splendid surroundings not far from the Lyle estate. The first Mrs. Lyle was Mary Kate Newcomb, a woman of gentle spirit and wide charity. It was she who devised and provided for Happy Land Home, a big house in Tenafly where poor children from the dark and airless parts of New York are treated to some of the Summer sunshine.

Her sister took charge of the Lyle household on Mrs. Lyle's death a little more than two years ago, when she, too, became ill, and it was then that Miss Hannon was sent for. Miss Newcomb was taken later to a sanitarium, and Tenafly understood that Miss Hannon would remain on to care for Mr. Lyle, no longer as robust as he once had been. He had been seriously ill some years ago while he was spending the Winter in the South with Mrs. Lyle. Miss Hannon stayed, and Tenafly often saw them together, for they were both fond of motoring, and Mr. Lyle owns several cars.

Valley With a Reputation.

The rumor which spread through the neighborhood yesterday is not the first of its sort to gain some headway. It seemed the most authentic, however, one of the neighbors said, and the policeman at the station was busy telling now he had seen the two board the train for New York on Tuesday morning. The story was that they had been married in the early afternoon by a Justice of the Peace in Yonkers, who had memorized the service.

Miss Newcomb, a sister of the late Mrs. Lyle, spoke her mind about the whole thing with some vehemence. She for one had never thought that John Lyle needed any nurse, she said, among other things. William Newcomb, her brother, had nothing to say, beyond the fact that there were no liars like those in that valley, and that "he lied in his teeth" who said that there had been any estrangement between the Newcombs and the man who had married Mary Newcomb.

But Tenafly's first thought was of the Newcombs and of how they would take the news. There has been little visiting between their house and the big one on the hill, they said. Were Mr. Lyle not to remarry the most obvious heirs to his wealth would be the Newcombs, Tenafly had always supposed, and "Dad" Robinson, one of the oldest inhabitants, was full of speculations.

"A rich man," he said. "Well, I rather guess. Why years and years ago he told me he was worth more than $17,000,000."

John Lyle came to New York from Nova Scotia in his boyhood. He was poor then. At the time of his retirement a few years ago he is said to have been the chief stockholder in a large department store in Broadway, and to have had large real estate holdings both in New York and in New Jersey. Neighbors say that he will be 93 next month.

About fifteen years ago the Borough of Tenafly was formed against the strong opposition of Mr. Lyle, who seemed to his neighbors to have lost interest in the place since then. Beautiful as is his place in Englewood, people thereabouts say that it is not kept up as it was in the old days.

COURTS RAP A CLOAK FIRM.

Find Its Members Played an Unfair Trick on Their Business Rivals.

Supreme Court Justices Whitney and Bijur took turns yesterday in administering, judicial spankings to William H. and Edward Davidow for trying to play tricks not only on their business rivals and associates, but on the Supreme Court itself.

The Davidows are in business as William H. Davidow & Brother, cloak makers, and as Bonwit Brothers, a corporation. As William H. Davidow & Brother they wanted to get back in the Cloak, Suit, and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association, from which they were summarily ejected for making a clandestine agreement with their employes, by which they started to get orders, while their associates were still fighting the recently settled strike. Justice Bijur denied their motion for a mandamus reinstating them with this observation:

> The apparent lack of satisfactory frankness practiced by the plaintiffs toward their associates in the same business line has been continued toward this court.

As Bonwit Brothers, a corporation, the Davidows were up as defendants before Justice Whitney to oppose an application by Edward A. Stuffer, secretary of the corporation, for permission to examine the books which, he alleged, he suspected would show that he had been unfairly treated. The Davidows pleaded that Stuffer was only a dummy director, put in because the law requires three directors in a corporation, and that he had no pecuniary interest. On this point Justice Whitney said:

> The relator is Secretary and a Director of the corporation. His right as such to examine its books is undisputed. Their theory is that the corporation is a mere partnership in corporate form; that, in fact, they are the corporation, and he is a means whereby without benefit or protection to himself they may escape personal liability for the risks of the business which they are carrying on. But they cannot be heard to say that they have created a dummy Director for the purpose of enjoying a corporate asylum without dividing their real powers with the third person required by the statute to share them.

In their explanation to the members of the Executive Committee of the Manufacturers' Protective Association the Davidows had said:

"You may call it a miracle or what you will, but after one of our designers talked to the strikers they returned to work."

"This explanation," said Justice Bijur, "does not appeal to me as satisfactory."

FLEET FIRES AT LONG RANGE.

Batteries Aim at Targets 10,000 Yards Away in Battle Practice.

ON BOARD UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP KANSAS, AT SEA ON SOUTHERN DRILL GROUNDS, Sept. 21.—After a delay of nearly ten days, caused by continued bad weather, the Atlantic fleet to-day began its annual day battle practice on the Southern drill grounds off the Virginia coast. The sixteen battleships, divided into two squadrons, began firing at targets 100 feet long by 27 feet high at a range of about 10,000 yards. Each ship fired one batery at the targets.

To-morrow, if the good weather continues, each will fire its other battery, and on the following day the fleet will fire by divisions. In this each of the four divisions will fire simultaneously at the same targets.

The fleet will return to Hampton Roads on Friday night for coal, and take on 150 men before sailing for New York, where the ships will remain in port ten days before going to the various navy yards.

CREDITORS' PLEA DENIED.

Court Refuses to Give Their Claims Preference Against N. Y. City Railway.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, denied a motion by the contract creditors of the New York City Railway that preference be given to their claims as regards immediate payment out of the proceeds of the settlement which Receiver Ladd of the New York City Railway negotiated with the Metropolitan Securities Company and its former Directors.

There are about $1,130,000 of the contract claims which have been approved by the Special Master appointed by the United States Court. Receiver Ladd has some $6,000,000 available to pay the City Railway's debts.

In a memorandum accompanying his decision Judge Lacombe states that he does not think that the payment of any one class of claims should be ordered at this time when several important questions regarding the standing of more important claims are still undisposed of.

Archbishop Bourne Visits Marymount.

Archbishop Francis Bourne of Westminster, before leaving this country for England, visited on Tuesday the community of the Sacred Heart of Mary at Marymount, Tarrytown. The Archbishop was accompanied by Fathers McGrath and O'Keefe, and was received by the Reverend Mother of the community and by members of the Butler family, who live near by.

SHERMAN REVIEWS VETERANS

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21.—To the music of many bands, more than fifteen thousand civil war veterans marched to-day in the forty-fourth annual encampment parade of the G. A. R. Many of them barely were able to hobble along with heavy canes. Some were obliged to fall out and others wavered and tottered in the line, but refused to take the advice of more sturdy comrades and do the the same. They realized it might be their last march, and they stuck it out.

Ideal weather favored the old soldiers, and forty-four States were represented. While the parade was not as large as those of other years there was no end of enthusiasm. Every building along the line of march was draped with National colors, and the sidewalks were massed with people.

U. S. Grant Post of New York City headed the procession, escorting Commander Van Sant. In their dress uniforms they presented a striking appearance, and they received an ovation all along the line. They were followed by the civil war musicians, the youngest of whom is more than seventy-two years old. But they drummed and fifed as lustily as if going into battle.

Pennsylvania had an extra large delegation and several of its posts carried their battle flags. Next to Pennsylvania, New York had the largest representation. It was headed by the E. D. Morgan Post 307, with which marched William M. Felleman, who was Chief of Scouts in the First Independent Battalion. This was followed by John A. Dix, Lafayette, Kearney, and several other posts. Some had but a few members left alive.

New Jersey brought up the end of the line with sixteen posts. Among the Jerseymen was Gen. E. Burd Grubb, who was enthusiastically received along the line.

From the stand on the ocean front, between Indiana Avenue and Park Place, the parade was reviewed by Vice President James S. Sherman, National Commander Samuel Van Sant, Gov. Fort, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, Gen. Granville R. Dodge, Rear Admiral Melville, and Gen. Nelson A. Miles.

It was said to-day that Fred M. Bolton of Massachusetts, formerly National Quartermaster General, will be the next National Commander. His candidacy was given its first boom, and in view of the struggle between John McElroy and Major Gillman, it is believed Bolton will win.

$2.50 Black Broadcloths at $1.55 a yard
Both Buildings—First Floor.
This quality of broadcloth we consider one of the best that we have ever seen at $2.50. It is a very fine quality; an exquisite soft black; sponged, which makes it spot-proof, and 55 inches wide.
$2.25 Broadcloth at $1.65 a yard
55 inches wide, extremely fine, one of the most reliable qualities that we have ever known, in thirty of the latest colors. This price, however, is for to-day only; to-morrow it goes back to its original price, $2 here.

Brings Cheer to the breakfast table—
Post Toasties with cream.
Crisp, golden-brown "crinkly" bits, made from white corn.
A most appetizing, convenient, pleasurable breakfast.
